U. N. AGREES TO MEET IN EUROPE

Decision Of Assembly Subject To Final Review Next Year

BRITAIN TO CONTINUE TO FIGHT AGAINST PROPOSAL

By Larry Hauck

NEW YORK, Nov. 15. —(AP)— The United Nations assembly voted 32 to 17 today to hold its 1948 session in Europe. Carrying out of the decision hinges only on approval of additional funds, which most delegates expect will be granted.

Britain spearheaded the opposition and announced she would carry on the fight. However, Australia issued a post-vote statement switching her backing away from the British.

Alexandre Parodi of France, who is leading the drive for the European meeting, called attention in a statement to Evatt's switch and appealed for an unanimous vote when the U. N. budget carrying the extra assembly appropriation comes up for clearance. Russia and the United States sided with France.

Before adjournment delegates demanded a ballot on a proposed meeting tomorrow, the first Sunday session scheduled. They voted it down, 22 to 17, and the next plenary meeting then was set for Monday.

The vote on going to Europe for one year required only a simple majority for passage and provided that a nine-nation committee would select the city in Europe. Australia, White Russia, Ethiopia, India, Lebanon, the Netherlands, Norway, Panama, and Uruguay were named to pick the site. Geneva, Paris and Brussels have been mentioned as possibilities.

However, Britain made it clear that

MAJ. HATLEY MADE KENNON AIDE HERE

Wounded Veteran Named To Manage Ouachita Campaign Headquarters

Appointment of Major Lloyd E. Hatley of Monroe, Purple Heart veteran of the African and European invasions, as manager of Ouachita parish campaign headquarters was announced yesterday by Gubernatorial Canadidate Robert F. Kennon.

The appointment was effective immediately, and Major Hatley assumed his duties yesterday morning at Kennon headquarters in Hotel Virginia.

Platoon commander of the 761st railway transportation company, Major Hatley suffered loss of both legs in a triple mine explosion near Wisenburg, Germany, in March, 1945.

He entered service as a first lieutenant in 1942 and was later sent to Camp Shelby, Miss., where the railway unit was activated.

Reaching England in August of that year, he progressed to North Africa, and then through Sicily and Southern France into Germany, receiving promotion to the rank of captain in the field.

His status as major, conferred

METHODIST MEET NAMES DELEGATES

LAKE CHARLES, La., Nov. 15.—(AP)—Delegates for next year's general and jurisdictional conferences were announced at today's session of the Louisiana annual conference of the Methodist Church.

Eight delegates, four clergymen and four laymen, were elected to attend the general conference to be held in Boston, Mass., beginning April 23.

Ten delegates were elected to attend the jurisdictional conference to be held in El Paso, Texas, beginning June 23, they will also serve as alternates for the general conference.

The general conference delegates are Dr. Dana Dawson of Shreveport, The Rev. Guy Hicks of Alexandria, the Rev. J. Henry Bowdon of Lake Charles, the Rev. H. L. Johns of New Orleans, Judge E. L. Walker of Ruston, R. J. O'Neal of Shreveport, V. M. Mouser of Columbia and Mrs. Glen Laskey of Ruston.

Those for the jurisdictional conference are the Rev. V. D. Morris of Baton Rouge, the Rev. B. C. Taylor of New Orleans, the Rev. R. R. Branton of Alexandria, the Rev. W. H. Giles of Monroe, the Rev. Carl Lueg of Homer, Mrs. George Sexton, Jr., of Shreveport, Charles N. White of Alexandria, Floyd B. James of Ruston, H. L. Daughenbaugh of Lake Charles and Dr. J. J. Mickle of Shreveport.

Alternate delegates for the jurisdictional conference are the Rev. C. B. Krumnow of Elton, the Rev. G. W. Pomeroy of Minden, the Rev. E. C. Gunn of New Orleans, M. W. Drake of Shreveport, R. P. Lay of Gillam and Miss Mollye Stewart of Pollock.

Appointments of ministers for the next year will be announced by the Presiding Bishop at tomorrow's final session of the conference.

Monroe Parents Await Details Of Death Of Foreign Legionnaire

News of the sudden death in North Africa of Major Elzie Achand (Billy) Reppond, Jr., 21, of the French Foreign Legion, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Elzie Achand Reppond, Sr., of 607 St. John street, was received by the parents early Saturday morning in a telegram from the U. S. state department in Washington, D. C.

Complete details of the demise of the colorful young soldier of fortune which occurred late Thursday evening were promised as soon as word was received from the American consul in Casablanca.

Young Reppond had been serving with the French Foreign Legion in Africa since early 1946. He was second in command of a hospital in Tiznit, French Morocco, last French outpost in the desert.

The tragic news came as a sudden shock to his parents. They received a letter last Tuesday, written November 1, saying that he had just completed two week's leave in Casablanca and was returning that day to his regular post. He also stated that he was attempting to obtain a discharge through the American consulate there.

Major Reppond was one of the youngest men ever to serve as a high ranking officer in the Legion. He was born in this parish and educated at Ouachita High school and Northeast Junior College.

In 1942 he volunteered for service in the Marines, but was given a medical discharge in July, 1943. He returned to Monroe after serving in the Merchant Marine in 1945 to enter Northeast Junior College where he was a member of that season's football squad.

Early in 1946 he withdrew from college and shipped out again aboard merchant vessels to eventually enlist in the French Foreign Legion. He managed to advance in rating from a private to a major in slightly over a year's time. In early 1947 he was transferred to Tiznit, his station at the time of his death.

Plans for bringing the body back to Monroe for burial were being made by the father Saturday. Local offices of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and American Red Cross had been asked to assist.

Besides his parents young Reppond is survived by a sister, Mrs. Leo J. Mullholland of Norristown, Penn.; one grandparent, Mrs. W. P. Reppond of Marion; seven uncles, T. D. E. I., Curtis, George and J. T. Reppond of Marion, T. T. Gray of Marion, W. F. Gray of Bastrop and C. B. Gray of Elizabethtown, Tenn.; three aunts, Mrs. Marie Odum of Farmerville and Mrs. Ethel McKinney and Mrs. J. M. Edwards of Haile.

DR. F. P. GAINES TO VISIT MONROE

President Of Washington And Lee University To Be Honored By Alumni

Dr. Francis P. Gaines, president of Washington and Lee University, will be the honored guest of alumni in northeast Louisiana, as well as educators and friends of this outstanding orator and university executive. He will arrive in Monroe around 10:30 a. m. and will leave at 7:30 p. m. Saturday, November 22. Dr. Gaines is making a tour through the south and he was urged by fellow alumni, headed by Fred F. Millsaps and James D. Sparks, co-chairmen of the alumni committee for this area, to include Monroe on his itinerary. By an alteration of plans it was possible to comply with the urgent request of local alumni.

The entertainment committee of the day will comprise Gilbert Faulk, chairman, of Monroe, and E. F. Madison, of Bastrop, as co-chairman. The entire committee met the past week to effect details. This committee is composed of the following in addition to the men who are co-chairmen: J. Arthur Smith, Jr., Thomas Hayes, Jr., George H. Goodwin, of Bastrop; Thomas W. Davenport, Victor N. Davis, Henry Bernstein, Jr., Thomas C. Standifer, Will P. Douglas of Bastrip; C. Elliott Thompson, George Gunby and Joe Davenport of Mer Rouge.

Plans contemplate a luncheon on Hotel Virginia roof at 1 p. m. Dr. Gaines will speak at the luncheon and immediately thereafter a boat ride will be taken on the boat of former Governor James A. Noe, leaving the South Grand street dock at 3 p. m. It will return by 5:30 p. m.

In addition to all alumni, their wives and wives of all guests are cordially invited to attend. Each will be contacted before next Saturday as to their ability to attend.

It is explained that this visit of Dr. Gaines is not for the purpose of raising funds for the university, but is for the purpose of renewing his contacts with the alumni in this area and to create interest in the university.

Chairmen Millsaps and Sparks urge each alumni to bring at least one prominent guest (preferably someone that has a boy who might be inter-

ENLIST STUDENTS IN VOTE CAMPAIGN

Jaycees Sponsor Essay Contest On 'Challenge Of Citizenship'

Cash prizes totaling one hundred dollars for 150-word essays on "The Challenge of Citizenship" will be offered to grammar and high school students of Monroe and Ouachita parish during a continuing four-week contest, the Junior Chamber of Commerce announced yesterday.

"The school contest is a part of a 'Get Out the Vote' campaign," stated Wallace E. Kendall, subcommittee chairman. "The contest, like the entire campaign, is entirely non-partisan."

The first week of the contest ends at midnight Friday, November 21. At the end of each week of the contest one $10, prize, one $5 prize, and five $1 prizes will be awarded. The winner of the grand prize of $200 will be selected from among the weekly winners.

In addition to the individual prizes,

Jena's 'Flora' Wins Coon Hunt As Skunk Distracts Her Rival

By George V. Lofton
(World's Managing Editor)

VICKSBURG, Miss., Nov. 15.—The celebrated feud between the two top coon dogs of Louisiana and Mississippi ended last night in a spectacular (and we might add, hilarious) duel between the contestants: Louisiana won, fifteen coons to seven. However, there may be a claim of "no contest" because the Mississippi dog was distracted by a couple of 'possums and a skunk. And who wouldn't be distracted by a skunk.

The whole thing was cooked up by the Carter Oil Company, and there were some 100 guests present, including the governor of Mississippi and chief executives of the company. The coon hunt was staged at Eagle Lake, 20 miles from here, and the bag of 22 coons was considered exceptional in view of the dripping skies.

"Flora," owned by Finis E. Willbanks, of Jena, La., was the winner over "King," owned by James A. Rosamund of Pickins, Miss. Both men are employed by the Carter company. "Flora," as the name implies, is a lady dog and besides that, she's an expectant mother, but that didn't make any difference. She was plenty fast on the breakaway.

After a cocktail party at the Vicksburg Hotel at 6 o'clock and a barbecue at the Eagle Lake clubhouse, the hounds were turned loose in the soggy woods. The two dogs dashed off in opposite directions and for awhile were neck and neck in their search for the elusive coons.

Soon, however, "King" decided to turn his attention to other game and leaped the trail in quest of 'possums and the little kitten which smelled so big. He won a quick victory over

ROBT. EWING ESSAY CONTEST SUBJECT IS BENJ. FRANKLIN

Jes' Ramblin'

J. E. Phillips, justice of the peace in Ward 7, is one of the smaller number of candidates for re-election who is unopposed. He has already served four terms and his name and fame have become quite extensive, especially as a "marrying justice." He came to the News-Star—World office the other day and paid a friendly call.

"I just can't let Friend E. V. Beard, of Ward 8, get ahead of me," he declared. "I'll bet I have married as many as 200, perhaps more." He admitted that many times the contracting parties were runaway couples from the Twin Cities. One case he recalled was when a couple were wed, divorced and re-wed. In between times he thought they may have been married again elsewhere, but they came with a son of their first marriage about five years old, and again went under the marital yoke.

His fee is standard at $2.50—when he gets it—but if they don't have the cash he marries 'em just the same. Sometimes a very generous would-be benedict pays a five-dollar bill as recompense for the performance of the ceremony. Mr. Phillips is a family man himself with wife and three children, and two of his brood, a son and daughter, are twins. If anyone

U. S. IMPOSES NEW ATOMIC CONTROLS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—(AP)—The United States is imposing new controls to govern the export of equipment which might be used in atomic energy experiments.

The atomic energy commission, which has been relying on the export licensing authority of the department of commerce and the state department, is supplementing them with its own regulations.

A license from the atomic energy commission will be required for the export of any equipment capable of producing any fissionable material, cyclotrons designed for "atom smashing" and similar devices.

Licenses also will be required for the export of such items as radiation detection equipment, high vacuum apparatus and other items which might be used in the basic atomic experimental mechanisms.

The commission's new regulation, effective Nov. 20, also will embody a general license governing the manufacture, production, transfer and acquisition of atomic or related equipment within this country.

In passing upon any application for the export of specific apparatus, the commission said in a statement, it will be guided by these standards:

Assuring the common defense and security; assuring an adequate supply of facilities for the production of fissionable material in this country; preventing the use of such facilities in a manner inconsistent with the national welfare; and effectuating the policies and purposes of the atomic energy act of 1946.

"Under the new regulation," the commission emphasized, "a specific license issued by the A. E. C. will be required of persons intending to manufacture or produce for export any facilities for the production of fissionable material, to transfer or acquire such facilities for export and to export such facilities from the United States."

Benjamin Franklin—statesman, diplomat, educator and inventor — has been chosen as the subject for the 1947-48 Shreveport Times - Monroe News - Star — World essay contest through which the fifth annual awards of Robert Ewing L. S. U. scholarships will be made next spring.

The contest is open now and closes next April 3. All entries must be postmarked not later than midnight of that date. Seniors and juniors in all accredited high schools of Louisiana and of designated parts of East Texas and Southwest Arkansas are eligible. But must be certified by their principals as rating scholastically in the upper fourth of their class and as being of character worthy to receive the valuable scholarship prizes.

The first prize, for the best essay by an eligible boy or girl is a free, full four-year scholarship at L. S. U. given through a cash grant of $2,000 payable at $500 per year.

The second prize, which must go to a student of sex opposite to that of the first-place winner, is a similar four-year scholarship given through a $1,400 cash grant payable at $350 a year.

In addition, special cash prizes totalling $400 are offered this year exclusively for small high schools. These prizes are divided so that one

DERIDDER PEOPLE ARE REBUILDING

200 Buildings Of All Kinds Damaged Or Demolished By Storm

DE RIDDER, La., Nov. 15.—(AP)—The people of DeRidder started rebuilding plans today for scores of buildings, damaged or destroyed in yesterday's tornado that swept a narrow path of destruction across this southwest Louisiana city.

An official survey completed today showed that approximately 200 buildings of all descriptions had been damaged or demolished by the storm.

Mayor A. L. Stewart said the overall damage would add to "at least $500,000" and that it was remarkable that there was no loss of life.

About fifteen persons were injured slightly, while one resident, 21-year-old Derice Shirley was hospitalized with a badly-gashed forehead.

The sun was shining brightly today on the ruins of sites, where comfortable residences had stood. Former occupants, scores in number, have been housed temporarily with relatives, or in hotel accomodations.

The mayor said that more than

HUGHES RESENTS 'IMPLIED FRAUD'

Calls On Senator Ferguson To Withdraw Implication Of Corruption

SAYS EVIDENCE TO SHOW HE WAS 'TELLING TRUTH'

By Edward B. Haakinson

Washington, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Howard Hughes demanded today that Senator Ferguson, Republican, Michigan, withdraw what Hughes called an "implied challenge" that there was fraud and corruption in the millionaire plane-maker's wartime contracts.

Evidence still locked within the files of the Senate war investigating committee, Hughes said, will prove he "was telling the truth" in denying he took part in anything crooked.

His outburst came as the committee ended its public hearings on the $40,000,000 Hughes contracts."

Ferguson, chairman of a war investigating subcommittee which has been looking into Hughes' contracts for photo planes for the air force and for a huge flying boat, quickly denied that he or other senators had reached any conclusions in the case.

The senator also promised Hughes that all evidence in the committee's files will get a public airing next week.

Hughes declared that he and his company officials had "been forced" by Ferguson to testify about what they described as attempts of Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers, retired air forces purchasing official, to get jobs and borrow thousands of dollars from Hughes during plane contract negotiations.

Asserting that his testimony "was diametrically opposed" to that of Meyers—who said Hughes offered loans and a job—Hughes charged at the meeting that Ferguson had kept the public "in the dark" as to the truth.

"At the very time when General Meyers and I were testifying here, you had locked up in your files downstairs all sorts of evidence which would have shown very clearly who was telling the truth," Hughes said, and then continued:

"You had ample evidence concern-

FARMER DROWNED WHILE HUNTING

Slips From Horse In Midstream, Pulled Under By Heavy Clothes

A 20-year-old Collinston farmer was thrown from his horse and drowned near Callion Lake just south of Collinston while on a deer hunt with his father and two brothers yesterday morning.

L. D. Gregory, victim of the drowning, was reported to have been crossing a small canal in pursuit of a deer when he slid from his mount in midstream and drowned before other members of the hunting party could rescue him. Hunting with Gregory were his father, George Gregory, two brothers, James and Robert, and three friends, O. F. Stewart, Burnett Coleman and Marcus Meeks.

Drowned about 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning, the young hunter's body was not recovered until after noon by members of the American Legion truck of Monroe. The firemen answering the call at 9:26 a. m. were Capt. J. W. Faler and Firemen John McStravick and Carlton McKeithen.

Gregory, reported to have been an excellent swimmer, was unable to swim ashore because of boots and heavy clothing which he was wearing. Dr. Butterworth, deputy coroner of Morehouse parish, termed the death accidental drowning.

Surving are his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. George Gregory; four sisters, Caroline, Virginia Ann, Gloria Jean and Catherine Gregory, and six

Five Killed, Many Hurt In Cerignola

Sudden Transportation Strike Ties Up Rome As Leftist Assault On Government Leaps From City To City

By Frank Brutto

ROME, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Five persons were reported killed and many wounded in Cerignola tonight as leftist riots spread in Italy, but Communist-led labor promised "moderating action for the return of calm" if the non-Communist government would suppress "Neo-Fascism."

Demonstrators in Cerignola, in southeastern Italy near Foggia, were said to have seized the main square. Reinforcements of armored cars, police and troops were rushed there. Transport workers struck for 12 hours in Rome.

The Communist-dominated General Confederation of Labor sent Alcide de Gasperi, Christian Democratic (Catholic) premier, a letter professing a desire to "avoid any peril of civil war." The letter said the confederation could act to restore tranquility only on these conditions:

(1) Dissolution of what the federation called "Neo-Fascist organizations," chief among them the Italian Social Movement.

(2) "Adequate provisions" for repression of "Neo-Fascism" in general

(3) Suppression of "the more openly Fascist and anti-democratic publications."

Given those conditions, said the letter, the confederation could "with greater efficiency take moderating action for the return of calm."

In the last few days, demonstrators in many Italian cities have raided headquarters of the Italian Social Movement, Uomo Qualunque (Common Man) movement, Liberal (rightest) party and even the Christian

LONDON TO HAVE SPLENDOR AGAIN

Princess' Wedding To Be Most Elaborate Occasion Since War

LONDON, Nov. 15.—(AP)—The wedding of Princess Elizabeth and Lt. Philip Mountbatten next Thursday will bring back to this bomb-scarred capital of an economically embattled empire something of the traditional state splendor which the war interrupted.

Nearly 30 members of foreign royalty—not all of them occupying thrones today—will attend the ceremony along with diplomats, cabinet ministers, prime ministers of British dominions and members of the nobility.

It will be the first marriage of an heiress to the British throne since Charlotte Augusta, daughter of George IV, and Leopold of Saxe-Coburg were wed in 1816.

Of the millions filling London on the wedding day only some 2,000—the invited guests—will attend the ceremony in Westminister Abbey.

Bidden to the wedding are King Haakon of Norway; King Frederick and Queen Ingrid of Denmark; Queen Frederika of Greece; King Mihai of Romania and his mother, Queen Helen, former Queen Victoria Eugenie of Spain; former Queen Marie and former King Peter of Yugoslavia and his consort, Alexandria; Crown Prince Gustav Adolf and Crown Princess Louise of Sweden; Princess Juliana and Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands, and Prince Charles, regent of Belgium.

The United States representation remains in doubt. Invitations were sent to Ambassador and Mrs. Lewis Douglas and their daughter, Sharman, and it is expected they will attend. Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, widow of the late president, was asked but declined because of her United Nations commitments.

By invitation of Lt. Mountbatten himself Mrs. Cobina Wright, Sr., of Hollywood, Calif., mother of the movie actress and a long time friend of the bridegroom, will have a place in the abbey.

In helping frame the list, Princess Elizabeth did not overlook the "little people." Guests in the abbey will include servants of the royal household, railroad station masters, soldiers from crack British regiments, members of the Girl Guides and the auxiliary territorial service and workers in industry.

For every person privileged to witness the ceremony there will be hundreds thronged in the thoroughfares and squares along the processional route from Buckingham Palace to the abbey, a distance of not much more than a mile.

Spectators will have a second chance to see the bride and groom when they drive to Waterloo station. There they will board a special train for their honeymoon at Broadlands, near Romsey in Hampshire.

Despite widely published descriptions purporting to be authentic, the princess' wedding gown and going-away costume remain an official secret.

ELECTRIC RATES HERE CALLED HIGH

Far Above Average For U. S. Cities, Says Power Commission Report

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—(Special)—A comparison of electric rates in cities throughout the country, just issued by the Federal Power Commission, shows that residents of Monroe pay higher rates for service than do consumers in most other cities. The survey covers all cities of 2,500 population and over.

The typical monthly bill in Monroe, as of the early part of this year, for 25 kilowatt hours of current, the ordinary amount used for small-scale lighting purposes, was $1.50, as compared with the United States average of $1.29. For 100 kilowatt hours, the amount generally used for lighting, small appliances and refrigeration, the monthly bill in Monroe was $5.25, as against an average of $3.75 in the other cities. In the 250 kilowatt hour class, where cooking is involved in addition, the monthly bill in Monroe was $9.75, contrasted with $6.93 elsewhere.

The Federal Power Commission reports, on the basis of typical monthly bills in the 3,776 cities studied, that "except for the operation of fuel clauses in industrial service, the downward trend in electric rates continues." In the past 12 years, it states, there has been an overall drop of approximately one cent per kilowatt hour.

PALESTINE JITTERY, SHOOTING IS HEAVY

JERUSALEM, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Security regulations were tightened in Palestine tonight as the screaming of sirens, heavy shooting and the exploding of pamphlet and banner bombs added to the jitters of the Holy Land.

Gunfire, directed at a patrolling armored police car in the Mea Shearem quarter of Jerusalem brought answering fire from a 25 pounder carried by the police car, and 25 minutes of chatter from Bren and Sten guns.

No casualties were reported.

An apartment was set asire by a star shell, however, and many windows were shattered by the shooting.

The Mustapha Police billet also was fired upon during the excitement.

Pamphlet bombs exploded in Tel Aviv, where police also removed several banners tossed over wires across the street by Irgun Zvai Leumi squads. Banner bombs, banners with dynamite charges attached, also were tossed over wires at Rehovoth and were shot down by police.

British residents of Jerusalem security zones were ordered to remain inside from 5:30 p. m. until 6 a. m. Britons living outside the zones were ordered to stay inside their homes during those hours. Military personnel off duty were confined to their barracks and camps.

Most Jewish sections of the city were under house curfew from 6 p. m. to 6 a. m.

All vehicular traffic was stopped from 5:30 p. m. to 6 a. m. in the big Hadar Macarmel and Geula quarters of Haifa.

Michigan Rose Bowl Choice; L. S. U. Beats Maroons, 21-6

By Harold Claassen

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Michigan grabbed the Big Nine title and a trip to the Rose Bowl; Princeton became king of the venerable Big Three; Louisiana State made a mystery of the Southeast circuit race; Georgia Tech, Utah and Penn toppled off the all-winning list and Iowa won for its coach today as college football enjoyed its next-to-last big Saturday of 1947.

The Wolverines, rated No. 2 behind Notre Dame this week, insured themselves of a California trip next month by crushing the surprising Wisconsin, 40 to 6, most most of the hero's laurels going to Back Bob Chappuis.

Yale, which never had lost to a Big Three rival since the arrival of Coach Howie Odell in 1942, was battered by Princeton, 17 to 0, just a week after the Tigers had massacred Harvard, 33 to 7. It is the first Big Three title for Princeton since the days of Coach Fritz Crisler, whose Michigan team today won the Big Nine laurels.

Georgia Tech was dumped from the all-winning list by Alabama, 14 to 7, on the personal brilliance of Harry Gilmer, an artistic passer. Utah was bounced for the first time this year by Idaho, 13 to 6, and highly favored Penn was held to a 7 to 7 deadlock by a stubborn Army eleven.

One of the major upsets of the day was registered by Iowa, where Coach Dr. Eddie Anderson proffered his resignation earlier today because of criticism of his methods. The Hawkeye players registered a fourth period touchdown to spill Minnesota, 13 to 7, in the club's final game.

In other frays Notre Dame took a muddy decision from Northwestern,

BILL RILEY, JR. HITS WALLACE

Writes In Reveille Assailing Louisiana State University Invitation

The Daily Reveille, official organ of L. S. U., has just printed a letter by W. J. Riley, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Riley, Sr., of Monroe, a junior in the university, entitled "Wallace Issue Again." It attracted so favorable comment that it is reproduced herewith:

"To the Editor:

"The staff of the Reveille is to be highly complimented on their endeavor to clean up Tigertown. Why then must they ruin everything by ignoring the health of a man's mind by printing such editorials as 'Ears of Democracy'?

"Certainly we all enjoy the right of freedom of speech in the U. S. We also enjoy freedom of enterprise and thus if a man chooses to be a physician he is free to do so. If, however, he begins to poison his patients, he is classified as an outlaw and reckoned with accordingly. Why do we not have laws to govern men who seek to poison men's minds as Mr. Wallace and his associates attempt to do through the spread of communistic propaganda?

"Why are the Communists vetoing and delaying everything that is put before the United Nations assembly? Simply because they believe that our system of economics is detrimental to their planned economy, but they are unprepared to take steps to curb us at this time, so they delay.

"With such a situation facing the American public, it is indeed shocking to find a great university like L. S. U. inviting a speaker like Wallace. It is even more shocking to find the school paper openly advocating an all-out attendance. Can't you realize that a vast number of those present will be totally unarmed against such rot, never having been exposed to an intellectual statement of the wrongs, economical and ethical, of communism? If you are truly interested in facing this question, why not invite a speaker who will point out the evils of such a system and thereby strengthen the American cause?

"Your offices are in the shadow of a war memorial to the dead of one war. There is a movement on foot to erect a monument to the dead of the last war. You keep supporting radicals like Mr. Wallace and you will soon be erecting a third memorial. The minds of college students are fertile and sometimes easily swayed.

"Me—I don't like to erect such monuments, so I'll be old-fashioned and advocate sending Mr. Wallace to Russia where he can support Uncle Joe. I like America and Uncle Sam so don't look for me; I won't be there.

Why Shouldn't Barkis Be Willin'?

One of the remarkable aspects of the Eisenhower-for-President movement is the attitude of a number of writers toward the general's continued reticence. They keep asking, with variations, this basic question: "Why doesn't he say no?"

It must be obvious to them why General Eisenhower does not and cannot say yes. As army chief of staff, one of the two top military men entrusted with this nation's defense, he is in no position to play politics. But since he can't say yes, is he then obligated to say no?

The chief of staff has indicated quite clearly, it seems to us, that he is disposed to consider the talk of his candidacy with favor. Nor does it constitute an endorsement of that unannounced candidacy to inquire, "Why shouldn't he?" Is it a disgrace to seek the highest office that the citizens of the United States can bestow? And, once offered that office, should the offer's acceptance be approached through an elaborate Oriental routine of false modesty and hypocritical negation?

Most Americans deplore the horse-swapping and backstage maneuvering that often accompany the choice of a presidential candidate in convention. The term "smoke-filled room" has come to symbolize such undemocratic practices. The Eisenhower boom—if boom is not too strong a word—at least is something that hasn't been developed and sustained solely by professional politicians.

Most Americans also seem to like their candidates coy. The spectacle of a presidential aspirant busily rounding up delegates while showing an outward disinterest in the candidacy is not uncommon. Neither is that of a candidate who knows he has the nomination in the bag and affects complete surprise when a convention delivers it to him. But the voters never seem to object to these transparent performances.

A traditional selling point of the American system of government has been the possibility that any mother's son might grow up to be president. We still think it's a sound point, and not outdated.

It doesn't seem unnatural to us that a citizen might view the prospect of the presidential nomination with pride as well as humility. So we can't see why General Eisenhower is being criticized for not taking himself out of the picture simply because he can't say yes in his present job. A straight-forward "Barkis is willin'" would be admirable and perfectly proper at the proper time. Whether a political convention—and, later, the American people—would proceed to choose him is another matter.

PLANE-AUTO ARRIVES

When Duryea drove his one-lunged gasoline-propelled top buggy through the streets of Springfield, Mass., and later when the Wright brothers flew at Kittyhawk, N. C., not even the inventors dreamed of a day when 40,000,000 motor cars would travel the roads of the United States alone and passenger airliners would by thousands traverse the world on scheduled routes.

Yet from the day that the genius of Henry Ford evolved mass production in the automobile industry, it was certain that ultimately the average thrifty worker would own his own car. Private flying has not developed as rapidly, for numerous reasons, since the war as had been predicted—but give it time.

Now a combined airplane and automobile has put in an appearance ,opening a whole new field of speculation—and only that, as yet—as to the automotive future.

From Danbury, Conn., came down on a runway at La-Guardia Field, N. Y., the other day a weird contraption. It was an airplane of sorts. Three and one-half minutes later wings and propeller had been removed by its owner and inventor, and as a jeep-like motor car it started into the metropolis.

Capable of traveling 105 miles an hour in the air, with a range of 700 miles, and doing an easy 45 miles on the road, it is almost like the beginning of an answer to a prayer to those who both want to fly and drive the highways, but are daunted by the need for maintaining two vehicles and by airport storage charges.

DECLINE OF A LANGUAGE

America frequently is criticized by outsiders and often tries to profit by the criticisms. But a current objection to habits of Americans doesn't promise to spur remedial action. It is the complaint by foreigners here to perfect their English in American colleges, that teachers use poor diction and that American students indulge in slangy, idiomatic talk.

"I have a lot of trouble," said a student from Panama, "trying to interpret the words of my fellow students, who are Americans, because they speak in a colloquial manner that is awfully hard to understand." A Brazilian student objects to student speech because she wants to be able to write and speak good English.

What will American teachers and students do about this criticism? Will they forsake their slang which adds spice to talk and in some instances enriches the language? Natch not. The foreigners will be given no alternative but to go along and learn idiomatic American instead of Oxford English.

It is a question whether the English language of the British will survive. As Britain continues to decline and decay, the English language is very much in the keeping of America. And it will evolve into something that Milton and Shakespeare wouldn't understand.

It is estimated 97 per cent of wars originate in the belief the other fellow is easy to lick.

Hollywood columnists were advised the other day that Lynn Bari had presented her spouse, Sid Luft, with whom she recently was reconciled after a feud that made headlines, with a golden key to her apartment. Such evidence of the Lufts' new marital bliss is touching—but I can't help thinking that a more practical gift might have been an eraser. Luft probably needs one to rub out of his memory book some of the cutting things that Miss Bari said—always for publication—about him during their separation.

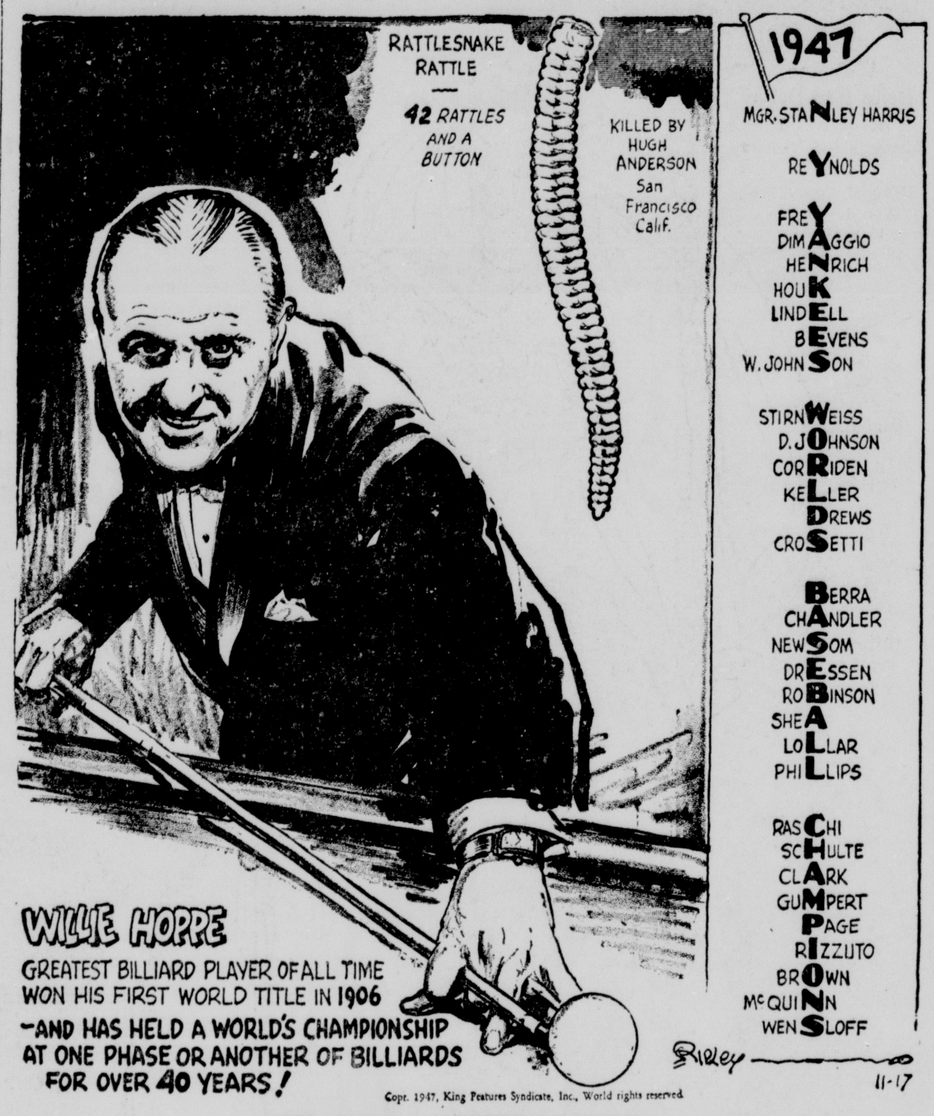

Considering Mark Stevens' remarkably foolish behavior during his much-publicized romance with Hedy Lamarr, I never thought I'd have occasion to praise him for good headwork. But it seems that praise is due. Between assignments at 20th Century-Fox he's been making it a practice to offer his services as a "foil" whenever the studio bosses want to test a new femme player. I'm told that he's voluntarily worked in at least a dozen tests in the past few months. By so doing, he has made certain that the studio's top men will see him on the screen at frequent intervals. That's a lot smarter procedure than the course followed by most under-contract players, who make it a point to dodge extra-curricular effort as they would the plague.

Charles Chaplin, who, as an independent producer, dictates his own advertising campaigns, is currently trying to sell "Monsieur Verdoux" with the modest affirmation that it offers "The World's Greatest Comedian in His Funniest Comedy." It seems to me that he could have described himself, with considerably more truth, as the entertainment industry's most inconsistent man. When this cinematic lemon which he now dubs a "funniest comedy" was first released, he insisted that it was a serious picture with a profound social message. Maybe Chaplin, being British, is just slow to see the humor of his own work.

Speaking of things British, I'm reminded of the recent tirades directed by the English press against Cecil B. DeMille because he served champagne and caviar at a press party in New York. The London Daily Mail said that such lavishness was downright callous, in view of present world conditions. Meaning that the poor of Europe are starving for champagne and caviar instead of bread?

Pitching Horseshoes
By Billy Rose

It was drizzling.

A young fellow walked up, his hands in the pockets of his windbreaker. He seemed a little embarrassed.

Billy Rose

"Sorry I didn't get here sooner," he said, "but I had a heck of a time finding you. You never told me your name. If you had, it would have been a lot easier. Maybe you think I should have said something at the time it happened. Well, I guess I was too scared. I didn't know what was going on, hardly. I was scared the minute I got into that tank. And when those 88's started dropping around us, I guess I just went to pieces.

"Then one of them hit us. I remember trying to drag myself to the hatch. But I didn't make it. The last thing I remember, the tank was burning and I was sitting there, all set to fry.

"You know something? I don't think I wanted to get out of that hatch. I was more afraid of the machine gun over on the left—the one we set out to get. If not for you, I guess I'd just have sat in that tank and roasted.

"They told me you ran out, pulled me out of the hatch, and dragged me into the woods. I still can't figure how you did it without that Jerry machine gun getting both of us.

"You probably wondered why I didn't say 'Thanks' at the aid station. I guess it must have been shock. They kept putting blankets on me but I still felt cold. I remember your saying something like, 'Take it easy, kid.'"

The young fellow in the windbreaker now started talking faster, as if he wanted to finish before he forgot anything.

"When I came to, I tried to find out who you were and where I could find you. But nobody seemed to know. Then I got shipped back to a hospital near Liege, and after a while back to the states. When they discharged me, I started writing letters to guys who had been in my outfit. I didn't get many answers. I figured a lot of guys in my outfit hadn't come back. But I kept writing letters anyhow.

"Then one day I finally found a guy who had seen the whole thing. He told me who you were and where I could locate you. I came as quick as I could."

The young fellow in the windbreaker bent down and placed a floral wreath on the grave.

"Thanks, pal," he said. "Thanks."

CLARE TOLD THEM

Te radio employs the device of theso-called forum to give the impresion of being all things to all men. Because an editorial policy is forbidden by F. C. C., these programs often become hilarious brawls during which the only way to express an idea is to shout down the opponents, to push into the fight, to raise one's voice beyond civility. Clare Luce got intosuch a brawl with William Bullitt on her side and Vito Marcantonio andCorliss Lamont on the other.

Here is an example of a typical street corner fight:

Marcantonio—"What were those 150 million bullets? What were they—chewing gum or what?"

Bullitt—"What do you refer to—"

Marcantonio—"The 150 million that was shipped over there six months ago. 150 million bullets not for American rifles, but for Chinese rifles."

Bullitt—"Those were—"

Marcantonio—"No, those were chewing gum."

Lamont—"Say, let me get in on this, willyou?"

Inanother place this happens:

Luce — "Gracious, this begins to sound exactly like the U. N., and sombody around here sounds like Vishnsky."

Marcantonio—"It sounds a little bit more like Congress."

Luce—"Don't run down the Congress like that."

Marcantonio—"That's all right. When yourefer to anything sounding like Vishnsky, I say this sounds like Congress. Mrs. Luce, when you used to agree with me on occasion."

Ganik—"Just a moment—give Mrs. Luce a chance to answer that, please, congressman."

Luce—"As I don't follow a party line, I can find it possible occasionally to agree with even you."

Marcantonio—"Now you are following a 'big trust' line, not a party line.

Is his fun?

When Mrs. Luce quotes from a Soviet official textbook to this effect: "Thepupils of the Soviet school must realize that the feelings of Soviet patriotism is saturated with irreconcilable hatred towards the enemies of the Socialist society," Corliss Lamontreplies: "What they really mean there is that the children of the Soviet Union should fight for Socialism against capitalism. It is not a hatred being taught against any country or any people, because the Soviet Union believes in complete national and racial democracy and has no anti-semitism or anything of that sort."

Then Clare gets Lamont good and proper. He walks right in and gets it on the chin. Here is the colloquy:

Luce—"Mr. Lamont, as you have been a member of over 100 Communist-front organizations—"

Lamont—"That is ridiculous. That is nonsense—"

Luce—"I have them right here—"

Lamont — "Who is smearing now, Mrs. Luce? Who is engaging in personalities, now?"

Luce—"Oh, do you think it is a smear to be called a Communist?"

Lamont—"Go ahead, my friend."

Luce—"Well, I thought you like the Communists."

Lamont—"Go ahead."

Luce — "Goodness, I thought they were your friends and you were defending them."

Lamont — "Well, Hitler hated the Communists, too."

Luce—"Oh, Hitler hated them!"

Marcantonio—"Yes, and he used the hate of Communism in order to plunge the world into World War II, and you people are using the hate of Communism to plunge this world into World War III. That's what you are doing. I am thinking of the boys who are going to die."

Luce—"It seems to me that the only one of us—"

Granik—"Let Mrs. Luce finish, Mr. Lamont."

Luce—"The only one of the four of us who really has any claim to knowledge of Russia is Mr. Bullitt, who was ambassador there. I think he should be allowed to talk about Russia."

It goes on and on that way, no one arguing to the point because apparently Marcantonio was there to keep it strictly personal and to prevent the subject, "The Soviet Union's Policies In World Affairs," from being discussed.

Well, that was that. It is a pattern. The radio must amuse. It must excite. Its tempo must be fast. The minutes tick away. Watches are held in hand. Signals come from the wings. Everybody is keyed up because tempus fugit and the next program is on the heels of this one. There is not a second to waste. Keep it hot, boys. Flash, dash, smash—what the hell!

DOWN SOUTH

THESOUTH AND THE NATIONAL DEBT

Abut the last thing we hear mentione these days, when we hear it mentned at all, is any reference to a sysmatic plan for paying the nationaldebt. We hear a great deal of talk bout labor-management relations,about inflation and rising prices, aboutforeign aid under various plans, abouta great many things, but none of ou government leaders nor either of ou political parties has taken any leaderhip in proposing that we pay our dbt.

Yetf we learn anything at all from the lesons of history or believe even the fndamentals of common-sense economics, we must realize that we are treading on mighty thin ice when we continue to carry a debt load the like of which no nation in the history of the world has ever known without making some definite provision for its retirement. The nearest our public leaders have got to doing this thus far is to say that "if anything is left over it will be applied on the debt."

What we must realize is that the debt comes first—not last. It is doubtful if the law of gravity is any more fixed than the law that a debt must be paid, and the nation as well as the individual who attempts to ignore the law is headed straight down the road to ruin.

With the reputation of this nation for business acumen and sound finance, it is somewhat puzzling to understand this attitude toward the national debt, to understand why the above mentioned situation exists. It is, at least, until we remember that supposedly intelligent leaders of this nation have led us far afield from sound economics in many ways during the past fifteen years, the sound handling of the national debt being only one of them.

One of the main reasons, perhaps, for this laxity of our leaders toward the nation's debt—and the only one we shall consider here—is that the debt has reached such an astronomical figure—$260,000,000,000—that they do not know what else to do with it than attempt to "laugh it off" and say "it makes no difference." Such an attitude is simply ignoring the facts, is simply sticking our heads in the sand and refusing to face the consequences. There is no straighter road to ruin.

Perhaps it would bring it closer to us as an obligation of the people to divide it among the states on a population basis. The federal debt is not a state debt, but it is owed by the people and the people live in the states. It is a debt of the people. By following this procedure we find that the people of the south owe a pro rata share of the debt by states, as follows. Alabama, $5,460,000,000; Arkansas, $3,640,000,000; Florida, $3,640,000,000; Georgia, $5,240,000,000; Kentucky, $5,460,000,000; Louisiana, $4,420,000,000; Maryland, $3,380,000,000; Mississippi, $4,160,000,000; Missouri, $7,280,000,000; North Carolina, $6,780,000,000; Oklahoma, $4,420,000,000; South Carolina, $3,640,000,000; Tennessee, $5,720,000,000; Texas, $12,480,000,000; Virginia, $4,940,000,000; West Virginia, $3,640,000,000.

An even closer conception may be had by noting that the total funded debt of these states, amounting to $976,000,000, is only 1.12 per cent of their share of the federal debt. Such figures are staggering, and the sooner we realize we must do something about reducing them, the better. Payment of this debt is not something to be put off until next year or the year after; it is not something to bequeath to our children and our children's children. It is our debt.

No sounder step could be taken to secure the economic stability of this nation than for the congress to place first in the national budget a fixed minimum amount to apply on the national debt.

STATE TROOPERS MAKE 15 ARRESTS

Two of the 15 arrests made by members of troop F of the Monroe state police post during the week were on charges of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. The drivers so accused were John Robert Hall, 41, of Winnfield, and William Knight, 22, of Bastrop, who was booked additionally for having no driver's license.

The other 13 arrests included those of a white man, Teddy Smith, 22, of Grayson, and four Negroes after officers found Tobe Griffin, 55, colored, shot to death in a stalled car on the Columbia Road, south of Monroe. Ouachita parish sheriff's deputies, who investigated the killing, charged James Moran, 23, Negro, of Columbia, with murder and held the others as material witnesses.

The remaining cases were:

Billy Charles Aldrich, 19, of Clarks, armed robbery and auto theft.

D. C. Galloway, 49, of Newellton, passing loading school bus.

James E. Woodall, 26, of Jackson, Miss., speeding in truck.

William L. Kelly, Jr., 28, of West Monroe, reckless driving.

Cecil Kelly, 27, of Columbia, improper lights.

Henry White, 28, Negro, of Winnsboro, operating vehicle with no brakes.

Henry Amos, 27, Negro, of Jonesboro, inadequate brakes and improper lights.

Felix Reed, 47, Negro, of Jonesboro, improper lights.

Only in recent times and in a few countries has there been complete absence of a fear of famine.

"IN WASHINGTON"
By Bascom N. Timmons

President Truman and his close White House assistants are getting from various governments and agencies confidential reports on what to recommend to congress for curbing high prices.

Nothing like a decision has been reached yet on what one administration source described as "a specific therapy" against high prices. The decision will probably be put off until the last hour.

In addition to reports, top officials of the department and such agencies as the Federal Reserve Board, the Export-Import Bank and the Commodity Credit Corp., will be called in for their advice and opinions.

Some of the suggestions already received by the White House include steps to reduce credit and the money supply and direct price curbs on scarce commodities such as steel and wheat. Administration officials expect little difficulty in getting some of the controls. What they fear is that Congress won't go along on a request for rationing and price control over scarce items.

In its undersecretary, Archibald L. M. Wiggins, the treasury seems to have one man who is willing to talk back to the Republican majority on the important, tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee.

The small, mild mannered Wiggins, a former banker, had his first opportunity in his initial appearance before the committee. He had been called to present a long detailed study made by the treasury on the problem of tax exemptions for farmer co-operatives.

This is a question loaded with political dynamite and the treasury neatly avoided making any recommendations on the subject one way or another.

When Wiggins had completed presenting the statistical report, committeemen after committeemen began trying to get him to commit himself on the $64 question—should such co-operatives be taxed or should they not.

Wiggins bluntly replied to each that such a decision could not be made until many other phases of the entire tax problem were settled.

"You are simply evading your responsibilities," finally declared Rep. Jenkins (R.-Ohio).

"Yes, sir," Wiggins agreed cheerfully, "and we will continue to do so until you gentlemen have settled some of these other matters."

Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov and his fellow politubro member, Col. Gen. Andrei A. Zhdanov seem to have different views on whether the atomic bomb is still a secret.

Molotov was reported recently as saying that the secret of the bomb "has long ceased to exist." A few weeks ago Zhdanov told the nine-nation meeting of Communist leaders in Poland that "American politicians now plan the early start of a preventive war against the Soviet Union and insist on using the atomic bomb of which America has a temporary monopoly."

Persons here are inclined to accept Zhdanov's inference that Russia does not have the bomb rather than Molotov's hint that the real secret—industrial know-how of putting it together—has been uncovered by Russian scientists.

Despite Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's disavowal of presidential aspirations, publicity in his behalf continues. The latest: neckties with a picture of the general on them which will be sold for $1 apiece and handled through the various "Eisenhower Clubs" throughout the country.

Although it's still doubtful what congress will do about universal military training, the army is going ahead with preparations for eventual adoption of U. M. T.

The army adjutant general's office has started a survey of public and private vocational and trade schools throughout the country to see whether their facilities can be used in any U. M. T. program which is agreed upon.

In a letter to school boards in all cities, the army has asked for the number of types of trade and vocational schools. Catalogues are also sought, where available, together with all pertinent information on the work of the schools.

Under one U. M. T. plan, which was approved by a special presidential committee, trainees would spend six months in a military camp and would spend an additional six months obtaining technical training of varied kinds.

Our Children

EVERYBODY TEACHES

The professional teacher has but a small share of the education of our children. Everybody teaches them, and if most of the teaching were not good we would be in a worse plight than we are now and that is bad enough. We should be giving thanks to every good man and woman, every fine force in the community for the lift they give the children. The good woman who has a kindly thought and a good word for a child as she meets him, the good man who shakes his head and says, "No, boy, don't do that. He's a good old dog. Give him a bit of your cookie and see his tail wag. That's the boy," is doing his bit for the education of the children who come his way.

There is a "candy man" who runs a litle shop near a big city school. He is old and a bit lame and cannot get about very fast. But his eyesight is keen and his ears are wonderful, so that he sees and hears what many another would never notice.

He is "Grandpop" to the children who go to his shop. He listens to their grief and joy, and conveys his reproof or applause with a crinkie about his mouth, a lift of his eyebrow, perhaps a slow soft-spoken word. He drops a word of advice to one, a caution in the ear of another, and showers affection and sympathy to all of them. He is a positive force for good, a pillar of home and school. The community owes "Grandpop" more than they will ever know. He is one of the most influential of teachers.

The clergyman does his share—so do the doctor and the nurse— to teach children the right way. That is their chosen field of duty, but they go far afield in their endeavors to teach and help their charges. We take their services far too much for granted. We should stop in our haste now and then to say a word of thanks for all they do.

When responsibility like this rests on all the people, as it surely does, we all should be more conscious of it and make the most of our opportunities to help—not only by what we do but by what we do not do. The fact that Mrs. Jolly does not smoke but is "swell," that Dr. King never uses bad language but tells a story that carries one out of this world and sets a standard for the boys who look up to him, that the stylish young lady who lives on the hill uses very little make-up and is always so courteous even when youngsters get in the way of her car—all this helps to teach children how to live. The teaching is often completely unconscious but most effective. ". . little kent the strength his creed to his neighbor's life had lent" just about sums up the story.

We all teach and we all are responsible for what we teach by our daily doing. The professional teacher has the lesser share.

"Oh I wish you wouldn't DO that"—such a protest will do little good in overcoming a child's fault. Learn the right thing to say and do by reading Dr. Patri's booklet, No. 302, obtainable by sending 10 cents (coin preferred) and a 3-cent stamp to him, c/o this paper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New Y.

Sunday School Lesson

Sunday School Lesson For Nov. 23
Scripture: I John 2:7-11; 15-17; 3:13-18
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

There were divergencies of opinion in the early Christian church, as there have been in the church all through its history. Peter and Paul did not always agree, and Paul tells about one occasion when he withstood Peter "to the face" (Galatians 2:11).

But far too much has been made of these differences, at least by some, and the one fact that stands out above all else is the unity of the New Testament, and the agreement of all its writers regarding the essential Christian facts—the nature of the Gospel, and the Christian life.

A notable, and fundamental, aspect of this unity is in the teaching concerning Love, its source in God, its manifestation in Jesus, and its law and dominant nature of the Christian way of life. The Scripture passages of our lesson are from the First Epistle of John, but indicated for devotional reading in connection with the lesson is Paul's famous eulogy of Love in I Corinthians 13. Associated also with the lesson is the story of Peter in John 21, the Master's question to the disciple, saddened by his denial of his Lord. "Lovest thou me?" and Peter's commission to manifest his love by ministering to others.

It is significant, and an evidence of the great transforming power of the Gospel, that it is John who is so insistent upon Love as the supreme thing, the very nature of God himself, and the test of the Christian life. It was this very John, who had roused the other disciples to indignation through the ambition of himself and his brother James to have the foremost places in the kingdom, which at that time they believed Jesus was going to set up on earth. It was he, also, who wanted Jesus to call down fire from heaven, "as did Elijah," and consume some villagers who had treated Him discourteously.

And now this man of fire has become a man of gentleness and love. He is not only sure that God is Love, but he knows that to love God means to love one's brother. If there is any of the old fire and intensity in him, it is when he speaks of this love and its demands on men. The man who professes to love God, ad hates his neighbor, according to John, is not only a misguided, or a weak, person; he is a liar. So, John repeats this demand of love again and again, and in the spirit of love he exhorts his fellow Christians as "little children." He has himself grown old in love and service, and he has won the privilege of fatherly concern for new and younger disciples.

Love and light—this is the theme of John. A loveless life is a life in the dark; and if one wanted any commentary upon that fact he need only look at the world today—humanity groping in uncertainty and danger because there is so much hate, and prejudice, and distrust. John called the man who hated his brother a murderer, and murder upon a vast scale is exactly what we see in a loveless world. Would that men might come to the light, and find the way of Love!

TALENT SHOW BEING PLANNED

Will Provide Varied Program As Benefit For Memorial Methodists

A talent show, in which 40 little girls and one little boy, ages seven to 14 are participants, will be held by the Memorial Methodist Church in the Northeast Junior College, Tuesday at 8 p. m. The children will have opportunity to show their respective talents in singing, dancing, art work and other lines.

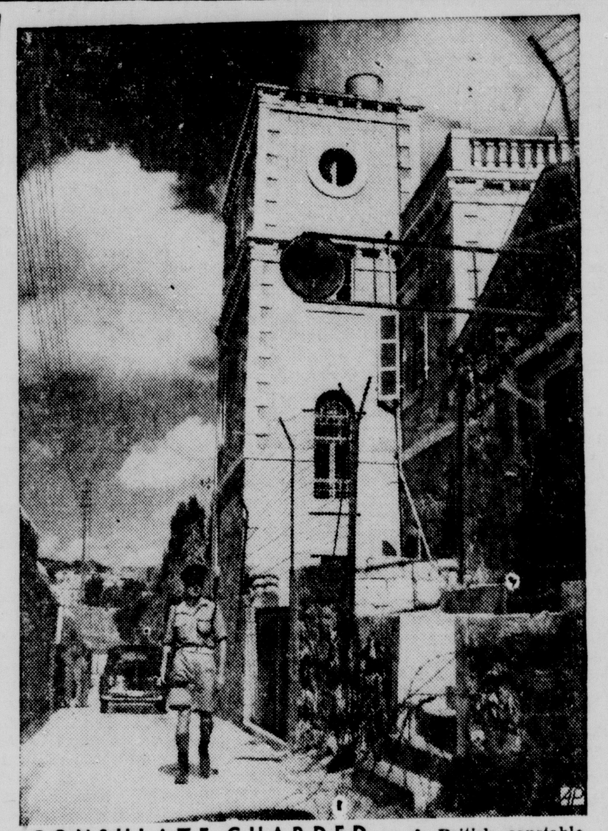

There will be special dance numbers by students of the Roan School of Dancing, headed by Clarice and Goldah Roan.

Mrs. N. L. Huckabee and Mrs. H. W. McKenzie, leaders in Girl Scouting here, will enter some members of their groups.

In the lobby there will be displayed booths where toy animals and a variety of knitted and crocheted articles, made by various members of the church, will be on sale and there will be many pictures painted by the children and some by adults, on display and on sale.

The talent show is to be staged as one of the programs to be given in connection with raising funds for the new church to be erected. A goal for receipts at the Tuesday night talent show has been set at $500.

THE NATION TODAY
By James Marlow

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—(AP)—A man who gave his name as David A. A. Olson filed suit here this week against President Truman and Congress.

He said the U. S. constitution doesn't give the government power to use the taxpayers' money to help foreign governments.

So he wants a court order to stop the foreign aid which Congress starts considering when it begins its special session Monday.

Is Olson, who says he's a Kentucky builder and engineer, right? Not a chance, say experts on taxes and the constitution.

Simply, they point out this:

1. Under the constitution (16th amendment) Congress can make you pay income taxes. It's been doing that since 1913, when the amendment was okayed.

2. The tax money goes into the U. S. treasury, together with other money collected by the government, to be used when needed.

3. Congress can vote to appropriate, or spend, money for the "general welfare of the United States." (Section 8, article I of the constitution.)

4. So Congress can vote money for foreign aid if it thinks that's for the general welfare, such as by stopping communism abroad.

5. True, the money for that aid will have to come from money in the treasury, whether it's tax money or other money the government's collected.

6. But so long as Congress votes to spend it for what it considers the general welfare, that's all right.

Until the Civil War there was no income tax. Until then the government mostly paid its way by tariffs, a tax on goods shipped into this country.

But Congress voted the first income law in 1861 to help pay for the war. It really got going in 1862.

Between then and 1872 the government collected $376,000,000 in income taxes. In 1872 Congress wiped out income taxes as no longer necessary.

Then a fight to restore the tax started. It continued for years. Special groups and minor political parties wanted it, to hit the rich but not the poor.

After the panic of 1893 Congress voted another income tax. This was in 1894, in the administration of Grover Cleveland, Democrat.

The next year, 1895, the supreme court knocked out the law by ruling it was unconstitutional.

Joseph Choate, one of the attorneys fighting the tax, said it was a step down the road to "communism."

The supreme court ruled that a tax on income, such as from land or property, was a direct tax and therefore unconstitutional because:

Section 2, article 1 of the constitution says "direct taxes shall be apportioned (in just proportion) among the states."

Under that law of 1894 anyone with income from land in any state could be forced to pay an income tax.

So, looking at section 2, article I, the supreme court decided the tax was not being "apportioned" among the states and was unconstitutional.

Although that supreme court decision stood in the way, the fight to have an income tax continued.

It became clear that, if Congress were to pass another income tax law, the constitution would have to be doctored up a bit.

So in 1909, in the Republican administration of President William Howard Taft, both houses of Congress passed a resolution to amend the constitution.

It took four years—until 1913—for the necessary 36 state legislatures also to approve. Then the amendment became part of the constitution.

In their book, "The Federal Income Tax," Roy G. and G. C. Blakey said there was a lot of doubt in Congress, when it passed the resolution in 1909, that the necessary 36 states ever would approve.

That amendment, the 16th, said:

"The Congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes on income, from whatever source derived, without apportionment among the several states, and without regard to any census of enumeration."

Tht fixed up the constitution so that section 2, article I, which the supreme court in 1895 said prevented an income tax law, wouldn't get in the way of another income tax law.

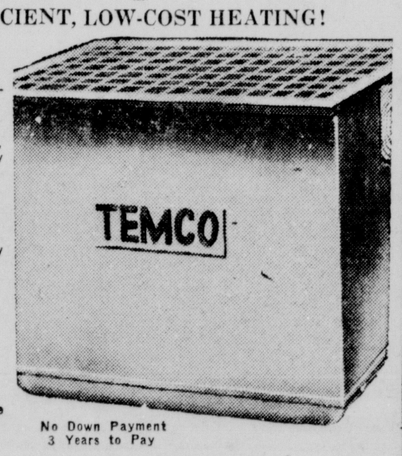

nd in 1913 Congress passed an income tax law. We've had one ever since.

NAT'L SORORITY OPENS 13TH MEET

Monroe Mayor Proclaims Today 'Delta Rho Delta Day' As Meet Opens

With over 200 members registered at 5 p. m. yesterday at the Frances Hotel, the Sigma chapter of Delta Rho Delta Sorority, national in scope, opened its 13th annual convention, first to be held in Monroe, with a banquet at 8 p. m. Saturday.

Immediately following the banquet, a dance and fun-fest in the Cherokee Terrace occupied members until 10 p. m. A picture, "This Is Louisiana," was shown to guests by courtesy of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

Mayor H. H. Benoit added his official sanction to the convention by declaring today "Delta Rho Delta Day" in Monroe. The proclamation follows:

Whereas, the Delta Rho Delta Sorority is made up of business and professional women dedicated to the lofty purpose of presenting interesting and entertaining study for mental betterment and culture of its members, and

Whereas, the Delta Rho Delta is an educational, social and service organization, and

Whereas, the 13th annual national convention is to be held in Monroe Sunday, November 16, 1947,

Now, therefore, I, H. H. Benoit, mayor of the city of Monroe, Louisiana, do proclaim Sunday, November 16, 1947, as "Delta Rho Delta Day" and urge the citizens of Monroe to learn more about this organization and the work it is doing.

Given this 15th day of November, 1947.

H. H. BENOIT,
Mayor.

The convention program, as planned for today, opens at 8 a. m. with a dutch-treat breakfast in the Frances, held simultaneously with a breakfast and business meeting in Hotel Virginia.

A highlight of the day will take place at the home of Misses Ann and Freeda Mickel. Miss Maibel Hood will preside there over an hour-and-half coffee hour scheduled to begin at 9 a. m.

A final luncheon program is set for 11:30 a. m. today on the Cherokee Terrace after which the members will hold open house in the chapter suite, 807-808.

REDUCTION SHOWN IN SUGARCANE FORECAST

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 15.—(AP)—The Louisiana sugar cane yield was set at 4,386,000 tons, a six per cent reduction over a month's period, in the November report of the U. S. D. A. crop reporting service.

The service commented that dry weather continued through most of October, but that rains coming late in the month were of great aid to growing crops.

The sugar cane production was forecast at 11 per cent below last year and 16 per cent below the ten-year average. Production of sugar cane syrup, estimated at 8,400,000 gallons, would be sharply below the 1946 production of 11,850,000 gallons. Cane yield per acre was estimated at 15.5 tons.

Mechanical sugar harvesters encountered trouble because of crooked stalks caused by the September hurricane.

The No. 1 forecast of rice production was 21,035,000 bushels, or 5,843,000 barrels, three per cent below the Oct. 1 forecast and seven per cent below last year.

The corn crop was placed at 13,440,000 bushels, ten per cent under 1946.

Sweet potatoes were estimated at about two-thirds of last year's crop, or 7,275,000 bushels.

The pecan crop, damaged by the September hurricane, was set at 5,000,000 pounds, with wild or seedling varieties expected to comprise 68 per cent of the crop. Orange production was set at 63 per cent of last year's production, or 260,000 boxes.

Between 1890 and 1940 the number of American families increased 175 percent but the population increased only 110- percent..

COMMODITY HELP PROPOSAL GAINS

Lawmakers Favor Fixing Aid In Bushels Instead Of Dollars

By Jack Bell

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15. —(AP)— A move developed on Capitol Hill today to specify quantities of aid rather than sums of money in any European stop-gap aid plan.

And, downtown, diplomatic authorities reported that the administration is presently planning to ask Congress to appropriate $6,000,000,000 for spending on Latin-American and Canadian commodities to go into the longer-range proposal for a four-year European aid effort.

President Truman will lay his $597,000,000 program for stop-gap aid for France, Italy and Austria before the opening session of Congress Monday, along with a suggested means of halting the rise in the cost of living at home.

The diplomatic authorities, who asked not to be quoted by name, said that the use of U. S. dollars in buying Latin-American and Canadian products would be designed to reduce the drain on U. S. resources.

They said the major products involved in the idea, in the order of their importance, are bread grains, coarse grains, meats, fats and oils, coffee, cotton and timber.

Secretary of State Marshall has already said the administration will ask Congress for authority under which U. S. funds could be spent in foreign countries for commodities not readily available here in large quantities.

The president will appear before the joint session of the Senate and House Monday in person, accompanied by his cabinet. His message, on which he worked today, will be broadcast to the nation (1:30 p. m. E. S. T.).

Mr. Truman in his stop-gap aid message also is expected to outline at least the broad aspects of a long-range European recovery program that Secretary of State Marshall has estimated will cost from $16,000,000,000 to $20,000,000,000 in the next four years.

Details on this are expected to be forthcoming in a separate message to be submitted later to the special session, although the administration apparently has no hope of action on the long range program until next year.

Several lawmakers have gulped at the size of Marshall's figures and some from both parties said they think it may be much wiser for the United States to let Europe know in terms of specific commodities, such as wheat, coal, oil fertilizer and machinery what it reasonably can expect to receive.

Senator Edwin C. Johnson, Democrat, Colorado, told a reporter he hopes that Congress will be furnished with concrete figures on the available supply of such commodities before it makes any specific promises of aid.

"Telling them we are going to appropriate a certain number of dollars doesn't mean anything unless, for instance, the wheat is available," he declared. "We can't give them wheat that doesn't exist and we can't send so much abroad that we bring about wild inflation at home that will destroy our economy."

Likewise, Senator Cain, Republican, Washington, who recently returned from Europe, said he wants foreign aid based primarily on the products that can be made available for export without putting too severe a strain on the home front.

"And before I vote on a long-range recovery program, I want to know in detail what these European nations propose to do to help get themselves on their feet," the Washington senator said.

Senator Connally, Democrat, Texas, already has suggested that both stop-gap and long-range assistance be conditioned on American supplies and needs. He said the United States ought not to mislead the European countries into thinking that they are going to be given a check for any specified amount.

He and Chairman Vandenberg, Republican, Michigan, of the Senate foreign relations committee are expected to work together in drafting a statement which would make it clear that aid will be contingent on American resources.

Vandenberg brought up the question of $5-a-bushel Argentine wheat at committee hearings and there are indications that strong objections will be raised by some lawmakers to furnishing money for the purchase in other countries of commodities in short supply here if that action pushes world prices up even more.

Senator, Taft, Republican, Ohio, contends that American help should be confined to furnishing goods and supplies from this country. He has suggested that other countries which might wish to help the 16 western European nations might come here for loans to finance their operations, if they need money.

Vandenberg made no predictions on the timing of final action but the Senate Republican policy committee already has agreed on a schedule calling for Senate consideration of the stop-gap measure beginning November 24. Marshall has suggested the bill should be passed by Nov. 30.

President Truman's recommendations on anti-inflation questions also have been promised speedy action. Taft said the Senate-House economic committee probably will begin hearings next week on these proposals. He marked cost of living controls for Senate consideration after action on the emergency aid measure.

General expectation in Congress is that Mr. Truman will ask for expanded authority to allocate scarce food items at the business level, will propose continuing export controls, ask for restoration of consumer credit curbs but will avoid proposing retail price controls.

He is understood to have under consideration a proposal to set up a board to aid foreign countries in fighting inflation. This board would negotiate with other countries for a stabilization of their currencies.

President Philip Murray today sent Mr. Truman a memorandum which said:

"The aid program should be administered by men who are representatives of the best aspirations of the American people and who can win the confidence of the people of Europe. Adequate participation in administration by labor will aid in avoiding the mistakes of reconstruction that followed World War I."

Murray also took note of the impact that a foreign aid program may have at home, saying:

"Since some shortages of food, materials, and equipment may result from a European program, there must be assurance that what is available to our own people is distributed equitably without regard to income, or whether a business is large or small. We must take steps necessary in the way of controls to prevent speculation, further inflation, or rising prices."

CHURCHES PLAN TO STRESS AID NEED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—(AP)—The campaign to conserve food for Europe's hungry will be stressed in churches and synagogues beginning Saturday, Nov. 22, Sunday Nov. 23 and on through Thanksgiving week, the citizens food committee said today.

Thanksgiving morning church leaders will make a radio appeal for full support of the conservation program.

Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York; Bishop William T. Sherrill, presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal church, and Rabbi and William Rosenblum, president of the Synagogue Council, will be among the broadcast speakers.

Both the food drive and the churches' own relief campaigns will be stressed during Thanksgiving week, Charles Luckman, chairman of the citizens' food committee, said in a statement.

"On our Thanksgiving Day," he added, "the people of Europe will experience widespread suffering from hunger and cold. While we in America are celebrating God's bounty to us, we must constantly remember to conserve in what we eat to give through our churches so that our neighbors abroad may be fed and clothed in the name of humanity and world-wide peace."

During the war, 40,000 members of the armed services were afflicted with rheumatic fever.

HUGHES

ing General Myers' relations with other aircraft companies which would have made clear that I was telling the truth when I described his relations with me.

"I see no reason why the public was kept in the dark. I feel that you should have disclosed all of the evidence."

"All of the facts will be presented," Ferguson continued, "you can rest assured of that."

Hughes paused and then remarked: "Yes, senator, I accept your explanation."

Earlier Hughes had caused tension by referring to his heated quarrels last summer with Senator Brewster, Republican, Maine, chairman of the full war investigating committee.

At that time Hughes testified that Brewster had agreed to call off the investigation and hearings if Hughes would agree to a merger of the Hughes-controlled transworld airlines and support an airline bill of Brewster's. Brewster dropped his Senate immunity to testify as a witness and denied all Hughes charges.

Both Brewster and Hughes finally agreed to "close the record" on their personal feud.

"Last summer, when I appeared before this committee, I testified against your colleague (Brewster)," Hughes started to say today.

Ferguson and Committee Counsel William Rogers both broke in to remind Hughes of the agreement to end that dispute so as to get at "the real issue" of wartime contracts.

But Ferguson, after a pause, told Hughes to continue.

"I hesitate to use his name because the mere mention of Senator Brewster around here seems to throw everybody into a tizzy," Hughes said. "It seems to cause an explosion."

Hughes continued that he "did testify against Senator Brewster here last summer and the public was left to decide whether I was telling the truth or whether Senator Brewster was telling the truth."

Then Hughes said the public again "was left to decide who to believe" on the conflicts between himself and Meyers.

There was little mention during the final hearings of the two Hughes contracts: One for $18,000,000 to build three models and for a speedy radio photo-reconnaissance plane.

1. Disclosure by Hughes that he had—contrary to earlier testimony—employed General H. H. Arnold, retired wartime head of the army air forces, for a brief time in an "advisory capacity" for TWA at $250 a month. Hughes said he did not even know of this during his earlier testimony.

2. Withdrawal by Hughes of an earlier statement that 100 of the photo planes had actually been ordered on September 3, 1943, before Elliott Roosevelt, son of the late president and wartime air force brigadier general, had made his recommendations in favor of the Hughes model.

Hughes explained his earlier contention was based on information from Lt. Gen. Barney Giles, retired, that Roosevelt did not inspect the Hughes plane until late in September while Roosevelt and others said the first inspection was in August, before the initial directive to buy them.

3. Denial by Lt. Gen. Ira C. Eaker, retired deputy AAF commander, of Meyers' testimony that Meyers had bought $1,000 of aviation stock in 1940 in his name for Eaker. Eaker said Meyers made the purchase for Mrs. Eaker while the general was overseas. After the hearing Meyers agreed this was correct. Eaker, now a Hughes company executive, also denied there was any link between the wartime positions and Hughes occupied.

4. A contention by Neil S. McCarthy, Los Angeles lawyer and wartime Hughes official, that Meyers tried to "shake down" Hughes by requests for both jobs and loans during contract negotiations. McCarthy agreed that neither he nor Hughes reported these attempts to Meyers' superiors.

5. A denial by Meyers, made to reporters after the hearing ended, that he had a war-time financial interest in the Aviation Electric Company of Dayton, Ohio, which had $1,053,000 of wartime aviation sub-contracts. Meyers said he lent $34,000 to a friend in 1939 and 1940 to help start the business and was repaid in 1941. Meyers also denied he held some $35,000 worth of aviation stock after he reported he had disposed of them in 1943. He said they went to his wife.

MRS. KATE ROBERTS FUNERAL IS TODAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Kate Roberts, 72, who died at her residence at 1009 North Third street Saturday afternoon, will be held at the residence at 3 p. m. Sunday. Interment, under the direction of the Mulhearn Funeral Home, will follow in the Riverview cemetery.

Mrs. Roberts, a member of the Christian Science Church and a resident of Monroe since 1918, is survived by three children, A. J. Enochs, Memphis, Mrs. Mamie Winter, Fort Worth, Texas, and Mrs. A. V. Breard of Monroe; one sister, Mrs. Sue Eudy of Eupora, Miss., and four grandchildren, Mrs. Louis P. Milner, Jr., Miss Catherine Winter, Armand E. Breard and Miss Thelma Enochs.

Pallbearers at the funeral will be Tom Sandifer, E. N. Faulk, Dan Armand Breard, Eugene Flournoy, Henry Haas, C. B. Braun, Richard Cassidy and Bob Shafto.

Before coming to Monroe, Mrs. Roberts was a resident of Coffeeville, Miss. Her husband was the late T. A. Enochs who died in 1938.

FIRE ALARMS

Firemen of Company 5 were called out at 10:13 p. m. Friday night by the house mother at the Northeast Junior College girls' dormitory to investigate the premises after she had smelled smoke. No fire was found.

Company 3 answered an alarm at 1806 North Third street at 7:43 a. m. Friday but found that the fire, caused by a short in the electric ice cream box, had been extinguished. The alarm came from the Serve-U Grocery.

The first American agricultural expriment station was founded in Connecticut 70 years ago.

wants to write him they will have to address him at Eros, R. F. D. No. 1.

A prospective Green Wave fullback of about the 1966 season—said his Tulane graduate dad—arrived at St. Francis Sanitarium Monday, just a day too late to have his birthday coincide with that of his big sister who was born there November 9, 1940.

The newcomer is Bennie Ellsworth Spencer, Jr., son and second child of Dr. and Mrs. B. E. Spencer, of Sterlington. His projected gridiron career was revealed while he was performing as the central figure in a moving picture strip taken by his father at the hospital Wednesday evening.

The Spencers' daughter, Mary Francis, was named for her cousin, Martha Carolyn Upshaw, 16, of Monroe, and Sister Mary Francis, director of St. Francis School of Nursing. Mrs. Spencer, a graduate of the school, is the former Marthield Knight, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Knight, of Springhill.

The Y's Men's Club feasted on shrimp when they met at the Floyd Stone home, last Wednesday, and they had all they could possibly desire, cooked fastidiously by Mrs. Stone, who by the way is daughter of Rev. E. F. Hayward. Mrs. Stone started to boil the shrimp early in the day. Soon there was an odor that was highly obnoxious (it is said to be quite characteristic of shrimp when boiling). The family across the hall from the Stones made an excuse to get out of the place. Then two other families left suddenly on errands that they found necessary downtown. All that was left in the building was the three-month-old baby daughter of the Stones, and she wasn't able to walk, so she and her mother saw the cooking through to the bitter end. But the delicious shrimp, when cooked, repaid many times for discomforts on the way.

That there is real talent in many of the youngsters who live in the college section of Monroe will be demonstrated at the N. J. C. auditorium Tuesday night when a unique talent show is planned by leaders in the Memorial Methodish Church. Forty children, ages seven to 14 years, will entertain with dances, songs, and other acts that will show original talent. Active in promoting this talent display are Mrs. N. L. Huckabee and Mrs. H. W. McKenzie, Girl Scout leaders.

The lobby of the college will have on display art work, pictures and knitted and crocheted articles placed on sale. They will further go toward demonstrating that there is plenty of talent right here at home. And the real principal back of it is both to develop talents, publicize them and to raise cash for the fund to construct the new Methodist church in the college area. The goal set for Tuesday night is $500 cash as a result of the night's program and display. It's a worthy cause and is assured success such as it deserves.

Today will wind up a highly successful state convention, that of the Delta Rho Delta, which is being entertained here by the hostess Sigma chapter. Two hundred have been in attendance and the banquet last night was a brilliant event which will long linger in the memory of all privileged to attend.

FIVE KILLED

Democrats, often wrecking the premises.

These incidents have been interpreted in many quarters as Communist efforts to embarrass de Gasperi's government and force its reorganization with the inclusion of Communist ministers.

The interior ministry said it had received word that Cerignola mob had attacked the police barracks there with machinegun fire and hand grenades. The assistant police chief was wounded gravely and three carabinieri and a police agent were wounded slightly.

There are "numerous dead" in the city, the Rome newspaper Momentosera reported. It added that the roads into Cerignola were blocked and telegraph and telephone lines were cut. A general strike tlso gripped Cerignola, where many members of the U. S. 15th Air Force lived during the war.

Dispatches from the city said the milling demonstrators attacked the headquarters of De Gasperi's Christian Democratic (Catholic) party and wrecked the offices of the Democracy of Labor and of the University Association. The disorders began last night.

Il Giornale D'Italia said there were five known dead in Cerignola, bringing to at least 10 the number of persons killed in Italian political disorders during the past week.

By nightfall the reinforced police were reported making some headway toward restoring order. Il Giornale D'Italia said that at noon the only vehicle allowed to circulate freely in the city was a truck flying a white flag which picked up "a harvest of dead and wounded." The newspaper said the entire region of Puglia, in which Cerignola is situated, was "in tumult."

The province of Lecce, south of Puglia in the heel of the Italian boot, also was experiencing a strike of peasants, diggers and tobacco workers. The Interior Ministry said that in some areas the strikers had cut down telephone poles. Several arrests were made.

With its bus and streetcar lines already tied up Rome faces a possible general strike. Only taxis and ancient "damionette," privately-owned converted pickup trucks, were available to transport Romans who lined the sides of these wheezing vehicles two and three deep.

The street car and bus workers union called the transportation strike to protest the arrest of a street car conductor during the Leftist raid on an anti-Communist meeting of Italian war veterans. The police identified the conductor as a Communist.

Rome's chamber of labor met to discuss calling a general strike, but its decision was not known immediately. Meanwhile, the government was reported seeking to head off the threat by receiving leaders of the Italian Gneral Confederation of Labor tonight at the Viminale, a government building. The confederation subsequently announced that the transportation strike would end at midnight.

Robert Lucifero, a Liberal deputy, declared in the constitutent assembly that the transportation strike was an example of the Leftist attacks on De-Gasperi's middle-of-the-road government from which the Communists have been excluded.

In a pattern similar to that followed in other riot-torn cities of Italy, Leftist-controlled labor elements in Rome also struck at non-sympathetic sections of the press.

Printers refused to put out today's edition of the Liberal (conservative) party organ Risorgimento Liberale because its director rejected an ultimatum to publish in its entirety a resolution of the Typographical Union attacking what the union called the "capitalist and neo-Fascist" press.

Voce Republicana, a newspaper of the small left-of-center Republican party, ran the resolution in one edition but withdrew it when it learned that the union required its publication. No further editions appeared.

Giulio de Marzio, director of the independent morning newspaper, Il Momento resigned rather than publish the statement, and the newspaper appeared over another's signature.

This sequence of events preceded the capital's transportation strike: the Anti-Communist Association of war prisoners returned from Russia met in a hall in the Piazza Esedra. The Leftists reported that Marshal Giovanni Messe, wartime commander of Italian troops on the Russian front, was scheduled to address the meeting.

A demonstration developed and a crowd tried to invade the meeting hall. Messe is regarded as an archenemy by the Leftists who describes him as a potential "man on horseback" for resurgent Fascism.

A short time before the Piazza Esedra clash, 200 to 300 men armed with sticks attacked police trying to arrest black market tobacco vendors in the Piazza Vittorio. Police quelled an incipient riot there after reinforcements were summoned.

A three-hour general strike developed in Bari where a Communist group was reported to have wrecked the headquarters of the liberal party.

Dispatches from Perugia, 75 miles north of Rome, said Leftists—enraged when a bomb was tossed at Communist party headquarters—rallied in the town square and devastated the headquarters of the, Rightist "common man" movement and shops of newspapers they accused of Fascist leanings.

The common man movement headquarters in Parma in northern Italy was destroyed. Workers demonstrated in Florence, and disturbances were reported in Leghorn, Achile Narozza, Christian Democrat assembly speaker, said Leftists had raided the headquarters of his party at Alessandria. Leftists were reported to have rioted at Cremona, an industrial city on the Po river. Ten persons were injured in mob action at Verona, half-way between Venice and Milan.

series of prizes is set up for boys and an identical set of prizes is established for girls in schools of the following student population classifications:

Up to 50 students; 50 to 100 students; 100 to 200 students; 200 to 400 students. First, second and third prizes of $25, $15 and $10, respectively, are established for boys and duplicate prizes for girls of the above group.

Winners of the special cash prizes are also eligible for the four-year scholarships. The cash prizes are offered this year as a stimulus to greater activity in the contest by small rural schools and in realization that they are at times at a handicap in competing with large schools having greater reference sources and special instruction that is not available in the country areas.

The official subject for the essay contest is:

"Benjamin Franklin: His Influence In Our Country."

The subject was chosen by the L. S. U. board of scholarship trustees which administers a $200,000 trust fund being established by the children of the late Colonel Robert Ewing, publisher of the New Orleans States and the Shreveport Times at the time of his death, in 1931, and founder of the Monroe World. The scholarships in his memory are the most valuable at L. S. U., and their value is further enhanced through L. S. U. waiving all general fees for winners.

The scholarship trustees and the judges of the contest call especial attention to the wording of the subject—that it means that essays should evaluate the influence of Franklin, his acts, and his writings and should not be merely chronological biographies.

At the present time, eight Louisiana students—four boys and four girls—are at L. S. U. under Ewing scholarships. All of them have established magnificent records scholastically and in various forms of extra-curricular work. The eight have a combined average of straight "B's" in their classes.

The scholarships were established for a triple purpose: As a means of bringing greater study among high school students of persons who founded and helped maintain constitutional government and freedom in this nation; as a means of siphoning into Louisiana State University two students each year who would be of proven talent and ability to be a credit to the university, not only while in it but after graduation and throughout their lives; as a tribute to the memory of the late Colonel Ewing, who was a staunch advocate of constitutional government and a believer in sound public school education as a means of maintaining it.

Colonel Ewing did much to further public education in Louisiana, particularly in sponsoring an amendment in the 1898 constitutional convention to provide free school books in New Orleans—the forerunner of the later state-wide system of free school books.

The living children of Colonel Ewing are John D. Ewing, editor and publisher of the Shreveport Times; Wilson Ewing, editor and publisher of the Monroe News-Star—World, and James L. Ewing, Robert Ewing, Jr., and Mrs. Esther Ewing Brown, of New Orleans. Another son, Toulmin Ewing, died a few years ago. He w an executive of the News-Star—Wor at the time.

Judges of the essay contest are S. U. faculty members, as follow William O. Scroggs, dean of the grad uate school, chairman of the judgin committee; Professor Harlan Linne McCracken, of the school of economic and Professor Benjamin Foster Mitch ell, of the school of education.

Judging of the essays is under system whereby the judges have knowledge whatever as to identity the contestants or where they atter school. No judging is done by th newspapers. An editor removes fro each essay submitted all identificatio and gives the essay a code numb with retention of identification of th code numbers. The judges announc the winners by numbers and th editor then makes the identificatio

All essays must be submitte through school principals and car their certification as outlined in th rules. No essay may be sent dire to L. S. U.

PLAN TO IMPROVE SOCIAL SECURITY

Public To Be Better Informed Of Rights, Benefits, Says Kendall

Improving service to the public and preventing loss of benefits were discussed on November 12-14 by the Social Security Administration field office managers of Louisiana, Texas and New Mexico, Wallace E. Kendall, manager of the Monroe office, said last night.

Kendall returned to Monroe Saturday after conferring in Dallas with other field office managers and with regional and national officials of the administration.

Oscar C. Pogge, national director of the bureau of old-age and survivors insurance, emphasized at the conference the responsibilities of field personnel to the public, and stressed the importance of notifying the people of their rights and benefits under the program. James B. Marley, director of social security activities in the three states, commented that the public has a right to know the facts about the social security program.

"It was forcefully brought out," said Kendall, "that we must especially furnish this information to those who may now be eligible to receive this insurance, so that no one will lose a payment because of lack of knowledge of his rights."

Under the Social Security act, no payment can be made to an aged worker or to the family of a deceased worker until a claim has been filed. A certain amount of employment in a job covered by social security is necessary before payments can be made, except when the wage earner dies within three years after his honorable discharge from the armed forces. After the application is filed and other requirements met, back payments may sometimes be made for as many as three months, but not for more than three months.

"In addition to paying those who are now eligible, it is our responsibility to inform all workers of their future rights to insurance payments, so that individual workers and their families can make better plans for the future," Kendall concluded.

SUSPECTED VET TAKES OWN LIFE

Leaves Note Under Pillow Denying He Killed Estranged Wife

GULFPORT, Miss., Nov. 15.—(AP)—A heartsick 23-year-old war veteran who had been questioned in the mysterious disappearance and death of his estranged wife was declared dead today "of self-inflicted wounds from a .22-caliber rifle."

A Harrison County coroner's jury returned the verdict after viewing the body of Charles Garner, found with a bullet wound in the head near the spot where he and his wife had frequently picknicked together before their estrangement.

The findings were announced by Coroner Gus Bellande of Gulfport, who said Garner was a war veteran who had been employed as a civilian at Keesler Field, Biloxi, Miss.

Gulfport Police Chief John Paine said that a note left beneath the pillow of Garner's bed denied he killed his wife, whose body was found near New Orleans Nov. 6, and asked that they be buried together.

In New Orleans, chief of Detectives Joseph Scheuering said the investigation into the death of the woman, Mrs. Violet Caspolich Garner, also 23, was "closed," and the body had been released to her mother to be returned to Gulfport.

Paine said L. C. Schmidt of Gulfport, step-father of the dead man, told him Garner left their home about 9 p. m. Friday, after appearing "nervous and despondent" during the day.

Garner's body was found this morning after an all-night search led by Schmidt and an uncle, C. W. Green.

Relatives told officers in New Orleans at the time of the investigation of the death of Mrs. Garner that she disappeared while she was returning from Gulfport to New Orleans to resume her job as a waitress in a restaurant.

Mrs. Garner's mother told Cole in New Orleans that her daughter had mentioned threats on her life.

New York Day By Day

By CHARLES B. DRISCOLL

Title Reg. U. S. Patent Office

NEW YORK—A good laugh in a business office is worth a bushel of office memos.

I heard more laughs in the office of Joe Frazer, motor tycoon, the other day, than I've heard at any comedy this season. Most of the laughing was done in the hearty, all-out technique of Mr. Frazer. He is the kind of fellow who gets the most out of a conversation without being grim or sad about it. He is the exact opposite of the type known as stuffed-shirt executive.

Frazer, who, as most people know, is head of Graham-Paige, Kaiser-Frazer and Frazer Farm Equipment, was born and brought up on a farm in Tennessee, but he has lost the Tennessee mode of speech. He is a stout, gray-haired gentleman of middle age, with vast experience in the industrial world.

A building occupied partly by the headquarters of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, on Broadway in the fifties, has been remodeled and modernized. On the second floor, formerly an automobile storage loft, is Frazer's expansive private office, with other offices clustering about. It's a cheery, happy-looking place, and I didn't see a long face with turned-down mouth in the layout.

Frazer was recently home from Europe, where he had taken a good look around. His impressions are many, but are summed up something like this: Many of the calls for American aid are coming from politicians who seek to perpetuate themselves in office at the expense of the American taxpayers. We cannot support Socialist England in comparative idleness forever. We are now shipping coal ti England ,while English coal miners refuse eo work. This is really carrying coals to Newcastle, or to its suburbs, at least.

Frazer's impression is that the English people are being strangled by a Socialist government that tries to regulate their every move. Those who have money cannot spend it, because of government regulations. If they could spend it for goods, then some of the idle could be employed making more goods. But now, as things stand under the Socialist rule, the country simply stands still and waits for American money and goods. This, thinks Frazer, is a burden we cannot carry always.

At present, Frazer is up to his neck in fertilizer. This situation grows out of his farm machinery manufacturing. In order to have abundant crops, thinks this industrialist-farmer, we must have cheap organic fertilizer in great quantities.

So he has been experimenting. He is having built a small plant, to turn out not more than 100 tons a day, bya process recently perfected. He can use almost any organic matter, such as weeds, waste from sugar cane, sludge from municipal garbage disposal plants, or even sage brush, for this fertilizing agent which creates a black loam, capable of raising almost anything.

I applauded these ideas, since we've got to produce a lot more food in this country if we're going to feed our enemies and friends all over the world, but I predicted that he'll have a tough time getting garbage in many cities, without paying graft to city officials. Garbage, I have observed in a long journalistic service, is one of the dirtiest things in politics.

VETERANS' AUXILIARY GETS CHARTER TODAY

Fifty or more American Veterans of World War II, their wives and mothers were expected to attend the auxiliary charter-presentation dinner at noon today at the Devil's Kitchen on DeSiard road.

A charter from the national organization will be presented to the auxiliary of Walter S. Savage, Jr., post No. 5, during the course of the dinner by Mrs. Sarah Weber of Baton Rouge, president of the state auxiliary. It will be accepted by Mrs. Mary Harkness, president of the local chapter.

Mrs. Weber will be accompanied here by Mrs. Edwina Franques, also of Baton Rouge, state auxiliary secretary. The Louisiana department will be represented by Emile Greenleaf of Baton Rouge, state commander. Mrs. Greenleaf will come to Monroe with him.

About 32 percent of American farmers now are tenants, the lowest percentage of farm tenancy in the United States since 1900.

NEWARK BATTLE TURNS TO WORDS

Lawyers To Carry Fight Against Ship Docking To Washington

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 15.—(AP)—The defenders of Newark Bay Levelled a barrage of words today instead of the water and flame-fighting foam two tiny city fireboats were to have "fired" in their blockade of the port against the super-dreadnought New Mexico.

Briefcase-packing barristers unleashed their attack in two states, and announced they would carry the fight to Washington next week to keep the old ship from being scrapped at Newark.

First, attorneys for the port of New York authority (whose interest in Port Rewark is a 50-year lease), and Lipsett, Inc., the New York salvage firm intent on scrapping the dead man o' war at Newark over the city's objections, signed an armistice until Tuesday.

An hour later, Federal Judge Thomas F. Meaney laid the court's blassing on the agreement, and suggested that the "circus note" to the long-impending and much-postponed "Battle of Newark Bay" be missing in the new judicial phase of the dispute.

A meeting was scheduled tentatively for Tuesday in Washington with Undersecretary of the Navy Kenney to try to work out a treaty. The port authority and the U. S. navy hoped to sign a separate peace in the comic opera "war" so the battleship can be lodged somewhere.

The navy holds a lease to parts of the Newark port for the duration of the war emergency, and it has subleased to Lipsett for scrapping of un unspecified number of surplus warships.

The city opposes the scrapping lest the port be turned into a nautical boneyard, and lest an $11,000,000 development plan by the port authority be impeded. There also have been unhappy rumors at city hall that the New Mexico is the first of "several hundred" ships to be scrapped at Newark.

The armistice, signed today in the office of the port authority in New York, provided that the battleship not be moved from its mooring in Gravesend Bay to Port Newark without notifying the city in "ample time for it to refurbish its defenses—both legal and nautical.

In deference to the "spirit of the armistice," said Public Safety Director John B. Keenan—commodore of the Newark navy—the two fireboats gave up their patrols at the entrance to Newark Bay. But one of them, equipped with a loud speaker, remained at the scene.

Spokesmen for the salvage firm, reported that the delay is costing $4,000 a day and hoped "things will get straightened out soon."

Keenan received an offer of more armament for the blockade today from City Public Property Director Ralph Villani, who suggested the Revolutionary War cannon gracing the city's parks and squares be mounted on the 30-foot fireboats—that is, "If the weight won't sink them."

Why do we call it the "NEWS"?

Because the news comes from the four points of the compass. The word "news" was coined from the initial letters of North, East, West and South.

Why are CSC plants spaced widely over the map?

To serve you better by working close to abundant raw materials and convenient shipping facilities. Corn from the Middle West, natural gas from the South, and molasses shipped through nearby ports—are all transformed into more than 200 fine chemicals for the manufacturer, the doctor, the farmer, and the motorist.

Louisiana Oil And Gas News

Further Extension Of Ora Field Seen

McMurrey Completes Second Well In Critical Mid-section; 2 Wildcats Under Way In Northwest Union Parish; No Failures During Week

Union parish oilmen last week chalked up five new assured producers and, with no failures breaking their stride, began looking toward the possibilities of further extending the Ora field.

Once again the focal point of the development was the 80-acre tract in section 26-22-1W, the critical strait between the discovery area and the southwest extension, where successful East Texas Prospector Jim McMurrey has brought in two commercial wells.

An official gauge last week rated McMurrey's J. C. Williams No. 1 at a daily flow of 99 barrels from 2,141-46 feet. The test was made through a 1/16-inch choke, with casing set at 2,132 feet.

Meanwhile, McMurrey has staked location for the Williams No. 7 and No. 8, also on the acreage he acquired last September from C. A. Lupton after the abandonment of Lupton's J. C. Williams No. 2.

The Atlantic Refining Company, which has extensive holdings throughout the field, entered the development with an application for the F. M. Tucker No. 1 in section 27-22-1W.

Other completions included two Shell Oil Company pumpers in section 34-22-1W, the Frost Lumber Industries No. E-2, rated at 245 barrels a day from 2,111-38 feet, and the Jessie F. Tucker No. 2, gauged at 195 barrels daily, from 2,111-31 feet; C. H. Murphy's Arvis No. 1, in section 14-22-1W, tested as pumping 228 barrels a day from 2,097-2,114 feet, and the Clyde No. 1, also a pumper, in section 27-22-1W, showing a potential of 228 barrels a day from 2,142-52 feet.

Another wildcat is being undertaken west of the now depleted Oakland field—this one by J. A. K. Jones, of St. Joseph, on a 42-acre tract in section 22-23-1W, 990 feet south and 2,291 feet east of the northwest corner. Drilling is planned to 2,350 feet.

Designated as the C. D. Holloway No. 1, the well is about seven miles northwest of Ora and a mile and a half southeast of the short-lived Crow Drilling Company's H. C. Gatson No. 1, abandoned about ten days ago at a bottom of 2,236 feet.

A. K. Kilpatrick, Monroe businessman whose Futch No. 1 was abandoned several weeks ago, has embarked on another wildcat venture. Kilpatrick, joined in the enterprise by Arthur R. Smith, also a Monroe businessman, staked location for the Carl Hollis No. 1 in section 32-23-1W, about two miles east of the deep T. L. James test now temporarily abandoned.

Expressing optimism over the site, Kilpatrick disclosed he and his partner have sufficient acreage to drill a total of 13 wells, if the Hollis is a success.

The wildcat "Preacher's Well," in 33-23-1W,, reacquired from G. T. Hudson by the Rev. R. W. Rhodes, of Spearsville, who brought it in last July, is remaining shut down. E. C. Johnston is still reported on location at the wildcat J. W. Shaw No. 1 in section 18-21-1W.

Plunkett and Sklar are continuing tests at the Farmerville Mercantile No. A-1 in section 26-22-1W, but unofficial reports have rated the potential at about only eight barrels a day.

C. H. Murphy is preparing to cement 5 1/2-inch casing at 2,184 feet at the Arvis No. 2 and is on location at the Arvis No. 3. Both are in section 14-22-1W. At the Williams No. 2 in section 26-22-1W 6-inch casing has been set at 2,183 feet.

Shell Oil Company is waiting to cement casing at the Frost Lumber Industries No. A-25, in section 14-22-1W, and at the Frost Lumber Industries No. E-1, in 34-22-1W. Drilling has been begun at the Frost Lumber Industries No. A-26, in section 14-22-1W, and at the E-3 in section 34-22-1W. The Frost Lumber Industries No. D-2 is still bailing down. The G. H. Tucker No. 1 is awaiting orders after completing bailing at 2,125 feet.

Marine Oil Company is waiting to cement casing at 2,194 feet at S. L. Smith No. 5 in section 34-12-1W. and is on location at the S. L. Smith No. 7 and No. 8 in section 27-22-1W.

The Jerry Cararas Company is testing the Dykes No. A-5 after reconditioning and pumping sand, but has not yet begun operations at the A-1, A-2, and A-3. All are in section 26-22-1W.

H. L. Hunt, Jr.'s P. L. Williams No. 3, in section 34-22-1W, and the P. L. Williams No. 7, in 3-21-1W, have been completed and are waiting for official gauging. The P. L. Williams No. 5, in 3-21-1W, spudded in November 4, is waiting to cement casing at 2,209 feet.

A pump unit is being installed in the P. L. Williams No. 2 in section 34-22-1W, and the Williams No. 1, and No. 6, in 3-21-1W, are reported on location.

Feazel, Neely, and Roberts are installing a gas anchor in the Dykes No. 2, section 24-22-1W, at a depth of 2,150 feet. Lion Oil Company has converted to a salt water outlet the Ballard No. 5 in section 27-22-1W.

Roberts and Smith are still inactive at the Farmerville Mercantile No. A-1, in section 23-22-1W, shut down awaiting further orders.

Sellars-Ewing are rigging up the J. R. Price No. 6 in section 4-21-1W.

In the heart of Lafourche swamp, about eight miles southeast of Monroe, the California Company's deep wildcat, the Breece Lumber Company No. 1, was reported below 8,200 feet with no indications of any commercial formation. Drilling is scheduled for only 800 feet deeper, to a bottom of 9,000 feet.

Among other completions in the district was that of the Tidewater Associated Oil Company's B. L. Warner No. 10 in section 12-16-7E of the Richland Parish Big Creek field. Brought in as a pumper, the well was rated at a daily potential of 162 barrels from 2,806-21 feet.

Although not a distillate producer, the Warner showed a gas-oil ratio of 2,931 to 1 with a gravity of 44.3 degrees, and the allowable was accordingly restricted to 61 barrels a day.

The Tidewater Company, meanwhile, has made location for the B. L. Warner No. 11 on a 20-acre tract in the same section as the Warner No. 10 and No. 9. Drilling is scheduled for 3,000 feet.

American Liberty Oil Company's Mengel-Little No. 27, in section 34-17-9E, completed as a gas well, is still waiting for official gauge, as is the same firm's Mengel No. 25 in section 26-17-8E, also completed as a gas well.

Stanolind Oil and Gas Company is continuing work on installing a pump at the Delta Lumber Company No. 16 in section 12-16-7E, the Big Creek field, and in the same section J. H. White is reported on location at the L. P. Ford No. 1.

George B. Franklin, of Rayville, spudded in the Franklin Fee No. 5, a wildcat in section 20-18-6E in Richland parish, about 12 miles east of Monroe, and drilling has reached 1,800 feet. The well is an offset to Franklin's Chess Wymond No. 1 abandoned on November 2.

Two Catahoula wildcats, Hunt Oil Company's Delta Lumber Company No. 1, in 6-4-5E, and its Nebo Oil Company No. F-138, in 21-9-2E, were reported drilling at 9,888 and 5,923 feet respectively with no findings of commercial value.

Roy Fisher's Franklin parish wildcat, the Tensas Delta Lumber No. 1, has suddenly been made "tight" after Fisher, aided by C. H. Murphy, Jr., and the Penrod Drilling Company, reconditioned the well to drill 300 feet deeper from a 6,808-foot bottom. A rank wildcat, the well is in section 5-11-6E, about four miles west of Extension.

Another Franklin wildcat, C. L. Smith's A. C. Polk No. 1 in section 24-17-7E is still shut down awaiting orders at 5,780 feet.

In the Madison parish Delhi field, Burden, Kemp and Chester Hunter completed the Frazier No. 1 with a daily rate of 254 barrels from 3,335-47 feet. Gauge was made through a 3/16-inch choke. Gas-oil ratio was listed as 445 to 1 with a gravity of 40.8 degrees. Location of the well is in section 15-17-10E, the northeastern tip of the field.

Murphy-Sun Oil Company has staked location for the J. K. Mahony No. A-3 in section 16-17-10E, and is preparing to convert the J. K. Mahony No. 3, in section 20-17-10E, into a salt water disposal well.

Curtis Kinard Company's Singer No. 1 was reported drilling at 4,490 feet after a temporary stall for repairs at 3,578 feet. The site is in section 15-15-10E, four miles east and one mile north of the one-well Indian Lake field which produced gas distillate from the Tuscaloosa horizon. Prospective depth of the Singer is 6,000 feet in Paluxy sand.

Marine Oil Company's Ayer Timber No. 1 in section 19-15-10E of Madison parish is still idled at 6,130 feet.

In the Tullos-Urania area, Arkansas Fuel Oil Company's Tremont C-20, in section 35-10-1E, was gauged as a pumper with an output of 100 barrels a day from 1,537-42 feet. The Urania "N" No. 5, an offset, was at 1,000 feet after start of drilling Tuesday. The M. E. Waldron Company is still testing the Urania Lumber Company No. 5 in section 19-10-2E, with 6 5/8-inch casing set at 1,553 feet.

Hunt's Grant parish wildcat, the Nebo Oil Company No. F-138 in section 21-9-2E was drilling at 7,755 feet.

In LaSalle parish, Hester and Graham are testing the J. A. Miles No. 2 in section 26-9-1E, while the Hunt Tann-Gall No. 12, in 21-9-2E, and Placid Oil Company's Tremont Lumber Company No. F-6, in 10-9-2E, are remaining shut down.

After a week of test operations, Alden Oil Company and Holmes are installing a pump in the J. T. Gray No. 1 in section 36-8-2E of the Trout Creek field.

In the Killen's Ferry field, Sohio Petroleum Company is waiting an official gauge of its Chicago Mill and Lumber Company No. 1 in section 35-14-9E. Also waiting gauging is the same company's Ayer Timber No. B-2 in 36-14-9E, perforated from 6,740-70 feet with casing set at 6,817 feet. Sohio's Chicago Mill and Lumber No. A-3 in section 34-14-9E was drilling at 6,325 feet.

Taylor Kirby Company's Morehouse parish wildcat, the Doc E. N. Clark No. 1 in section 10-20-7E, is still engaged in freeing a stuck drill stem at 4,012 feet.

In Concordia parish, the California Company's Lake St. John Unit No. 9 was drilling at 6,925 feet. The well is located in section 28-9-10E, the same tract in which the Carter Oil Company recently completed the W. E. Person No. 1 with the sparse potential of 19 barrels a day from 8,954-97 feet. The Texas Company's Morgan Walker No. 1, a wildcat in section 20-8-8E, was abandoned at 9,500 feet.

H. L. Hunt's wildcat Fisher Lumber Company No. 1 in section 25-7-8E has reached a depth of 9,800 feet.

In the Tensas sector of the Lake St. John field, the California Company temporarily abandoned the J. M. Lee No. 1, in section 46-9-10E, at 9,230 feet.

Southern Production Company is rigging up at its Tensas Land No. 1 in section 6-10-10E, 4,750 feet south of its Engel-Laub No. 1 which extended the limit of the Holly Ridge field when completed about a month ago.

Three miles south of the Engel-Laub, W. A. Smith began rigging up the J. Balfour Smith, a wildcat on a 10-acre tract in section 18-10-10E.

Number of locations for the week, 31; drilling, 52; inactive, 19; abandoned, 1; completed, 10.

LA. GAS POLICY AT STAKE AGAIN

Gubernatorial Candidates Voice Firm Stand On Export Regulation

The Louisiana natural gas issue, kicked around in the legislature during the past four years, is being reconditioned for another showdown in the coming state elections.

At stake in the controversy is the essentially unchanged question of whether natural gas supplies should be allowed to seek a free market outside the state, or whether their development should be subjected to rigid export control.

Three of the four gubernatorial candidates have come out flatly against the principle of preventing increased withdrawals of the state's fuel resources through new pipelines. That was the official policy, heartily endorsed by former Gov. Sam Jones and recognized by the legislature from 1942 until it was formally repealed at the special session this year.

In his current campaign for the governorship, Jones has not indicated whether he would try, as chief executive, to have his "conservation" policy revived intact. But he has given it credit for improving wellhead prices in Louisiana.

Contending that his opponents have misrepresented his stand, Jones has declared his opposition is based on the fact that wellhead prices in Louisiana work an injustice on landowners and royalty holders because of their "insufficiency" compared to prices paid in other gas-producing areas.

He has proposed, however, after Louisiana markets are supplied and wellhead payments increased, that exports be permitted without restriction.

Jones is also on record for extensive recycling, pipeline connections for all fields and extension of natural gas service to some 75 Louisiana communities which do not now enjoy it.

During a recent campaign swing through north Louisiana, Earl K. Long made a special point of his opposition to restrictions on gas markets anywere.

Rep. James Morrison declared himself as opposed "100 per cent to the Sam Jones natural gas policy" and asserted that Jones "wants to protect the coal operators in other states."

Judge Robert F. Kinnon asserted, "We are not going to subscribe to a policy which will stop you from selling your gas to a man in El Dorado, Ark., or Kansas City or Timbuctoo who is willing to pay for it."

Commissioner of Conservation Joseph L. McHugh, who made no secret of his opposition to the former policy even while it represented the state's official position, declared in a recent speech that "in spite of widely publicized opinions to the contrary, it does not appear that Louisiana's oil and gas resources are in any immediate danger of exhaustion.

NEW WET GASSER FIELD IS NAMED

Area Around Pan-American Discovery Designated As 'D'Arbonne'

Prospects of large-scale distillate development in north Louisiana were given official recognition last week in an announcement by Commissioner of Conservation Joseph L. McHugh that a new gas field had been discovered in Union parish.

The new field is the "D'Arbonne" area, about 12 miles southwest of Farmerville, where Pan American Production Company brought in its wet gasser, the Elva Rugg No. 1, rated at a potential of 88.45 barrels of 59 gravity condensate and 4,100,000 cubic feet of gas daily.

Specific location of the Rugg is in section 31-20-1W, just above the Union-Lincoln parish line.

Meanwhile, Par American is reported at 4,248 feet at the Hosea Brewster No. 1, an offset to the Rugg, in section 6-19-1W, about a quarter mile across the boundary in Lincoln parish. Contract depth is 10,000 feet.

Postponing full commercial development of the rugg, Pan American is using 1,000,000 cubic feet of gas a day to drill the Brewster, and it expected to make similar disposition of production from other wells it may complete on its extensive acreage in both Lincoln and Union.

ROOT OIL STOCK PURCHASE IN OFFING

Pan American Production company is reported ready to exercise its option for purchase of 13,250 shares of Root Petroleum company stock received from D. P. Hamilton of Shreveport, president and major stockholder of the Root company.

The transaction was said to be based on a price of $25 a share and sale of Hamilton's interest, comprising about 40 per cent of the company's stock.

A requirement of the option, which is effective until December 19, is that Pan American make the same offer to other stockholders.

Root has production in both Arkansas and Louisiana, and only recently provided an outlet from Ora field to its refinery at El Dorado.

The first subscription library in the American colonies was projected by Benjamin Franklin in 1731 in Philadelphia.

State Report

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 15.—(AP)—The state department of conservation in its weekly oil report today announced completion of 13 wells with combined initial daily production of 2394 barrels, abandonment of 21 tests and issuance of 43 permits for new wells.

Completions outside the Monroe district were:

Acadia parish, Tepetate field, Continental Oil Co. No. A-14 Homeseekers Development, S2-7S-2W, 21 bbls., gas-distillate, 7/64" choke.

Beauregard, Longville, Barnsdall Oil Co. No. A-2 M. E. Cooley, S31-5S-9W, 263 bbls., 10/64" choke.

Iberville, St. Gabriel, Shell Oil Co. No. 10 H. H. Gueymard, S13-9S-1E, 53 bbls., gas-distillate, 7/64" choke.

LaFourche, Delta Farms, The California Co. No. 44 Delta Farms 1, S6-17S-23E, 216 bbls., 7/64" choke.

St. Landry, North Cankton, Sun Oil Co. No. 2 Guidry pool, S13-8S-3E, 115 bbls., 8/64" choke.

St. Mary, Bayou Blue, The Texas Co. No. 3 State Lease 329-St. Mary parish Land unit 1, S11-17S-9E, 324 bbls., 9/64" choke.

Terrebonne, Bay St. Elaine, The Texas Co. No. 4-12 State Lease 199-Bay St. Elaine unit, S6-22S-18E, 114 bbls., 10/64" choke.

Vermilion, West Gueydan, Magnolia Petroleum Co. No. R-3 Dennis Hartwell, S8-12S-2W, 108 bbls., 6/64" choke.

Abandonments were:

Bienville, wildcat, Lion Oil Co. No. 1 Colbert, S14-17N-6W, 8500', dry.

Bossier, Sligo, Triangle Drilling Co. No. B3 Kerr, S24-17N-12W, 3179', plugged; wildcat, E. L. Johnston No. 1 Eon. Moresi, S15-22N-14W, 3154', dry.

Caddo, Pine Island, The Nowery Corp. et. al., No. 1 Agurs, S2-20N-16W, 1604', dry.

Cameron, Hackberry, J. G. Sutton Oil Co. No. 2 Mary Duhon, S22-12S-10W, plugged.

Catahoula, Jonesville, Penrod Drilling Co. No. 2 P. L. Mitchell, S34-12S-15E, 7812', dry.

East Baton Rouge, University, Sugar Field Oil Co. No. 2 Griffith, S46-7S-1W, 6779', plugged.

Iberia, Iberia, Wm. Helis No. 16 Bolivar, S52-12S-7E, 3550', dry.

Iberville, Rosedale, Sugar Field Oil Co. No. 1 Angellos, S72-8S-10E, 9722', dry; No. 1 Leo Rowe, S107-7S-10E, 10,295', plugged.

Sabine, Zwolle, Frank Buttram No. 1 A. L. Barr, S27-8N-12W, 2525', dry.

St. James, La Pice, J. R. Frankel No. 1 T. G. Markley, S34-12S-15E, 7812', dry.

St. John the Baptist, Bayou Des Allemands, The California Co. No. 1 La. State 1303, T13S-19E, 11,500', dry.

St. Landry, Port Barre, William Helis No. 1 Dezauche, S37-6S-6E, 6759', dry.

St. Martin, Anse La Butte, La.-Fla. Petroleum Corp. No. 1-A Central Fee, S86-9S-5E, 2,925', plugged.

Terrebonne, Four Isle Dome, Superior Oil Co. No. 1 LL and E State Unit 14, S23-21S-16E, 2,390', dry.

Webster, Cotton Valley, C. H. Murphy, Jr., No. 1 Central Trading Co. S33-21N-10W, plugged.

Permits were:

Acadia, Richie, Nicklos-Vincent and Welch No. 7 F. N. Hayes, S20-7S-1W, to 3,500'.

Bienville, Jamestown, The Texas Co. No. 1 V. J. Alexander, et al., S23-16N-9W, to 2,000'; No. 1 Federal Land Bank of New Orleans, S6-15-8W, to 2,000'; No. 1 J. D. Shaw, S29-16N-8W, to 2,000'.

Bossier, Bellevue, Harry J. Naert-Al Jenn, et al., No. 1 Wurtzbaugh, S16-19N-11W, to contract sand.

Caddo, Caddo, Magnolia Petroleum Co. No. 53 Doan-Thigpen, S6-20N-15W, to Chalk Rock; L. M. Calhoun, Jr., No. 1 G. M. Bagley, S12-20N-16W, to Chalk Zone; Magnolia Petroleum Co. GAS, OIL WORKERS AVERAGING $60.62

BATON ROUGE, Nov. 15.—(AP)—In a special study of the oil industry, the Louisiana employment security division reported the average weekly pay for the 42,092 workers engaged in the industry in Louisiana is $60.62 a week.

Employes in petroleum refining averaged $67.15 a week, and the lowest paid group, retail service station employes, averaged $31.15, the agency said.

HUGE INCH LINES TO AID GAS FLOW

War-Time Oil Carriers Pass To Texas Eastern Transmission Company

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—(Special)—Now in full possession of the Big and Little Inch pipelines, the Texas Eastern Transmission Company is accelerating plans to increase supplies of natural gas to northern consumers.

Title to the huge pipelines, which cost the nation about $146,000,000 to construct, passed to Texas Eastern yesterday for $143,127,000, the largest surplus war assets sale to private ownership on record.

Under proposed plans, the pipes will be conveying much-needed fuel to the north at the rate of 340,000,000 cubic feet a day by February 1, 1948. By August, 1948, the delivery capacity is expected to be stepped up to 433,000,000 cubic feet.

By next August 21, the newly formed firm expects to have in operation 21 compressor stations. Through application of modern pumping techniques it will be able to utilize the electric motors and virtually all the other facilities installed by the government for transmission of oil during the war.

At the time Texas Eastern took over operation, the lines were sending without compression about 140,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas a day into the Appalachian area.

The southern end of the Inch lines dip into the natural gas fields of Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas and Mississippi. On the receiving end are Philadelphia, a newcomer among natural gas users, and sections of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky.

The sales contract contains a provision under which the pipelines are rated as a wartime reserve facility and can be reclaimed for certain periods if necessary for national defense. The purchaser is further required to operate the lines in a manner to permit their reconversion to oil transmission in the event of war.

DISTILLATE FIELD PRODUCTION O. K.'D

Provided with an outlet for the first time since its discovery in 1943, Ada field in Bienville parish has been granted permission for production from one of the two pay sands.

The Hope Producing Company was authorized by the Department of Conservation last week to explore its Davis No. 1, the discovery well in section 2-17-8W. The well was assigned to the Davis zone unit.

Included in the order were the SE 1/4 of section 35 and the SW 1/4 of section 36, township 18, range 8 west; the NE 1/4 of section 2 and the NW 1/4 of section 1, township 17, range 8 west.

A distillate field, Ada was ordered shut-in because of lack of flaring or transportation facilities. Recently, however, Arkansas Fuel Company contracted for 18,000,000 cubic feet a week.

The conservation department made its order retroactive to October 29, effective date of the Arkansas company's agreement.

COON HUNT

both but returned home the loser to "Flora." There weren't many who cared to console the odoriferous loser.

The winner was awarded a gold-plated trophy by O. C. Schorp, president of the Carter company, after the party returned from the hunt. Mr. Schorp, who flew from Tulsa, was delayed when his plane was grounded there by weather conditions, and was brought here from Monroe by automobile when he was forced to land there.

To add to the enjoyment of the occasion, everybody who attended the affair (except those who "watched" from the clubhouse) became lost. The hunters, judges, Negro guides and even both dogs lost their way in the dense swamps. A pocket compass carried by a Vicksburg dentist ended the predicament.

The contest was the idea of Frank Bruner, of Shreveport, superintendent of the Southern division of the Carter Oil company. It was the outgrowth of the boasts of the owners of the two dogs. And Mr. Bruner hinted that a re-run may be held as a result of the Mississippi dog's scented encounter with the interloper.

Other Carter offiicals who attended the party are R. W. Beck, division chief geologist; E. A. Rose, production superintendent; Bonneau Peters, chief scout, public relations director and president of the Shreveport Texas league baseball club; C. C. Mackay, director of publicity, Tulsa; J. R. McWilliams, Tulsa, vice president; C. D. Watson, Tulsa, vice president; Murrell Blakely, Tulsa, public relations; W. F. Eiting, Shreveport, assistant to Mr. Bruner; George Wagoner, Shreveport, president of Interstate Oil Pipe Lines; C. R. McGuffin, head of the Jena division, and W. H. NEW EXERIMENTAL PLANE MAKES TEST

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Nov. 15.—(AP)—Consolidated Vultee's new experimental four-seater flying automobile today made its first test flight.

Reuben P. Snodgrass, test pilot, circled over San Diego for 1 hour, 18 minutes, and expressed himself as satisfied with its performance, according to company spokesmen. The plane must receive extensive ground and air tests before its practical aspects can be determined, Convair has announced. No plans for producing it for public sale have yet been made.

The 34 1/2 foot wing, in which a 190 h. p. engine is set, is easily detachable from the auto.

ROMANIAN KING'S VISIT TO LONDON STIRS SPECULATION

Romantic Interest With British Monarch's Daughter Hinted

By Leonard Kirschen

BUCHAREST, Romania, Nov. 15.—(AP)—15.—There is much speculation about the status of young King Mihai here in Romania, where he wears the dignity of monarch and the Communists govern his people.

Now in London for the wedding of Princess Elizabeth and for one of the increasingly infrequent gatherings of European royalty, King Mihai is the only monarch enthroned in the Russian zone of influence. He is the last of the rulers of the ill-fated House of Hohenzollern.

Do the Russians like him? That is a question frequently asked here. He wears the high Soviet decoration, the order of victory, and at a recent Russian reception he was the center of attraction.

He is one of the few Romanians ever to get an exit and reentry visa since the war for his visit to London, accompanied by his mother.

He is young and under the limitations of a constitutional monarch, but he has fought many a delaying action against the present Communist-dominated government—and sometimes he has won.

One of his victories forced inclusion of all parties in the Romanian government until elections could be held.

Fair-haired, 26 and dimple cheeked, he is a heroic figure—almost a legendary one of youth and bravery—in the eyes of the Romanian peasantry. His popularity is not that of an ordinary politician, and would be difficult to destroy.

Most of the peasants regard him as a "lamb," unblemished by mistakes. Given wise and impartial advisers he might succeed in keeping himself above the political turmoil.

He appears popular, too, with many members of the present government. Recently deputies cheered him wildly in parliament.

By Alex H. Singleton

LONDON, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Bachelor King Mihai of Romania flew into London today—among the first of the royal guests for Princess Elizabeth's wedding next week, but a diplomatic and romantic puzzle in his own right.

The 26-year-old monarch, the only king with a crown within the European nations neighboring Russia, arrived in his own small two-engined plane with Queen Helen, his mother, and the Duchess of Aosta, the former Princess Irene of Greece.

But even before their arrival, the British—who love a royal romance just as much as a mystery with a monarch in the key role—were wondering whether Mihai has come for purposes other than attending the wedding.

On the romantic side, the question was whether Mihai had come in the role of prince charming to woo Elizabeth's younger sister, the attractive Princess Margaret.

Among the diplomatic corps, some wondered whether political reasons may have prompted Mihai to leave Romania for the first time since he became king in 1940 to attend a state occasion which has little in common with the affairs of Communist-dominated countries.

There have been reports he might not return to Romania. Mihai himself declared upon arriving at Munich, Germany, last Tuesday that reports he was running away from his country were "ridiculous and untrue."

He remained silent today. A heavy guard hustled him from the plane to an automobile and then off to a hotel in London's west end.

Recent events in Romania, however, have tightened the Communist grip on the country. Juliu Maniu has been sentenced for life to prison at the "high treason" trial of himself and 18 associates in the peasant party. Anna Pauker, a leading Communist of the Balkans, has been installed as foreign minister. She is reported to keep pictures of Stalin and Lenin in her office, but not of Mihai.

Hatless and smiling, Mihai was greeted at the airport by Richard Franassovici, Romanian minister here, and by Brig. Guy Rasche who was representing King George VI.

Mihai piloted the plane part of the way on its flight from Geneva, Switzerland. But a Romanian air force officer was at the controls when it landed.

Mihai dined at Buckingham palace tonight, a circumstance that furthered romantic speculation, though it appeared more likely the dinner was little more than a royal courtesy.

Palace authorities have dismissed match-making speculation as "idle talk." Princess Margaret is 17.

The court calendar, which reported the dinner, gave no hint whether she was present.

ENLIST STUDENTS

a plaque will be awarded to the winning school. One point will be given each school for each dollar in prizes won by its students.

"Entries for the first week should be mailed to the contest chairman, Chamber of Commerce, Monroe, before midnight Friday. The name and address of the contestant, the name of his school, and the signature of some adult—preferably one of his parents—should be written on the back of the paper. Nothing but the essay should appear on the front.

"We are asking for the signature of a parent in order that Twin City parents will be assured that their children are interested in the responsibilities of citizenship," Kendall stated. "If any parents haven't registered and are qualified—well, we hope they'll act accordingly."

Entries will be judged on the basis of originality, aptness of thought, and forcefulness of expression. They are limited to 150 words, and contestants must write on only one side of the paper. Neatness and handwriting will not be judged in order to give children in the lower grades a better chance, but care in preparation of the essay is urged of all participants, Kendall said.

FRENCH PREMIER CALLS MEETINGS

Seeks To Strengthen Government To Meet Communist Threat

PARIS, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Socialist Premier Paul Ramadier today called a series of important meetings of political leaders for this week-end in an effort to strengthen his middle-of-the-road government as a "third force" to meet the rising threat of Communist violence on the left and DeGaullist opposition on the right.

The call went out after the Communists had presented a grave new threat to the government by ordering "action of the popular masses" against cabinet decrees raising gas, electricity and railroad rates, and had stirred riotous trouble in Marseille. Industrial sections in France's second largest city were 80 per cent strikebound.

The strike was extended today to Nice where dock workers walked out on instructions from Marseille union headquarters.

Highspot of the week-end conferences scheduled by Ramadier is to be a "political luncheon" tomorrow.

The premier's aides said the luncheon list would include: President Vincent Auriol, who is reported by some politicians to be determined not to allow Gen. Charles De Gaulle to have the Premiership, Ramadier, Leon Blum and Party Secretary Guy Mollet, all socialists; Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, Parliamentary Leader Robert Lecourt, and Pierre-Henri Teitgen, minister of the armed forces, representing the Popular Republicans (MRP); Edouard Herriot, and Deputy Vincent Badie, representing the Radical-Socialists; and Marcel Roclore, minister of agriculture, and Deputy Rene Coty, representing the Independent Republicans.

All have been working together since the municipal elections of Oct. 26 to set up a strong "third force" to oppose the Communist and DeGaullist giants on either side.

Ramadier's followers said he hoped to be able to announce a strengthened and broadened cabinet, which might even have a new premier, before the important debate Tuesday in the nation assembly on the Marseille riots.

The advocates of a "third force" have made no secret they hoped to persuade Paul Reynaud, a former war-time premier, to join the cabinet along with Blum.

The MRP and Radical-Socialists have been losing adherents rapidly to Gen. De Gaulle's new French Peoples Party (RPF) since its show of strength in the municipal elections. But most observers believed the government's most immediate peril came from the Communists and the rash of plaguing strikes and threatened strikes all over the country since formation of the nine-nation Cominform (Communist information bureau) at Belgrade, Yugoslavia.

Many persons believed that the disturbances at Marseille, where the Communists had just lost the mayoralty to a DeGaullist, were staged in the hope of forcing the resignation of De Gaullist councilmen and the city administration.

Marseille itself was reported quiet today, but 80 per cent of the industrial sectors of the city, including the port, were idle because of strikes called by Communist labor leaders.

A Communist party communique declared virtual war on the government's railroad, gas and electricity rate increases, and called on party followers to "prepare everything to assure the success of the action of the popular masses against high prices."

The Paris committee directed all who use the utilities to form "action committees" to carry out a struggle for the abrogation of the increases, and hinted at strikes in the public services by declaring such committees would have the "active support of workers in transport and gas and electricity industries."

Since formation of the Cominform, the Communists have tended to lump all their opponents, socialists and DeGaullists, into what they call the "American party." Their manifesto today marked a further step in their violent attack, which now appeared to have reached such proportions as to make it extremely difficult for them ever to enter a coalition government with other parties. This is a departure from their previous policy of insisting they were ready to reenter the government.

sufficient supplies of clothing and other needs had been received, and that there had been practically no suffering because of the fine cooperation of relief agencies and volunteer workers.

Claude Ledoux, Beauregard parish chairman for the Red Cross, said that plans are being rushed to start rehabilitation on Monday. All persons in need of aid have been registered by the Red Cross, and their needs supplied for food, clothing and housing.

The survey showed that 73 white residences and 89 Negro homes had suffered damage from the storm in some degree. About a score of the white residences and two score Negro homes were badly damaged or demolished.

The mayor said the city hall had suffered more than $1,000 damage and the Beauregard parish courthouse between $10,000 and $15,000.

One of the heaviest sufferers in property loss was the Marcello brothers interests, with a total of $24,000 damage to a large garage, an apartment house and a residence.

A church, the Masonic building and a score of business buildings suffered losses.

PARTITION PLAN READY TO OFFE

Expect To Submit Proposa For Splitting Palestine This Week

LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 15.—(AP) The long-awaited plan for partition Palestine into separate Arab an Jewish countries is expected to b submitted to the United Nations ne week for approval.

Dr. Herbert V. Evatt of Australi chairman of the U. N. assembly special 57-nation Palestine committe said he had scheduled three meetin for Monday on the assumption th subcommittee reports on partitio would be completed over the week end.

Evatt said he would press for committee decision next week an forward the plan for creation sovereign Arab and Jewish countrie to the assembly immediately.

Only agreement on a few minc details by a four-power workin group composed of the U. S., Russi Guatemala and Canada was holdin up the work of a subcommittee on en forcement of Palestine partition.

A nine-member Arab subcommitte completed its report on partition la week but refused to disclose its con tents until the other group submit its report. The Arab countries hav continuously opposed the partitio and have insisted that Palestine be come an independent Arab country.

Meanwhile, the four-power work ing group went into another huddl today to try for agreement on re maining minor differences in its pla for enforcing the proposed partition.

Of prime concern was the possibil ity that the partition might be de layed until Oct. 1, 1948, as result o Britain's announcement that sh would be unable to evacuate the Hol Land before Aug. 1.

Under a U. S.-Soviet compromis plan, the British would terminat their mandate over Palestine by Ma 1 and independence of the Arab an Jewish countries would become ef fective July 1.

Russia was understood to be op posed to changing the dates, bu American and Canadian representa tives on the four-power party were inclined to agree that it must b given serious consideration in view of the British statement.

The working group also had under consideration a proposal that Britain would not terminate her mandate unless it was agreeable to the U. N.

The U. N. Palestine partition planners, however, were rounding ou their plan for creation of the Arab and Jewish countries on the assumption that while Britain refuses to take an active role in enforcing partition she will at least not hinder the U. N. attempt at enforcement.

U. N. AGREES

she would continue the fight against the move when the budget comes up for decision next week. Under U. N. rules, budgetary matters require a two-thirds vote for approval and the proposal would be defeated later unless it gained additional support. Under today's vote, the plan was just short of the necessary two-thirds.

Most of the debate centered around increased costs which U. N. officials estimated would be approximately $1,000,000 more. The figures were $961,679 for New York; $1,863,554 for Geneva, and $2,009,554 for any other city in Europe.

The voting lineup split for this issue with the Latin American countries divided. The Soviet bloc favored the move. The U. S. did not speak but backed the switch to Europe.

The ballot came after delegates turned down, 27 to 18, a Cuban amendment which would have required the host country to make up the difference in costs for the transfer to Europe.

Other U. N. developments:

1. Meeting at Lake Success, the assembly's 57-nation political committee continued debate on India's "Jim Crowism" charges against South Africa. One proposal would have India, South Africa enter direct negotiations and if these failed to refer the issue to the international court of justice. India charged South Africa last year with discrimination against Indians but South Africa contended that the situation was an internal affair and the U. N. had no right to order negotiations.

2. The security council, meeting for the first time in two weeks, referred to its committee of experts the question of determining the reports to be requested from the United States in connection with American trusteeship over a group of former Japanese islands including the Carolines, Marshalls and Marianas

PARKING METERS BEING CONSIDERED

WINNSBORO, La., Nov. 15.—(Special)—Possibilities of installing parking meters in Winnsboro were discussed when the town council met Thursday night. The representatives of parking meter companies demonstrated their meters at the meeting. They were asked to meet with the council again one month from last night for further discussion.

Several small towns in Louisiana have recently installed parking meters and reports from them show the parking meter system successful, resulting in more orderly parking of cars along the streets.

MRS. FLOURNOY NOW PRESIDENT OF 'Y'

Mrs. Eugene Flournoy was elected president of the Young Women's Christian Association at the annual meeting held the past week. Mrs. Flournoy has been a leader in the work of this organization for years and her election as president is declared such as to meet with wide approval.

Others who were elected at the same time are: Mrs. T. H. Scott, vice president; Mrs. R. W. Cretney, recording secretary; Mrs. W. R. Hatchell, corresponding secretary, and Miss Nona Martin, treasurer.

Boyle's Notebook

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Manhattan, always shedding the cocoon of the past, symbolizes Poet Tennyson's famous line—"The old order changes, yielding place to new."

They no sooner put up an amazing building than someone begins to plan to tear it down and replace it with something more marvolous.

But the death of two famous old mansions—the red Vanderbilt stone palace on Fifth avenue and Charlie Schwab's stately granite chateau on Riverside drive—marks the final passing of New York's so-called "golden age."

Crashing with the blows of wrecker hammers destroying these two great edifices are the gaudy standards of the late nineteenth century financial Titans, whose fortunes were so vast that society dandy Ward McAllister coined this rule-of-thumb definition of wealth:

"A fortune of only a million is respectable poverty."

Some antics of the fabulous people of that fabulous day are recalled by Andrew Tully, former war correspondent, in his book "Era of Elegance":

Mrs. William Astor—"the" Mrs. Astor—dipped into $50,000,000 to spend $2,250,000 on a renaissance palace. Guest contributed $1,000,000 in gifts at the celebrated wedding of her daughter, Carrie. But when they auctioned off the furniture of society's queen in 1909, a year after her death, the gilt chairs from her ballroom brought only $1.50 each and a huge tapestry that had dazed visitors for two generations went for $10.

High-living Charlie Schwab poured $8,000,000 of his steel profits into his 75-room, 40-bath Hudson river hideaway. He put in a $50,000 pipe organ and a refrigerator that could hold 20 tons of beef. It cost him $400,000 a year to keep up this overgrown bungalow, and Charlie, who had earned more than $1,000,000 a year, died cheerful—and broke. The final tally: Assets $1,389,509, liabilities $1,727,858.

Isaac Brokaw, multi-millionaire clothier, insisted that his architect put a real moat around his Fifth avenue castle on the grounds that "there's more robbers in this town than all those King Louies had to put up with" in France. All that ever tumbled into the moat, however, was a runaway horse.

The original John D. Rockefeller, retiring at 56, spent between $20,000,000 and $40,000,000 on his 7,000-acre "Kijkuit" estate overlooking the Hudson. He lived for years on a diet of human milk and built a $25,000 turntable so he wouldn't have to move to keep in the sun.

Andrew Carnegie, who kept eight footmen in his $3,000,000 Scottish castle for the sole purpose of pouring wine, built a $2,000,000 cottage on upper Fifth avenue also, just to have a headquarters to give away $250,000,000 late in life.

This so enraged his bitter enemy, Henry Clay Frick, that Frick vowed: "I'll make that place look like a miner's shack." So Frick spent $17,000,000 on his own marble palace, stocked it with $30,000,000 in art treasures and willed the whole thing as a public museum, hoping it would make his name outlast Carnegie's.

Income and inheritance taxes, the high cost of servants and other factors have led descendants to dispose of most of the moth-eaten grandeur huts built by the American money giants.

What is the old order yielding place to?

Well, the most dramatic change now taking place in Manhattan's ever-changing face lies in the field of community housing.

One insurance company is building a $90,000,000 project along the East river. It won't contain any European art treasures and it won't have a moat. But it will have trees, playgrounds and room for 25,000 middle-income people on land where slums sprawled before.

That is the new pattern Manhattan is growing into.

D. O. PLYLER DIES, SON GOES TO N. C.

Paul Plyler, owner of O. K. Sheet Metal Works, received word that his father, D. O. Plyler, passed away in Mooresville, N. C., Thursday night. Mr. and Mrs. Plyler and their two children had been at his bedside for the past two weeks. His condition had improved and they were returning home when word was received at Meridian, Miss., that his father had expired.

Mr. Plyler returned to attend the funeral service which will be held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Cavin Funeral Home, Mooesville, N. C. Mrs. Plyler and children returned to their home on Pine Street Saturday morning.

HOUSING SHOW IN L. S. U. SCHEDULED

"What's new or forgotten in the housing and home building industry?" O. J. Baker, in charge of the Housing Exposition, to be held at L. S. U. November 19-23, is a modern Diogenes who is flashing his lantern into every crook and cranny throughout Louisiana for the answer to this searching question.

Baker wants nothing new and different in the building line to escape L. S. U.'s Statewide Housing Exposition, designed to bring news and information to the home-hungry public. An anticipated 50,000 spectators will view the south's first comprehensive housing exposition during the 5-day period.

Many and varied are the materials and equipment to be displayed—all-metal window screens, Venetian blinds, flourescent lighting, millwork, appliances, plans, prefabs, to mention but a few.

AIR RESERVE TO MEET TUESDAY

Officers And Enlisted Men To Attend; Assignment Made For Selman Field

There will be a meeting of air reserve officers and enlisted men Tuesday night, November 18, at 7:30 in the courtroom of the city hall.

The 579th bomb squadron has vacancies for enlisted men with the following M. O. S.'s: 826, 821, 542, 684, 620, 060, 824, 014 and 345. The squadron also has a few officer vacancies for bombardiers, radar observers and flight engineers.

Barksdale Field authorities have announced that they have assigned a regular air force enlisted man to the 579th bomb squadron. He will be stationed permanently at Selman Field to keep the necessary records required by the air force on reserve squadrons. It is anticipated that Barksdale Field will assign one regular air force officer to Monroe in the near future.

Charles Morrow, president of the local Air Reserve Officers' Association chapter, is attending the national convention of the Air Reserve Officers' Association in Oklahoma City and he will render a detailed report of this convention at the meeting Tuesday night.

It is urged that all air reserve officers and enlisted men attend this meeting Tuesday night.

About 2,100,000 permanent dwellings were built in the United States between 1940 and 1945.

The New 1948 NASH Features:

Improvements in styling, riding comfort and mechanical performance are features of the new medium and low-priced lines of 1948 Nash automobiles. The new cars are being introduced this week in dealer showrooms throughout the nation. Both lines are characterized by changes in exterior and interior design providing more luxurious appearance.

To avoid interrupting Nash production schedules, styling changes entailing new tools and dies were held to a minimum, according to H. C. Doss, vice president and general sales manager.

In its 1948 "600" series, Nash includes a new de luxe business coupe. Nash also has added to its medium and low-priced cars a new line of special "custom interiors" incorporating interior styling, color treatments and upholstery refinements formerly available only in custom-built automobiles.

The new Nash '48's feature 26 engineering improvements. Mechanical changes include advanced cushion mounting of engines, better cooling and lubrication and new larger low-pressure super-cushion tires. Nash is offering the new tire recently pioneered by Goodyear as standard equipment on all 1948 models.

The new cars include three different body types in the medium-priced Nash Ambassador series and four types in the lower-priced Nash "600" series.

A new array of striking colors and dramatic color combinations will be available in the '48 Nash Ambassadors and "600's."

Factory delivered prices of the new cars range from $1399.05 for the "600" series de luxe business coupe to $1820.95 for the "super" Ambassador series.

Body styles of the Ambassador series include a four-door trunk sedan, a six-passenger brougham and a four-door "slip-stream" sedan. Similar body styles are available in the Nash "600" series to which has been added the new de luxe business coupe.

An exclusive feature of the 1948 Nash line of cars is its famous "Weather Eye," a built-in conditioned air ventilating system which filters and dries the air before it enters the car. In the summer the Nash "Weather Eye" provides abundant ventilation without insects, dust or rain entering the car. In the winter, a thermostat automatically controls the temperature of the air. The "Weather Eye" delivers up to 600 cubic feet of tempered fresh air per minute and almost completely eliminates drafts.

The Nash Ambassador has a six-cylinder valve-in-head engine with 3-3/8 inch bore and 4-3/8 stroke. It is rated at 112 horsepower developed at 3,400 R. P. M. It is rubber mounted at four points, has dual automatic spark control and a seven bearing crankshaft. The chassis has a 121-inch wheelbase, independent coil spring suspension at front and semi-elliptic prelubricated leaf springs at the rear, controlled by two-way direct-acting hydraulic shock absorbers. It has dual arrow-straight shock-proof steering system; rigid box girder frame with double thickness side rails; super-hydraulic brakes; cast-iron drums; front ride stabilizer; all-silent "Synchro-Shift" transmission with steering column control; automatic cruising gear (fourth speed) with automatic overtake, optional extra.

The Ambassador unitized all-steel body is strongly secured to a rugged frame by internal bridge-truss construction. It is completely insulated and sound-proofed and has spool-type rubber body mountings and weather-sealed doors. Body (inside and out), hood, fenders and all sheet metal are "Bonderized" to prevent rust. New 7.10x15 super-cushion tires are standard equipment. Over-all length is 208-9/16 inches.

The Nash "600" has a six-cylinder, L-head engine with exclusive sealed-in intake manifolds. Its bore is 3-1/8 inches and stroke 3-3/4 inches; displacement 172.6 cubic inches; developed horsepower 82 at 3,800 R. P. M. It has tri-point rubber engine mountings; down-draft carburetor; dual automatic spark control; steel-strut aluminum pistons; four main bearings; fully counterweighted crankshaft dynamically and statically balanced; vibration damper; full pressure engine lubrication (rifle-drilled connecting rods) of all pistons, pins and cylinders, and cylinders with full length water jackets.

The "600's" chassis has a 112-inch wheelbase; independent front suspension system, and coil springs at all four wheels controlled by two-way direct-acting hydraulic shock absorbers; torque tube drive with track alignment bar at rear; full balibearing shockproof steering system with 20.5-foot turning radius; super-hydraulic brakes; cast-iron drums; "Synchro-Shift" transmission with steering column control, and new 6.40x15 super-cushion tires. Over-all length is 199-9/16 inches. The "600" series body is unitized all-steel with internal bridge-truss construction and integral chassis frame welded into one rigid twistproof, shakeproof unit completely insulated and soundproofed. The body (inside and out), hood, fenders and all sheet metal also are "Bonderized" to prevent rust.

Nash continues to offer as optional equipment a convertible double bed in both "600" and Ambassador series sedans.

L.S.U. WIN OVER MAROONS SCRAMBLES RACE

BENGALS FOLLOW SOPHOMORE BACK TO 21-6 TRIUMPH

Injured Stars Watch From Sidelines As Pevey Shines For Tigers

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 15.—(AP)—Louisiana State threw the Southeastern Conference football championship race into a wild scramble today by whipping Mississippi State, 21 to 6, while Georgia Tech was being bounced out of the unbeaten ranks.

The home team pulled itself together in the last two periods after Harper Davis' 60-yard spring had given Mississippi State a 6 to 0 edge at half time.

Shorty McWilliams, Mississippi State's chief offensive weapon went out with an injury midway of the second period, and watched from the bench while the Maroons suffered their first conference loss.

There was a groan from the L. S. U. supporters among the crowd of 40,000 when Y. A. Tittle, the Tigers brilliant quarterback, limped off the field after the second half kickoff.

But Charlie Pevey, the sophomore ball-handler who has had little opportunity to play because of Tittle's endurance, proved more than adequate.

He threw a 40-yard pass to Abner Wimberly for Louisiana's first touchdown midway of the third period, and

NEVILLE TIGERS PACK PUNCH IN LAST HALF TO BEAT LIONS

Bengals Crush Lafayette, 26 To 0, In Postponed Grid Tussle

LAFAYETTE, La., Nov. 15.—(Special)—Held to a one-touchdown lead in the first half, the Neville High School Tigers of Monroe exploded for three more touchdowns in the last half here this afternoon to conquer the Lafayette High School Lions, 26 to 0. The game had been postponed from Friday night because of a severe rain storm.

The invading Bengals showed a classy offense sparked by Perry Fisher, Robert Nelson, and Bucky McElroy, and a stellar line, led by David Kahn, Joe Love, "Buster" Stevens, and Ronald Gunter, that held the Lions in check and spiked two Lafayette scoring opportunities.

Neville resorted to trickery to get their first touchdown when McElroy got away on a fake punt to pay dirt, but they hammered the Lions into submission to get the last three, one by Fisher and two by McElroy.

Lafayette kicked off to start the game, and the early part of the quarter was strictly a punting duel and a testing of line plays with neither club gaining an advantage until midway of the period when McElroy dropped back into punt formation, faked a kick, and raced 42 yards around right end to score. Tommy Phillips placekick for the point failed.

The dueling with punts continued in the second quarter until Lafayette finally started moving and powered to the Neville 25 only to lose the ball on a fumble. Sam Shepard, Tiger end, then got away for 24 yards on an end-around sweep. McElroy passes twice, to Shepard and Stoney Smallwood, to put the ball deep in Lafayette territory, but then the Bengals lost the ball on a fumble and the half ended with the Tigers leading, 6 to 0.

Lafayette took the kickoff opening the second half, was held to a standstill by the fard fighting Tiger line and had to punt out with Phillips returning the kick 15 yards to his own 48. Perry Fisher, who was unable to show anything much in the first half, finally opened up in the second and got away for 16 yards on a reverse through left guard. Fisher took another reverse over center to the Lafayette eleven, but the Lions dug in and held for downs.

But Lafayette had to kick and Phillips ran it back from his 43 to the Lion 48. Shepard got four on an end-around, and Fisher broke away off tackle to the Lion four. McElroy went through right tackle the rest of the way, and Phillips kicked the point that put Neville ahead, 13 to 0.

McElroy kicked off to Lafayette, and the Lions put on a second power drive that carried them to the Tiger 15, but the Bengal forwards rose to the occasion once more to hold Lafayette for downs.

In the fourth quarter Neville started rolling again with McElroy and Jerry Brooks carrying the mail deep into Lion territory, and McElroy circled end for another touchdown, but Phillips failed to convert.

Taking the kickoff again, Lafayette couldn't go and Neville took over on the Tiger 38. A series of line smashed by McElroy and Fisher, and a pass, McElroy to Shepard, put the ball on the Lion 20. Fisher rambled 15 yards after a fake pass, and then Fisher went the remaining five yards for the final touchdown. Phillips' kick for the point was good.

Lafayette gave the Tigers a hard fight but just wasn't able to match the Bengal power. Lang and Ashy were standouts in the Lion backfield, while Riley, tackle, and LeBlanc, guard, played best in the line.

Had the game been played Friday night as scheduled, Neville would have traveled to Baton Rouge today to see the L. S. U.-Mississippi State game. Coach Bill Ruple said Neville supporters had contributed funds to make the trip to Baton Rouge possible, but instead the Tigers were seeing the sights here tonight, quartered at Southwestern Louisiana Institute, and will begin the return trip to Monroe Sunday morning at 8 o'clock.

RIVALS PUT OVER SCORING PUNCHES IN LAST QUARTER

After Listless Start, Contest Winds Up In Slam-Bang 7-7 Deadlock

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Tulane and Florida jerked a bored crowd of 25,000 to its feet in the final quarter of a rousing shoot-'em-up-Tony football tie today, producing a 7-7 finish and one of the better games seen here this year. During the first three quarters the play hinged principally on the kicking of Tulane's Leonard Finley and Florida's Billy Parker. Neither team had noticeable trouble getting deep into the other's backyard, but once there they appeared to lose interest in the situation.

The fourth quarter was a horse of a different garage.

With 10 minutes left in the ball game a Parker kick angeled badly off the side of his foot and Tulane took over on the Gator 25.

A flat pass from Jim Keeton to Cliff Vanmeter carried to the 14. Vanmeter bulled through the line to the nine. The payoff play was a handoff from Keeton to Freshman Halfback Bobby Jones, and End Ed Heider kicked the extra point from placement.

With only two minutes remaining of the game Florida's Halfback Hal Griffin came up with a performance strictly from Hollywood. He took a Finley punt on his own 40 and after cutting sharply toward the sideline, stepped on the gas for a 46-yard trip to Tulane's 14. On the first play from scrimmage Forbes picked up another yard, then Doug Belden hit End Joe Chesser with a touchdown pass. Lazarous Lewis kicked the point.

The game was tied and the fans were fit to be. On several occasions in this heated windup of what began as a listless contest, the players became interested enough to incur unnecessary-roughness penalties.

Standout lineman of the contest was Florida's Tom Bishop, who played a topflight game on both defense and offense and remained in the Tulane secondary so consistently that observers expected him to be invited in for at least one Tulane huddle.

The lineups:

Florida	Pos.	Tulane
Bishop	LE	Partridge
Carver	LT	Franz
Fields	LG	Holm
Hynes	C	Kottemann
Groves	RG	Balen

EASTON GIVES 'AA' CIRCUIT SURPRISE

(By Associated Press)

Bogalusa won, and so did Lake Charles. But the talk in Louisiana double A high school football circles today centered on Warren Easton—and whatever happened to Fortier?

It will have to go down as the biggest surprise of the season so far, Easton's lop-sided 26 to 0 triumph Friday night over previously unbeaten Fortier.

Al Herbet really hooked the Tarpons. He ran 79 and 64 yards for touchdowns, and set up another score with a 56-yard jaunt.

The rain held off until the end of the third period, and by then it was too late to help Fortier.

The weather wasn't so accommodating at Bogalusa, where the home team nipped Istrouma, 12 to 6, in a thriller. The field was so wet that the markers were obliterated, and officials once had to use the linesmen's chain to measure from the goal post so that they could tell whether Bogalusa actually scored a point after touchdown on a running play.

Most of the 7,500 spectators refused to be driven home by the downpour and they had their reward. Al Burr scored the first Bogalusa touchdown on an 82-yard run. Then in the final minute he broke a tie by splashing 61 yards for another touchdown.

Jimmy Roshto, the state's top scorer, accounted for Istrouma's touchdown on a 45-yard sprint.

There was a surprise at Jennings, where Lake Charles proved superior in the mud and scored a 12 to 7 upset. Lake Charles led at half-time, 12 to 0, thanks to touchdown runs of 50 yards by Woods and 20 yards by Watson.

Carol Bojol went 30 yards in the third period for the only Jennings points.

Fair Park topped Baton Rouge, 19 to 6, with Lee Hodges putting on a one-man show.

Sulphur and Bolton wallowed in the mud at Alexandria, and neither could score.

Haynesville went to Magnolia, Ark., and racked up a 14 to 0 victory.

SPORTS ROUND UP

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Maybe this is just starting another of those rumors the Ivy League has been asked to squelch, but does anyone really believe that no athlete at those respected institutions of learning ever gets financial aid outside his own family? . . . It seems hard to believe, though this writer can state only two certain facts on the subject: (1) That not one of the numerous requests for contributions received in 20 years as a Princeton alumnus ever has carried the faintest suggestion of "slush fund." And (2) that a friend in the coaching fraternity has said repeatedly that all the Ivy colleges, including the one at which he served briefly, are "typocritical" on the subject of aid to athletes. . . . The oddity of the anti-whispering campaign is that it made the news the same day that Syracuse's Lew Andreas, usually a very conservative guy, was quoted as urging alumni to set up a few scholarships for studious athletes in order to meet competition in Syracuse's own non-Ivy circles.

A Big, Happy Family

If you want to know what it takes to get a heavyweight champion into shape, here's Joe Louis' training camp staff at Pompton Lakes: Manager, Marshall Miles, Buffalo; trainers, Manny Seamon and George Nicholson, New York, Freddie Wilson, Pittsburgh; chef, Bill Bottoms, Chicago; assistants, Elbert King, Detroit, Bob Greer, Buffalo; sparring partners, Jimmy Bell, Washington, Bob Garner, Louisville, George Fitch, New Haven, John Thomas, Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; bodyguard, George Weber, New York; secretary, Radford Morris, Detroit; doctor, Clarence Hogans, New York.

When Connecticut sports writers proposed that today's tussle between Wesleyan and Trinity, both undefeated and untied, should be shifted from Trinity field (capacity 7,500) to Yale bowl (capacity 70,000), Prexy G. Keith Funston replied: 'Frogs should stay in their own puddles. They would look funny at the sea shore and might learn to like salt water." . . . Michigan and Wisconsin go into today's battle of the Rose Bowl candidates with averages of 27.7 and 28.5 points per game, respectively. . . . Small Montana, former flyweight champion, put in another claim for the title almost as soon as he stepped off the boat after serving in the army and then as a seaman aboard a transport. He maintains: "I am the only active flyweight champion capable of successfully defending the title at the weight."

Jersey City, once a big-time fight center, is experimenting with Saturday night boxing shows in a huge armory. . . . Sluffy Stirnweiss, Yankee second baseman, took a workout with the football Yankees the other day. It's a safe bet that Manager Bucky Harris wasn't in the stands.

SQUIRREL TAILS PAYOFF FOR JONESVILLE'S BOYS

JONESVILLE, La., Nov. 15.—(Special)—Collecting squirrel tails may be a little off the beam for baseball players but the Jonesville Baby Lions have a very satisfactory explanation.

They point with pride to the $107.77 which 1,329 squirrel tails have netted them and which will apply on the $400 they plan to raise before next summer to purchase uniforms, shoes and other equipment. The Baby Lions have a bank balance of $207.77 at the present and plan to be completely independent of outside help when the 1948 season rolls around.

Because most of the squirrels in Catahoula parish have been destroyed, Coach Frank Schneider now plans to contact every squirrel hunter in Catahoula, Concordia and LaSalle parishes before the Concordia squirrel season opens December 1. He hopes the Lions will be able to benefit from nearly 3,000 more squirrel tails during the open season in Concordia.

In addition to the squirrel tails, which the Lions sell to a novelty company, deer hides will be sought by the kid team which will get from $1.50 to $3 per hide.

MUSTANGS FIND PORKERS TOUGH BUT WIN, 14 TO 6

Johnson's Passing, Walker's Running Pull S. M. U. Past Arkansas

By Harold V. Ratliff

DALLAS, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Southern Methodist's Mustangs rolled on among the nation's undefeated, untied teams, just two games short of the Southwest Conference championship, today as the Methodists beat stubborn Arkansas 14-6 in a battle that gave a crowd of 23,000 many anxious moments.

It was not until 56 1/2 minutes of the contest were gone that S. M. U. was safely past the rugged hurdle.

Penalties hurt Arkansas badly and at the game's close hundreds of fans flooded the field.

The passing of Gil Johnson and the running of Doak Walker pulled Southern Methodist by the double-tough Razorbacks today. The Methodists had to come from behind to get the victory.

Arkansas stunned homecoming fans with a touchdown late in the first period. The score came after S. M. U. had failed on a first down on a fourth-down fumble by Ed Green when he was back to punt. Green picked up the ball and tried to run but lacked a foot of the first down. The ball went to Arkansas on the S. M. U. 37 and Scott and Leon Campbell alternated in driving to the touchdown. Campbell made it from the 17

MICHIGAN ROUTS WISCONSIN, 40-6, TO CLINCH TITLE

Victory Sews Up Big Nine Crown And Rose Bowl For Wolverines

By Jerry Liska

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 15.—(AP)—Michigan's Wolverines clinched the Big Nine title and a Rose Bowl trip today with a crushing 40-6 triumph over a stunned Wisconsin eleven in a sleet-swept battle at Camp Randall Stadium today.

The Wolverines, who tossed all of their intricate attack against Wisconsin despite a soggy field and a miniature blizzard, scored two touchdowns against the outclassed Badgers in the opening period and then coasted to an easy victory.

The triumph almost assured Coach Fritz Crisler of his first perfect season in 10 Wolverine years with only down-trodden Ohio State remaining to face in the regular schedule.

Michigan scored in every period, adding one touchdown each in the second and third quarters and two in the final stanza.

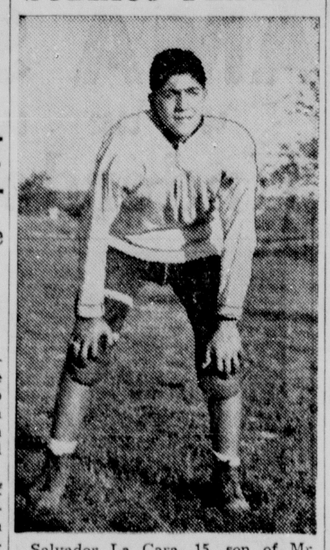

Wisconsin struck for its only touchdown in the second period when Reserve Halfback Jim Embach smashed across from the six yard line.

Halfback Bob Chappuis, Michigan's outstanding candidate for All-America laurels, was the king-pin in the Wolverines' crushing triumph. He uncorked three touchdown passes, two of them surprise short flips to Quarterback Howard Yerges, who previously had caught only one scoring toss, and another to End Dick Rifenburg.

Besides Michigan's three aerial scoring thrusts, the Wolverines also tallied on a brilliant 77 yard punt return by Gene Derricotte, a 22 yard run by Fullback Jack Weisenburger and a two-yard smash by Reserve Fullback Tom Peterson.

The average person can save at least 10 minutes on the time involved to make three beds. Make one side completely, mitering corners, then walk around the bed to make the other side, the labor saving method used for hospital beds.

ACKERMAN HIGH SIGNS TO PLAY IN MAGNOLIA BOWL

MERIDIAN, Miss., Nov. 15.—(AP)—Howard Cameron of Meridian, general chairman of the Magnolia Bowl committee, announced today that Ackerman High School, which won the Choctaw Conference championship, has been selected to play in the Magnolia Bowl game in Meridian on Friday night, December 5.

Dale Davidson, Ackerman school superintendent and head coach, accepted the invitation.

Ackerman has ended a perfect season of nine games played and nine won. Its tenth game with Eupora, scheduled for last night, was cancelled because of rain. Ackerman has a season total of 336 points against 39 for its opponents.

The other team for the post-season bowl game which is expected to draw a crowd in excess of 10,000 has not yet been selected.

Ackerman, coached by Davidson and his assistant, Bill Griffin, uses the "T" formation and stresses speed and deception in its powerful attack.

PRO BEARS SEEK 6TH WIN IN ROW IN RAM CONTEST

Cardinals Play Green Bay Today; Pitt Host To New York

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 15.—(Special)—Possessing the longest winning streak of any team in the league, five straight victories, the Chicago Bears will meet the Los Angeles Rams Sunday in the Coliseum on the coast, in one of a quintet of National Football League games.

Other games listed for both divisions include Washington at Detroit, Boston at Philadelphia, New York at Pittsburgh, and Green Bay vs. Chicago Cardinals in the Windy City.

Defeated in its first two games by Green Bay and the Chicago Cardinals the Bears rebounded and in succession have scored triumphs over Philadelphia, Detroit, Washington, Boston, and Green Bay. As a result of its victory string the Bears are only one game behind the Cardinals, pacesetters of the Western division.

Sid Luckman's great passing and an alert, hard-hitting defense have been the main factors in the Bears' upward surge to a position of being regarded as a potential repeat winner in its division.

Los Angeles, riddled by injuries that kept its best ball carrier, Kenny Washington, out of the lineup last week, hopes to end its three game losing streak at the expense of the champions.

Another Western division game that is drawing major attention will be played between the Cardinals and Green Bay. The first named, with only one defeat in seven games, has been playing great ball despite the fact that one of its aces, Charles Trippi, has been unable to play in the last two games.

Green Bay, notwithstanding its two recent reverses, is still regarded as one of the strongest teams in the league. Six of its backs, Jack Jacobs, Nolan Luhn, Bob Forte, Ward Cuff, Ted Fritsch, and Irv Comp, rank high in the statistical chart in their respective specialties while its line has been outstanding all season.

Washington, with the inimitable Sammy Baugh in the passing position, and Detroit, with Clyde LeForce and its other agile backs, will meet in the automobile city. The Lions may have Bill Dudley, inactive last week with an ankle injury, back in the lineup for the game with the Redskins.

Hampered by pre-season injuries and changes in personnel Boston, which gave the Bears a real scare only to lose, 28 to 24, and defeated Los Angeles in one of the major upsets of the season, will meet the Philadelphia Eagles in Shibe Park. The Yanks have one of the best passing combinations in the league in Frank Dancewicz and Don Currivan, as was evidenced last week when it scored two touchdowns.

The Eagles, with such brilliants as Steve Van Buren, Tommy Thompson, Bosh Pritchard, and Pete Pihos, are only a half game back of Pittsburgh in the race for Eastern division honors and need a victory over Boston to continue as the challenger to the Steelers' quest for the title.

Pittsburgh will entertain New York in a game that will match Jock Sutherland's single and double wing running attack against Steve Owens' passing attack featuring Paul Governali. The former Columbia ace gave the greatest exhibition of his league career last week when he tossed 16 successful passes for 341 yards, the third best passing performance by an individual this season. Baugh, with 364 and Luckman with 342 rate the top positions.

The series records show New York ahead of Philadelphia, 17 to 6 with one tie; Washington leading Detroit six to nothing; Philadelphia with four to nothing for Boston; the Bears one victory and one tie with Los Angeles, and Green Bay ahead of the Chicago Cardinals, 29 to 14 with 3 ties.

ALABAMA SPRINGS UPSET ON GEORGIA TECH

GILMER PASSES CRUSH FAVORED ENGINEERS, 14-7

Awed Crowd Of 35,000 Watch Yellow Jackets Take First Defeat

By Chick Hosch

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 15.—(AP)—Alabama bounced Georgia Tech from the list of nation's perfect-record teams today, 14-7, as Harry Gilmer turned in one of his brighter pitching performances.

Harry Gilmer

A crowd of 35,000 watched in awe as Gilmer passed the favored Yellow Jackets dizzy in the first half, when he completed seven of eight tosses. He had five straight without a miss to carry the Tide 57 yards of a first-period, 6 9-yard scoring drive. After scoring the first touchdown himself on a plunge, he threw two more passes to End Rebel Steiner in the second period, the final for six yards and a tally to climax a 22-yard scoring movement. He completed 11 of 13 passes for the day.

Georgia Tech, seeking its eighth straight victory, rallied in the second half with two freshmen backs, Bob McCoy and Red Patton. Carrying the offensive brunt. After repulsing the Tide twice in the shadow of the goal, the Jackets drove 85 yards to a score with McCoy going over from three yards out.

Allen Bowen converted to keep alive Tech's chances for a tie.

With 12 minutes remaining after their drive, the Jackets roared 58 yards to the Tide 36 in a final, desperate offensive, but lost the ball there on downs.

After Tech punched out two first downs to midfield with the opening kickoff, the teams exchanged punts and then Gilmer unlimbered his pitching arm. He passed four yards to Bill Cadenhead, 17 to Rebel Steiner, nine to Hugh Morrow, 22 to Cadenhead and eight to Jim Cain. The last went to the Tech five. A penalty put it on the one, and Gilmer knifed over. Morrow, placement expert for the Tide, converted.

A break in the second period gave the Tide the ball on the Tech 22 when Mike Cassidy recovered Dinky Bowen's fumble on a punt return. Gilmer threw to Steiner for 13 yards and, on fourth down, Gilmer passed six yards to Steiner in the end zone. Morrow's placement made it 14-0 at half time.

The Jackets tried an off-sides kick in the third but the maneuver backfired. Tech was penalized 15 yards and Alabama was given the ball on the Tech 40 after it appeared Tech had successfully executed the tricky kick at the Alabama 45.

The Tide, with Gilmer passing twice—the final one for 25 yards to Steiner at the Tech two—was thrown back and Billy Williams punted out. The Tide surged back 37 yards to the Tech three, but again the Jackets held for downs.

The lineups:

Georgia-Tech	Pos.	Alabama
R. Jordan	LE	Steiner
Slaten	LT	Whitley
Pope	LG	Wozniak
Smith	C	Mancha
Healey	RG	Richeson
Davis	RT	Flowers
Brodnax	RE	Cain
Still	QB	O'Sullivan
Petit	LH	Gilmer
McCoy	RH	Cadenhead
A. Bowen	FB	Tew

Score by quarters:

Georgia Tech	0	0	0	7	—7
Alabama	7	7	0	0	—14

Georgia Tech scoring: Touchdowns—McCoy. Points after touchdown—A. Bowen (placement).

Alabama scoring: Touchdowns—Gilmer, Steiner. Points after touchdown—Morrow 2 (sub for O'Sullivan)

Georgia Tech substitutions—Ends—Castleberry; Tackles—Coleman, Bradach; Guards—McKiney, Phillips; Centers—Hook, Frizzell, Bossons, Doyal; Backs—Williams, Queen, Harrison, Southard, Brown, Patton, Jordan.

Alabama substitutions: Ends—Hood, White; Tackles—Cassidy; Guards—Fortunato, Franko; Centers—Chapman; Backs—Hodges, Mosley, Oonan, Morrow, August, Cochran, Abston.

The victory, Alabama's fifth in a row after two early season losses, left the Tide in the front row of the Bowl picture, and while hurting Tech's chances, also left the Jackets very much in the running.

However, Tech's chances of winning the Southeastern Conference championship were considerably reduced and knocked them off the top run, leaving Mississippi on top and in position to clinch the pennant.

BLOCK'S BRUINS CRUSH WISNER BULLDOGS, 52-9

WISNER, La., Nov. 15.—(Special)—A patched Block High School football team displayed its most efficient gridiron prowess of the year Thursday night as the Bears ran roughshod over the Wisner Bulldogs, 52-9, on the Wisner field.

Without a single backfield substitue on the bench, the Bears' line played a stellar game in providing protection for Colin Crawford, ace tailback, and the rest of the ballcarriers. Crawford accounted for 43 of his team's points, scoring seven touchdowns and one extra point in some of the niftiest broken field running seen in north Louisiana grid circles this season.

Jim Wilson, Block halfback, intercepted a Wisner pass in the third quarter and raced 25 yards for the other Block six-pointer. Ted Collins, Howard (Monk) Tarpley, and Dudley walker scored the other extra points. Tarpley and Walker scored on passes from Crawford.

Dennis Furr, Wisner halfback, broke loose for a 55-yard run in the second quarter to score the Bulldogs' only touchdown.

Both teams are first-year aggregations.

DEMONS DEFEAT CENTENARY, 22-7, AT HOMECOMING

Northwestern Comes From Behind In Last Half To Subdue Gents

NATCHITOCHES, La., Nov. 15.—(AP)—Northwestern State College Demons won their annual "N" club homecoming classic here today by downing the Centenary College Gentlemen, of Shreveport, 22 to 7 before a crowd of 4500 fans.

The Demons struck on the first play following the opening kickoff by Centenary when Bobby Johnson, halfback, skirted right end and raced 75 yards for the marker. Dave White's kick for extra point was wide.

Centenary came back late in the first frame to score on a 22 yard pass from Bartlett, quarterback, to Sclifo, halfback. Barlow, fullback, kicked the extra point to send Gents ahead. Neither team scored in the second quarter.

With Centenary leading at the opening of the second half, the Demons came back to forge ahead when Don Purser, fullback, plunged through the line and sidestepped his way for 33 yards. White's kick for the extra point again was wide.

The Demons scored a field goal early in the third quarter when Dave White kicked the oval from the Gents' seven yard stripe, after Nicosia, Demon quarterback, intercepted a Centenary pass on their 47 yard line and raced to the Gents' 35 yard stripe. A 20 yard pass, Johnson, halfback to Poole end, put the pigskin on the 15 yard stripe where the Gents held.

The Demons' score came midway of the last quarter with Jackson carrying over from the one yard line after Lan Caster, tailback, set up the score of an intercepted pass, racing 28 yards to the Gents' seven yard line.

CATS OUTSCORE NOTRE DAME IN FINAL QUARTER

South Benders Almost Have Myth Of Invincibility Exploded

By Charles Chamberlain

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 15.—(AP)—The dogged, mud-splashed Northwestern Wildcats, humiliated by five defeats in seven earlier starts, almost made a myth of Notre Dame's football invincibility today, but the desperate Fighting Irish shook off the surprise for a 26 to 19 victory, their seventh in a row.

Playing on a soggy field in a drizzle, the Wildcats marched 81 yards for one touchdown, turned a pass interception into another, and then sent a sellout throng of 48,000 to their feet in the last quarter when third-string Pewee Day filched Frank Tripucka's aerial and pranced 18 yards for a third marker.

Northwestern fumbled the ball seven times, and lost it on four occasions. Two of the bobbles were recovered by the great Notre Dame tackle, George Connor, at opportune times.

The Irish passed to three touchdown and drove 60 yards on the ground for the fourth. Only twice did they fumble away the slick ball, and lost it once. That time came late in the final period when Terry Brennan let it escape from him on the three yard line after the Irish had marched 50 yards. End Stan Gorski pounced on it to end the threat.

Four players scored for Notre Dame as the Irish rolled up a 20-6 halftime margin.

At the outset of the first quarter Fullback John Panelli and Brennan combined for the 60-yard parade along the ground, with Panelli brushing five yards around end for the touchdown. Center Bill Walsh then recovered Tom Worthington's bobble on the Northwestern 18, and Johnny Lujack, after failing on a series of passes, hit Brennan on a fourth down aerial for another score.

In the final minutes of the opening period, Art Murakowski stole Lujack's pass and raced 22 yards to the Irish 20. On the first play of the second stanza, Don Burson passed 13 yards to Don Stonesifer, and Ed Tunnicliff finally punched over for a wildcat touchdown from the one yard line on last down.

Midway in the quarter, Lujack's understudy, Tripucka, pitched 38 yards to reserve Halfback Lancaster Smith to give the Irish their halftime advantage.

After holding Notre Dame for downs on the 19, Burson hit End Joe Zuravleff and Fullback Art Murakowski with four passes for a total of 52 yards in a scoring march topped by Burson's seven yard toss to Frank Ashenbrenner.

Notre Dame then pushed 56 yards in ten rushing plays featuring Mike Swistowicz only to be checked on the seven.

Entering the final period with a 20-12 lead, Lujack uncorked a 13 yard pass to Brennan and finally reached End Leon Hart on a seven yard, fourth-down scoring pass to cap a 36 yard push.

Then came Pewee Day's scoring interception. With five minutes to play, Northwestern punted out of bounds on the 12. Two line plays failed to gain for the Irish, and Tripucka faded back to the five and uncoiled a long pass. Day took it on the run and sprinted over.

In all, Tripucka and Lujack connected on seven out of 15 passes for a gain of 126 yards. Northwestern compensated for poor rushing yardage by alertly waiting for the breaks, hit on seven of 11 tosses for 83 yards. Only 20 points had been scored against Notre Dame in its previous triumphs—single touchdowns by Pitt, Purdue and Army. Northwestern's 19 point total today nearly matched the entire production of Notre Dame's six other foes.

The lineups:

Notre Dame	Pos.	Northwestern
Martin	LE	Gorski
Connor	LT	Ford
Fischer	LG	Nemeth
Walsh	C	Price
Wendell	RG	Day
Czarobski	RT	Barkal

DELHI BEARS TROUNCE OAK GROVE TIGERS, 16-6

DELHI, La., Nov. 15.—(Special)—Outweighed 20 pounds per man in the line and an overall average of 17, the Delhi High School Bears managed to notch another victory in a rough and bruising game at Oak Grove Thursday night. The little Bruins subdued the Tigers, 16 to 6.

Delhi scored late in the opening period on the strength of a blocked punt by Tackle George Mangum. The punt was caught by End Lonnie Copes who scampered five yards to score. Bryan's drop kick for the point was good.

The Bears tallied again a few minutes later on a five-yard line plunge by C. W. Coleman. Bryan again drop kicked perfectly for the extra point.

Shortly after the second Bruin touchdown, Penny Bryan, Delhi fullback got off a 59 yard punt which rolled dead on the Oak Grove one. An Oak Grove back, trying to run the ball out from behind his own goal, was tackled in pay dirt by End Bobby Burnley to give the Bears a safety.

The third quarter was chiefly a battle between the 20-yard stripes with both teams receiving several penalties as line play got rougher.

JONESVILLE GRID FANS GET QUARTERBACK CLUB

JONESVILLE, La., Nov. 15—(Special)—Formation of a Quarterback Club in Jonesville to help boost the Block Bears and to sponsor a post-season charity football tilt was being discussed this week by interested citizens.

The Quarterback Club would replace the Jonesville Athletic Association which raised funds to equip the Block High team this season, which was the first time the Jonesville school had fielded a grid aggregation in ten years. Henry Taliaferro is secretary-treasurer of the present association and is one of the supporters of the Quarterback Club move.

At the present time, plans would entail a membership fee and small monthly dues. Monthly showing of football films, talks by various coaches, sponsorship of awards, etc., would be benefits and work of the organization.

"Such an organization would give all interested in football an opportunity to get together and discuss problems affecting the Jonesville team and enjoy social outings," one spokesman said. "Of necessity, the Jonesville Athletic association was merely a fund-raising proposition and only those able to contribute to equipping the team were listed as members."

Talk has begun in regards to a post season game in mid-December between the Bears and a squad composed of old grads, and other former football players throughout Catahoula parish. Funds would go toward helping needy children and families the coming Christmas.

FOX AFTER LESNEVICH AGAIN AFTER STOPPING LAMOTTA FRIDAY NIGHT

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Black-Billy Fox wants another shot at Light Heavyweight Champion Gus Lesnevich and Jake Lamotta says he's going to stick to the middleweights from now on.

The fighters made their decisions simultaneously in Madison Square Garden last night shortly after Fox stopped the Bronx bull in 2:26 of the fourth round of their slated ten.

A roaring, capacity crowd of 18,340 was lured by the records of a puncher with a sensational knockout string and a rough, bruising mauler who had never before been stopped.

It was the first time Lamotta ever failed to go the route. It was ruled a technical knockout, but when Referee Frank Fullam stepped between the two fighters, Lamotta was staggering helplessly under Fox's hammering. It was Fox's fight from the start.

Lamotta bored in, in his usual style but his body punches didn't faze the solid, straight-punching 21 year old Philly Negro.

In becoming the first fighter ever to stop Lamotta, Fox kept his own unique record alive.

78,000 CHILLED CUSTOMERS SEE MIGHTY BATTLE

Both Teams Score In 2nd Quarter; Quakers Threaten As Game Ends

By Gayle Talbot

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Army, rebounding from last week's battering by Notre Dame, dumped mighty Pennsylvania from the ranks of the nation's undefeated, untied elevens today by battling the Quakers to a 7 to 7 deadlock at Franklin Field.

A chilled crowd of 78,000 saw the two eastern powers each grind out a long scoring drive in the second quarter, and then settle back to hold each other in check throughout the last half. At the finish, Penn was pressing the Cadets but Coach George Munger's big pupils couldn't put across the touchdown that would have kept their victory string intact at eight straight.

Army, still almost totally devoid of a passing attack, scored first early in the second period at the end of a bruising 78-yard march through the Penn defense. Bob Stuart cracked over from the 10-yard line, and Joe Steffy booted the extra point to put the Cadets in front 7-0.

Penn, aroused at being behind for the first time this year, took the ensuing kick-off and tore 67 yards to its score in ten plays, mostly on a passing game which left Army's secondary defenders baffled.

After a succession of bullet throws by Tony Minisi and Bob Evans had propelled the ball to the three-yard line, Ray Dooney, a relief back, smashed it across. Ed Lawless converted to make it 7-7, and they might just as well have quit right there.

Not again did either team seriously threaten. Army had shot its wad and only once in the second half reached mid-field. Penn did a little better, but not much. Twice in the final period the Quakers, who had looked forward avidly to gaining revenge on Army for some bad beatings absorbed during the war, bulled their way down to the Cadets' 30, but there they spluttered out.

The lineups:

Army	Pos.	Penn
Rawers	LE	Littleton
Davis	LT	Savitsky
Steffy	LG	Tokarczyk
Yeoman	C	Bednarik
Henry	RG	Schweder
Bryant	RT	Marshall
Trent	RE	McCarthy
Califfa	QB	Falcone
Vinson	LH	Schneider
Shelley	RH	Minisi
Mackmull	FB	Luongo

Score by quarters:

Army	0	7	0	0—7
Penn	0	7	0	0—7

Army scoring: Touchdown—Stuart (for Vinson). Point after touchdown—Steffy (placement).

Penn scoring: Touchdown—Dooney (for Luongo). Point after touchdown—Lawless (for Falcone) (placement).

Substitutions:

Army—Ends: Kellum, Parrish, Kuyic; Tackles: Galloway, McDaniel; Guards: Barnes, Lunn; Centers: Bullock, Livesay; Backs: Dielens, Gabriel, Stuart, Gustafson, Scott, Macmull, Cosentino.

Penn—Ends: Dristaglio, Helman, Sponaugle, Wettelaufer; Tackles: DeTorre, Reichenbach, Conway; Guards: Farnham, Adams; Backs: Lawless, Talarico, Quinn, Deuber, Evans, Krichling, Jones, Sica, Dooney.

DIXIE BOWL BUILDS TOWARD PRESTIGE AS MAJOR CLASSIC

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 15.—(Special)—The three-cent stamp is as good a means of getting acquainted as any and, with thought in mind, officials of the Dixie Bowl have been doing a land office business with the local post office.

The glue-backed, purple bits of paper have covered quite a bit of territory bringing college head coaches and athletic directors in all parts of the country an introduction to the Birmingham New Year's Day promotion.

"Feelers" have been put forth to Georgia Tech, Alabama, L. S. U., Mississippi State, Ole Miss, William and Mary, Southern Methodist, Texas, Virginia, Penn State, Duke, Maryland, Villanova, Boston College, Texas Christian, etc.

And, according to Holt Rast, former Crimson Tide All-American end serving as chairman of the Dixie Bowl committee, a negative reply is yet to be received.

No wonder! For, the financial guarantee offered by the newest of the south's winter sports spectacles is the kind that rings the "gimme" bell every time. From a money standpoint, the Dixie Bowl is already in the major leagues.

From week to week, non-professional emissaries of the Magic City game have been covering the nation's grid setup like the proverbial blanket seeking a solution to the problem of who will play whom come January 1. Reports on more than 60 games have already been filed, giving authorities a pretty good idea of the power and color offered by most of America's topflight elevens.

More than 40,000 spectators—absolute capacity—will jam Legion Field for the first annual Dixie Bowl classic. They have every right to expect a standout football game. And, they're going to get it!

Never wash eggs before putting them away in the refrigerator. They are coated with a protective film that helps keep them fresh.

To turn out bacon that is crisp and flat bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 10 minutes or until sufficiently browned.

Leo Savage Billed To Appear On Tag Team Wrestling Card Here Tuesday

'Whiskers' To Team With Craig Against Clements And Ortiz

Leo Daniel Boone Savage, the bearded wrestling giant from the Kentucky backwoods, makes one of his rare appearances in Monroe Tuesday night when he appears in a tag team struggle with George Craig, Ray "Cowboy" Clements, and Chico Ortiz at Gus Kallio's Arena, it was announced last night.

Savage, the bear-hug specialist, has never before appeared in a tag match here, and Promoter Kallio is promising one of his best mat exhibitions of the season with the ring giant teams with Craig, Louisiana state light heavyweight champion, against the combined talents of Clements, the tough ex-cowboy from Texas, and Ortiz, the roly poly Hawaiian.

"Whiskers," as Savage is often called, is something of a villian himself, and his pairing with Craig, usually a clean, scientific wrestler, doesn't mean Leo will follow the Tulsa tussler's pattern of action.

In fact, Craig may need a little rough work in his own corner since Clements and Ortiz are well known disciples of the more brutal forms of wrestling.

The tag scramble will have a time limit of 90 minutes with two falls to win.

There will be one 15-minute time limit match preceding the featured event.

Craig and Clements make their introductory bows in the opener at 8 o'clock while Savage and Ortiz wait until the main event to make their appearance before the customers.

BID FOR NATIONAL RACES MADE HERE

Monroe Miniature Auto Enthusiasts Want A. M. R. C. A. Event

On the heels of their success with the second annual miniature automobile races here Armistic Day, the Monroe Power Model Club has made a bid for the American Miniature Race Car Association's Nationals, it was learned yesterday.

Racers from throughout the south and midwest attended the meet here last Tuesday and acclaimed the track at Bernstein Park Hobby Center "the best" in the nation. However, the little cars fell just short of setting new world's records in both the spur gear and proto type classes, the high humidity following a heavy rain being blamed for the failure of the little engines to respond with greater speeds.

Glenn Matthews, president of the A. M. R. C. A., and Dock Fleener, George Coffield, John Crossan and others of the visiting delegation, who have visited tracks all over the country, acclaimed the track here the "fastest we've ever run over."

"With this in mind," said a letter sent by the club to Ed Fitzgerald, New York City, in bidding for the National races, "Please accept this letter as our bid for the Nationals to be run in Monroe, Louisiana.

"If the National site is awarded to the Monroe club, we will assure all the A. M. R. C. A. members attending that it will be one of the finest, well arranged and programed meets ever attended.

"Our main purpose for bidding for the National is that it has been proven to us that this track is the finest because hobbists are looking for the best track, and we know we have it. If anyone is in doubt as to the speeds and condition, he may feel free to write any one of the contestants that ran at our second annual November classic."

The local club, catering to miniature autos, airplanes, and speedboats, has also extended appreciation to the Monroe Recreation department, radio station KNOE, News-Star—World, and W. J. Riley Supply Company for their assistance in making their event last Tuesday a success, and to members of the aircraft division of the club, Bobby Clay, Joe Elioff, and Jack Combs for their help at the meet.

The model plane group will visit in Shreveport today for a meet with the Shreveport model airplane club, and the local miniature auto bugs expect to be out at Bernstein Hobby Center for trial runs this afternoon if weather is favorable.

OIL FIELD OPENED 10 MILES IN GULF

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Kerr-McGee Oil Industries, Inc., announced today it has proved commercial production at an "island" located ten miles off Point Au Fer, Terrebonne parish, La., in the Gulf of Mexico.

The Kerr-McGee No. 1 well on block 32 of 20,000 acres of Louisiana state-owned lands, flowed 30 to 40 barrels of oil an hour on an 8-hour test ended this morning. The well showed very little gas.

Production is from a Miocene sand, with pipe perforated at 1,734-50 feet.

This wildcat producer proves 5,000 acres of the company's block, which joins another 20,000 acre block on which a 12,000 foot test has started. Phillips Petroleum Co., owns a half-interest in the two blocks, and Stanolind a three-eighth interest.

To handle the operation, the company constructed a huge steel platform for drilling, with a steel work barge and "a floating lease camp and supply house."

COMMITTEE SIFTS THROUGH TALENT FOR INDIANS' FOE

'Announcement By Monday' Expected; Redskins Are Idle This Week

An opponent for Northeast Junior College of L. S. U. in the first annual Monroe Lions Club Bowl game here December 12 is expected to be determined by tomorrow, it was reported yesterday.

Ralph Marionneaux, chairman of the team selection committee for the first post season college football game in Monroe, said last night the committee had sifted through favorable teams and expected to "have an announcement by Monday."

"The committee has checked over available teams with good records, trying to find the best possible team that can be secured," Marionneaux said.

"But right now we can't say definitely what team will appear here against N. J. C. although we expect to have an announcement by Monday regarding the selection."

Coach James L. Malone's N. J. C. Indians, enjoying one of their best seasons since before the war, were nominated to appear as the host team earlier in the week, and Dean Rodney C. Cline signed the document that officially made the Redskins a party to the game which is being sponsored by the Lions Club as a charitable venture.

Among teams known to be under consideration for the other half of the junior college bowl picture are Tyler Junior College, Jones Junior College, San Angelo Junior College, Hillsboro Junior College, and Hinds. However, some of these schools are facing possible state playoffs that might keep them from coming although they might like to, and all have established good records this year. Any one of the group would give N. J. C. plenty of football, and the Tribe has shown itself quite capable of a good brand of ball this year.

N. J. C. idle the past week, also Great Lakes Navy disbanded its team and cancelled a game scheduled for this week. The loss of Great Lakes from the schedule leaves the Indians with only Alabama State College of Livingston for a last regularly scheduled game here Thanksgiving Day.

PELICANS INVADE LAKE PROVIDENCE

Postponed Game Transferred From Monroe To Panthers' Grid

Heavy rains Friday gave the Louisiana Training Institute Pelicans a reprieve, but the little Pels will go to Lake Providence tomorrow to get their game with the Panthers over win. The Class B contest was scheduled to be played here Friday afternoon, but was postponed because of rain and transferred to Lake Providence.

Coaches Willis Tarver and Andy Kosmac have a battling little team at L. T. I. but this isn't supposed to be the Pels' day to win despite the fact that they have been having their best season in six years. Lake Providence, undefeated in district Class B, is highly favored to add the L. T. I. scalp to its list of victims, and the only obstacle in the Panthers' path toward the district title is apparently the Tallulah Trojans.

The Panthers have rolled up 200 points defeating six Class B rivals this year while giving up only 25 points. Their only loss, in the first game of the season, was to St. Aloysius of Vicksburg, 26-14.

L. T. I., in addition to having a light and inexperienced first team weakened as the season progressed by regular players leaving the institution, is woefully weak on reserves On the other hand, Lake Providence will be able to field at least two good teams, and have two sets of backs, one of which has scored about as many points this year as the other.

Probable lineups:

Lake Providence	Pos.	L. T. I.
J Brown	LE	Mitchell
Chandler	LT	Peelman
Newman	LG	Marcel
B. Brown	C	Lott
Thames	RG	Jones
Anglin	RT	Dunn
Chaney	RE	Blanchard

The Ouachita Parish Grammar School football team climbed to the head of the Grammar School Football League here last night, defeating Sherrouse 33 to 7, while Barkdull Faulk dropped from the top spot under a 21-16 defeat by Georgia Tucker.

McClanahan intercepted a pass to run for one Ouachita touchdown, Temples hit pay dirt twice, and Takewell scored two times for Ouachita, Temples also added one extra point, and Takewell two. Causey scored Sherrouse's first touchdown of the season through the line .

Georgia Tucker scored in the first three quarters and held Barkdull Faulk to two touchdowns and a safety in the last half to win. Broughton, with two touchdowns and two extra points, and Reynolds, with one TD and one conversion, led Georgia Tucker to victory. Barkdull Faulk touchdowns were scored by Gabe Fontana on an end-around in the third quarter, and Dizzy Keever in the fourth period. Also in the last quarter, Keever got credit for a safety when he tackled Broughton in the Georgia Tucker endzone.

The lineups:

Ouachita—Gates and Chaplin, ends; Trichel and Larsen, tackles; Deal and Walpole, guards; Clawson, center; McClanahan, quarterback; Temples and Takewell, halfbacks; and Cowan, fullback.

NAVY STUMBLES BEFORE NITANNY BY 20-7 MARGIN

Penn State Remains Only Unbeaten Major Eleven In East

By John Chandler

BALTIMORE, Nov. 15.—(AP)—The Nittany Lions of Penn State crushed Navy 20-7 in the rain, mud and cold today, proving without any doubt their rating among the nation's top elevens as they remained the only undefeated, untied major football club in the east.

With the line battling Mary's powerful forward wall on better than even terms, Penn State displayed a brilliant offensive considering the sticky going and scored in all but the final quarter. Navy knotted the count 7-all once in the second quarter.

The perfectly executed reverse plays, both engineered by Fullback Joe Colone to Halfback Jeff Durkota, who galloped 48 and 42 yards for touchdowns, provided the victory margin. Bobby Williams tallied the third marker from the one yard line after Larry Joe set it up with a 60 yard dash.

Penn State suddenly struck from midfield in the first quarter.

Durkota took the ball from Colone, and swept his own right flank down the sidelines behind expert blocking 48 yards to Navy's goal.

The second period hardly started before Navy was back in the game, with Henry Arnold's quick kick putting State in a hole on its 12. Colone, a brilliant kicker all day, booted to midfield where Bob Schwoefferman returned to State's 46.

On the first play, Quarterback Bob Horne faded back, fired a pass to Al McCully who grabbed it on the 40 and ran all the way.

But the deadlock was short lived. The Lions came right back after the next kickoff to go ahead for keeps. Joe took a handoff from Colone on his 28, sliced off his left tackle and shook clear. Navy's Bill Hawkins finally hauled him down from behind on Navy's 13. Williams then carried the ball seven straight times, finally going across from the one.

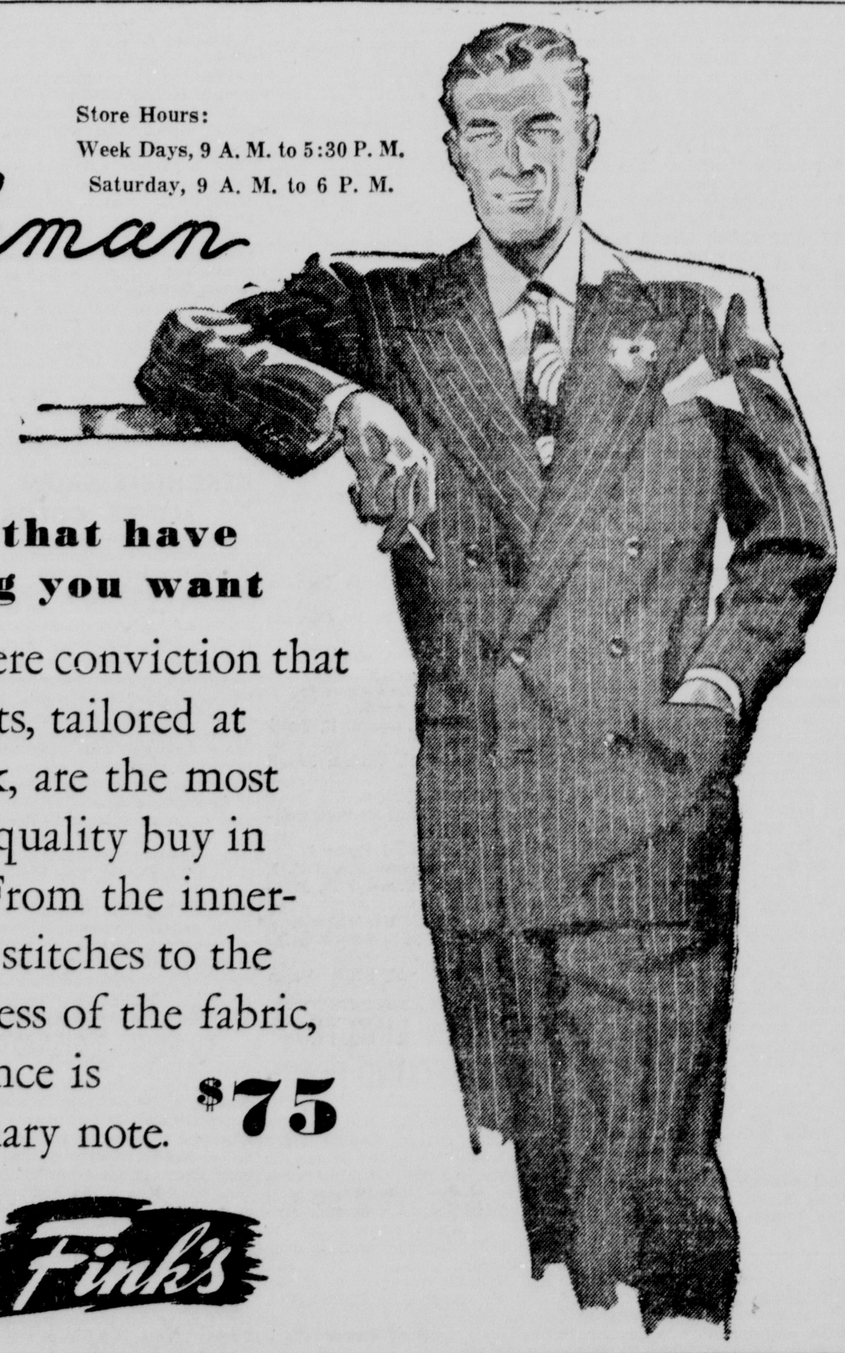

Penn State, keeping play entirely in Navy territory in the third period, got an insurance touchdown on Durkota's 42-yard gallop.

Conerly Sets New Collegiate Passing Record With 20 Completions

By Bob Dunne

OXFORD, Miss., Nov. 15.—(AP)—Mississippi's Charlie Conerly set a new collegiate record for pass completions today as he and his teammates mopped up little University of Chattanooga 52 to 0.

Out of 32 tries, Conerly successfully sent 20 aerials into the hands of his receivers to bring his season's total to 120—the highest number of, completions in one season in collegiate history.

Chunkin' Charley's tosses smashed the previous pass completion record of 114 set by Wilson (Bud) Schwenk of Washington University, St. Louis, in 1941. And Ole Miss still has one game to play.

Mississippi Coach Johnny Vaught pulled Conerly from the lopsided game at the half after he had established the new mark, passed for two touchdowns and run for another. The nation's passing king collected 159 yards through the clouds and a total of 83 on the ground in five attempts.

Meanwhile, Mississippi End Barney Poole was raring after the modern pass-catching record. Poole caught 13 throws, making his year's aggregate 48-just two short of the record of 50 made by Henry Stanton, of Arizona, the same season Schwenk chalked up his mark.

In today's slaughter the outclassed Chattanooga club was scored on three times in each of the first two quarters and twice in the third, and never seriously threatened the Rebels.

The lineups:

Mississippi	Pos.	Chattanooga
B. Poole	LE	Holmes
Erickson	LT	Hutchinson

engineered the high-powered Tiger machine perfectly while Ray Coates, Bill Schroll, Dan Sandifer and Bill Collins were ripping through the Mississippi State line for gain after gain.

Pevey's pay off pitch climaxed a 74-yard march along the ground. Piggy Barnes, giant tackle, placekicked the point which gave L. S. U. a 7-6 edge. L. S. U. piled over on running plays for two touchdowns in the final period, one on a 56-yard advance and again on a 51-yard parade. Rip Collins squirmed the last yard in the first drive, and Coates smashed over from the one on the second. Barnes' placement record was perfect.

Davis' spring came in the second period after Jim Stuart intercepted a pass on the Mississippi State 40. Running from a time-honored reverse play, Davis knocked down a couple of would-be tacklers, then out-raced the mass the rest of the way. Max Stainbrook's placement was no good.

MUSTANGS

Southern Methodist went ahead deep in the second period on an 81-yard drive sparked by the passing of Gilbert Johnson, who completed nine out of fifteen today for 86 yards. A holding penalty hurt Arkansas when it gave S. M. U. a first down after three tries had failed. Dick McKissack and Walker rammed the line for timely gains and Johnson completed four straight passes as the Mustangs stormed to the Razorback six. McKissack made four in two plunges, an off-side penalty put the ball on the six-inch line and McKissack rapped right tackle for the touchdown. Walker converted.

The second Southern Methodist touchdown came after Clyde Scott, Arkansas' great running back, fumbled on his 32-yard line. Walker hit the line twice for six but a penalty set the Mustangs back. Then Walker started around right end, reversed his field and sped to the left to drive to the Arkansas 14. McKissack made two at the line, Walker passed to McKissack on the Arkansas two and then rammed right tackle for the score. Walker kicked the extra point his sixteenth in eighteen tries this season.

NEW MISSISSIPPI SENATOR ARRIVES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—(AP)—John Stennis, Mississippi's new senator, arrived today for the session of Congress starting Monday.

Stennis, Democratic successor to the late Senator Theodore Bilbo, was accompanied by his wife and their two children, John Hampton, 12, and Margaret Jane, 1, and a group of friends.

All of the 22 persons accompanying him plan to be on hand when he takes the oath of office as senator, probably shortly after noon Monday.

On his arrival Stennis took a suit in a hotel. He hopes to find a home here soon but is none too optimistic. "My heart drops everytime I think about that," he said.

PANHANDLE FOLKS ARE EXTRA PROUD OF GIRL GRID STAR

By William C. Barnard

STINNETT, Tex., Nov. 15.— (AP) — This warm-hearted Panhandle town showered affection and money today on a blue-eyed, attractive, 16-year-old girl who made gridiron history by playing right tackle last night when Stinnett and Groom, Texas, high schools clashed in a football game here.

The fact that Stinnett lost 14-6 hardly mattered in these parts—what mattered was that Frankie Groves, diminutive 123-pounder got in the game for eight plays, bowled over two opposing male linemen and came out unhurt.

Frankie made no tackle—but even the sight of her running into the game brought howls of delirious joy from spectators and both pep squads.

Today Stinnett business men, led by Hardware Dealer Frantz (Curley) Ferguson contributed what Ferguson called "a tubful of money" to send Frankie to New York "in a style befitting the bravest little girl ever to breathe the wholesome air of Hutchins county."

"I'm not hurt a bit—just got my face mashed in the mud is all." The five feet, three and one-half inch lass of the line announced as Stinnett's final game of the season ended.

She tugged off her headgear and her brown wavy hair cascaded to her shoulders. "It was great fun and I'll be out there with the team next year. There's nothing like it. I'm a lucky girl."

"How did you knock those men down?" she was asked.

'I just shoulder blocked them," she replied. 'I flat ran right into them. I guess I got a little rough."

Frankie two weeks ago overcame Coach Truman L. Johnson's objections, drew a football uniform, and scrimmaged daily with the team.

"They gave up cussing for me," she confided today.

LEGISLATORS END MISSISSIPPI MEET

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 15.—(AP)—The special session of the Mississippi legislature was formally adjourned at noon today after Governor Fielding Wright had signed into law six bills designed by the session to halt violence against strike-troubled buses.

The bills, passed by the special session, give the governor a state police force to investigate violence and illegalize interference with transportation facilities.

Colonel T. B. Birdsong, assistant to the adjutant general of the Mississippi national guard, who was yesterday appointed by the governor to head the state temporary police force authorized by the legislature, was present when the bills were signed.

Birdsong declined comment, however, on how many investigators would be employed in the force and how soon it would begin to function. He said he has not had time to make a full study of the anti-violence legislation.

Governor Wright expressed satisfaction with the new laws designed to put an end to acts of violence in the 179-day old strike against the Southern Bus Company, Inc.

One hundred thousand dollars was appropriated by the legislature to investigate violence, provide the police force and illegalize interference with transportation facilities.

Outlawed by the session was the possession of explosives for violent purposes. This precaution stemmed apparently from an explosion which occurred in a Mississippi bus terminal. Explosives were interpreted by the session to include stink bombs.

Labor leaders in the state have declined comment on the bills passed.

The clerical staff of both houses and representatives of the presiding officers were present for today's technical adjournment. Most of the lawmakers left for home Friday after completing in three days the legislation asked by Governor Wright.

FURNITURE STORES TEACH DECORATING

Professional decorators furnish rooms entirely with individual pieces of furniture, and do not consider matched suites truly smart in decorative effect. The furniture shopper can well take a tip accordingly, keeping in mind that a few period designs can blend beautifully in one room; that many colors can be worked into one room's upholstery, wall surfaces, window and floor treatments and accessories; and that any melange will create a pleasing effect if each item in the room has been chosen for its own beauty, integrity of design, and suitability to the basic plan of the room in which it will "live."

MICHIGAN

26 to 19, that surprised because of its closeness; Penn State gained in stature by downing Navy 20 to 7; Mississippi whipped Chattanooga, 52 to 0, with the great Charley Conerly completing 20 passes for a national collegiate record of 120 completions in a single season. He still has one game left to improve on the old mark of 114 set by Bud Schwenk of Washington University in 1941.

But the big noise in the Southeast loop was Louisiana State's upset of Mississippi State, 21 to 6, although the loser's Harper Davis got away for a 60-yard touchdown sprint to open the scoring.

Georgia Tech's defeat and Mississippi State's setback lifted Mississippi to the top of the heap in that league.

Standings also were shuffled in the Big Six where fine punting and alertness in recovering enemy fumbles gave Oklahoma a 21 to 12 verdict over Missouri. Iowa State closed its campaign with a 14 to 0 decision over Kansas State, owner of the nation's longest losing streak.

Duke, which has never righted itself since tied by Navy, was held to a scoreless deadlock by South Carolina and saw its Southern Conference lead threatened by William and Mary, winner from Washington and Lee by a 45 to 6 score. North Carolina State belted Wake Forest, 20 to 0, and North Carolina blanked Maryland, 19 to 0.

In the east, where weather conditions were not of the best for football, Harvard showed a surprising form reversal by beating Brown, 13 to 7, and Columbia sailed over ponderous Holy Cross, 10 to 0. Virginia got a late touchdown to best West Virginia, 6 to 0, for its fifth straight win over the Mountaineers.

Dartmouth downed Cornell, 21 to 13, in an Ivy league fray and Syracuse skidded to a 7 to 0 triumph over Colgate in a bitter upstate New York affair.

Southern Methodist wore down Arkansas, 14 to 6, to remain unbeaten and remain the favorite for the Southwest Conference title and the Cotton Bowl designation. Texas' line cripples played masterfully in shutting out Texas Christian, 20 to 0, and Rice, now definitely out of the race, showed the power expected of it all season by crushing Texas A. and M., 41 to 7.

In intersectional affairs, Michigan State sneaked past Temple, 14 to 6 and lowly Tennessee knocked Boston College right out of the Bowl limelight, 38 to 13. Kansas had to hustle for a 13 to 6 victory over Oklahoma A. and M.

Mighty Southern California was idle but California cleared the Pacific Coast Conference picture by spilling Montana, 60 to 14. U. C. L. A. moved alongside the Bears in the runnerup spot by dropping Washington, 34 to 7, and Stanford suffered its eighth straight defeat, a 21 to 6 loss to Oregon.

Utah State and Colorado climbed into a second place tie in the Rocky Mountain's Big Seven race behind Utah. Utah State spilled Denver, erstwhile runnerup, 20 to 0, and the Buffaloes mastered Wyoming, 21 to 6.

GEORGIA BULLDOGS BEAT AUBURN TIGERS, 28 TO 6

COLUMBUS, Ga., Nov. 15.—(AP)—Outplaying their opponents in almost every department, the Georgia Bulldogs defeated the Auburn Tigers, 28 to 6, today in a game played on a soggy gridiron in misty, cold weather.

Georgia rammed over a touchdown in the opening period. Joe Geri, a fine running back today, added the first of his four perfect placements.

The next Bulldog marked resulted from a 59-yard march. Floyd Reid drove the final yard on fourth down, but runs by Johnny Rauch and Henderson had taken it almost to the goal line.

A third Georgia touchdown, early in the second half, came on a 70-yard drive, Geri crashing over on a 13-yard run up the middle. Reid added his second and Georgia's final score late in the same period after Clayton Deavers intercepted a pass from Travis Tidwell and went back to the Auburn 27.

John Liptak, Auburn right end, made the Tiger touchdown in the final period just as the Bulldogs were pressing for another score.

PEPPER WILLING TO TAKE SECOND PLACE

PANAMA CITY, Fla., Nov. 15.—(AP)—Sen. Claude Pepper (D-Fla.) today said he would "accept the Democratic nomination for the office of vice-president of the United States if it were offered in next summer's convention, and would be ever grateful to the party for the opportunity to show my gratitude."

His statement was made in answer to a direct question by Florida State Senator Carl Gray of this city, on whose radio program Pepper was a guest speaker.

Pepper declared that the "Democratic party has made me, and since I come from a long line of Democrats, I would cherish such an opportunity to serve my party."

FORMOSA IS CHAFING UNDER RESTORED RULE BY CHINA

Some Informed Opinion Sees Definite Trend Toward Communism

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Formosa returned to Chinese sovereignty after the war and persistent reports of strife and unrest since have issued from that island held by Japan for 50 years Nanking authorities have refused to allow U. S. correspondents to visit Formosa. However, Spencer Davis, chief of the Associated Press bureau in Manila, managed to make a quick trip to Formosa, talked with authorities including Chinese officials, and here presents exclusively one of the first strictly American reports from the trouble island since its liberation from Japan.)

By Spencer Davis

TAINAN, Formosa, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Strategic Formosa, exploited by Japan for 50 years, chafes today under restored Chinese sovereignty and some informed opinion sees a definite drift toward Communism.

This much I learned in a fast trip to this 225-mile-long island off the south China coast which dominates air and shipping lanes from north China, Japan and Korea to the rich lands and islands to the south.

The 6,000,000 Formosans are dispirited and sullen since an abortive uprising last February was crushed by Chinese military police.

Several hundred of them died and an unknown numbesr of Formosans later were executed in what is known here as "the incident."

(John W. Powell, an American, slipped into Formosa last March and wrote in his China weekly review in Shanghai that 5,000 Formosans lost their lives in "the incident.")

The fortunes of war wrenched Formosa from the Chinese Empire in 1895 for two generations of absolute Japanese rule, then in 1945 handed it back to China's military administrators as a province.

Post-war looting by Chinese soldiers, wholesale arrests of political suspects who have never returned from prison, sharp trading by Shanghai and Nanking "carpetbaggers," indifference of civil officials, all these have reduced these people of Chinese ancestry to disillusionment and despair.

Some informed sources say the sole reason Formosa has not been a scene of renewed violence and bloodshed since February is a lack of arms.

Formosa is a ripe field for propaganda, and that is where observers see a drift toward Communism. Chinese military administrators say there has been a sharp intensification of Communist propaganda here in the past two months.

Soviet films depicting the armed might of Russia and its great expanse of territory are shown in theaters in Tainan and elsewhere.

Hesitation at provoking an incident with Russia is declared to be the reason why Chinese authorities allowed the films to be shown.

Among foreigners now in Taipei (Taihoku) the capital in northern Formosa, are a number of Russians from Shanghai.

The decision of the United States to train a Chinese division in Formosa produced a mixed reaction among Formosans. Some feel the U. S. officers and men will be given a rousing welcome, but they resent any additional Chinese soldiers coming here.

The Chinese secretary of the Tainan chief of police told me to remember there was a difference between the government of Formosa and its people. Spueaking as a representative of the government, he said the training of Chinese troops by Americans will be "very suitable and highly welcome."

Then his Formosan interpreter added: "As for the Formosan people, if I had the freedom to speak out that would be good, but I have no freedom to speak."

(Presumably, he meant it would be good to be free to speak out.)

A Tainan merchant declared: "We don't expect war will come here again."

But a 34-year old graduate of a Tainan school warned: "If Formosans get guns there may be killings on this island. It may seem calm on the surface now, but the situation is worse than during 'the incident' nine months ago. Unrest is deep and bitterness is universal."

The graduate said there was fear the decision to train Chinese soldiers in Formosa might mean conscription of Formosans to fight the Chinese Communists.

He asked that if the United States could not administer Formosa directly, it at least intercede in Nanking on behalf of the Formosan people.

KERCHIEFS GROW MORE COLORFUL

Reflective of the flamboyant mood of fashion today is the new fall selection of handkerchiefs. Fall hankies tend to be large, loud, and abstract. Colors are mostly off-shades of the brighter hues; blue-green, rust, wine, and purple predominating.

Foremost for fall is a series of fifteen inch squares in which the fall colors are carried out in completely abstract designs—dashes, dots, and daubs arranged with most effective irregularity. Another exciting series introduces a good-luck theme, rows of horseshoes, parades of white elephants, and other symbolic figures being woven into the design. Even larger and more festive is a series of 21-inch hankies of fine French cotton.

These kerchiefs feature massive floral designs surrounded by a wide white border. Some have as many as 18 colors with the most emphasized hues being purples, pinks, and blues.

VICKSBURG FALLS PREY TO REBELS OF NATCHEZ

NATCHEZ, Miss., Nov. 15.—(AP)—Scoring two touchdowns in each half, and posting up 20 first downs to the opposition's 5, the Natchez High School Rebels rolled over the Vicksburg Carr Central Greenies 26 to 2 here tonight in a Big Eight Conference football game.

Immigrants admitted to the United States rose from 38,119 in 1945 to 108,721 in 1946.

MIKOLAJCZYK IS HELD 'BANISHED'

Polish Parliament Declares Him Guilty Of Treason Against State

WARSAW, Nov. 15.—(AP)—The Polish parliament today banished self-exiled Stanislaw Mikolajczyk from Poland forever and declared him "guilty of treason against the Polish state and nation."

It also expelled the opposition Polish Peasant Party leader from membership in parliament and asked the government to strip him of citizenship. The cabinet is expected to meet soon and take that action.

(Mikolajczyk fled from Poland late in October and reached London on Nov. 3. He said he fled to escape "being killed like a sheep." His departure meant the end of organized political opposition to the Moscow-supported Polish government.)

The banishment came arter a special parliamentary commission which investigated the flight of Mikolajczyk and seven of his Peasant Party friends declared their escape was "organized and carried out by a high official of one of the embassies in Warsaw."

The commission did not name the embassy but said "foreign factors which controlled Mikolajczyk's policy concluded it was advisable to withdraw him from the country before he became completely discredited politically in the eyes of the Polish nation and lost his value as a tool." The commission denied that the government had intended to arrest him.

Polish Peasant Party Treasury Wincenty Bryja declared that Mikolajczyk's private secretary, Maria Hulewicy, had reported that the embassy persuaded the opposition leader to leave, the commission said. The private secretary also is in custody.

The commission said the Polish Peasant Party's income from foreign sources would be the subject of a special investigation.

Parliament also expelled Stefan Korbonski, a member of the party executive, and deprived Bryja of immunity from arrest. Both were among those who fled with Mikolajczyk. Bryja and two others were arrested after crossing the frontier into Czechoslovakia and were returned to Poland. Korbonski reached Sweden a week ago.

DEMONSTRATORS IN LONDON CLUBBED

LONDON, Nov. 15. —(AP)— Police, swinging billy clubs, beat back demonstrators who attempted to force entrance to a meeting tonight where Sir Oswald Mosley was making his first political speech since he was jailed for supporting hitler.

Sir Oswald, speaking at a "Winter Sales conference" sponsored by Mosley Publications, Ltd., which he heads, said "America faces Russian communism across the prostrate body of this country in a struggle to preserve the remnants of western civilization."

The former head of the British union of Fascists urged Europe to unite and said "it is in the interest of the world for a power to arise which can render hopeless the Russian design for the subjection of Europe to Oriental communism."

BLUBBER SCORES WIN IN FOX HUNT

Chips Finishes Second In National Trials At Columbus, Miss.

COLUMBUS, Miss., Nov. 15.—Blubber, a solidly all-around good hound in the opinion of the judges, ran to glory and the 1947 National all-age championship in the final day of the National Fox Hunt here today. The winner ranked high in all divisions.

Good hunting Saturday, plus a sunshiny sky, accounted for unusually heavy marking by the judges who scratched 137 hounds from the list in the final day of the trials.

The get of Sampson Bristol-Gin owned by J. L. Ledbetter, of Calvert City, Ky., took the lead on the second day of the All-age trials, chalking up a heavy margin over his nearest rivals. Blubber placed first in hunting and endurance classes, placed second in speed and drive and fifth in trailing—an impressive score in a field of unusual quality.

Chips, owned by Finley and Douglas of York, S. C., was second in the National all-age trials of the 54th annual Fox Hunters Association; marked tops in trailing, Chips was fourth in speed and drive and also in endurance,. Third place was won by May Dairyou, a Mississippi hound owned by W. H. Sikes, of Starkville. The hound placed eighth in hunting, second in trailing, fifth in speed and drive and seventh in endurance.

Trailing the leaders in fourth through tenth places were: Bessie owned by Thomas O. Logsdon, of Shawnee Town, Ill.; Corboy, owned by Purvis and McAlpin of Goose Creek, Texas; Little Gal, owned by T. W. Bryant of Dalton, Ga.; Dan K Jr., owned by Bill Ehrenfield, Paltaka Flo.; Singing Stream, owned by Wilkes Moore, Jackson, Miss.; Eileen II, owned by Dr. M. Casper, of Louisville, Ky., and Mable T, owned by C D. Prescott, of Dublin, Ga.

BARNHOUSE DEATH STILL UNSOLVED

LITTLE ROCK, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Detective Chief C. O. Fink said tonight there was "nothing to report" in the investigation of the fatal beating of B. L. Barnhouse, manager of the Little Rock Piano Company, at his home here last Sunday.

Fink said officers continued questioning of Ralph Mashburn, of Little Rock, former state policeman, who was arrested yesterday on an open charge, and that several other persons were interviewed, including Barnhouse's stepdaughter, Mrs. Jean Neimeyer, and his 12-year-old son Billy.

The detective chief and other investigators have declined to disclose what caused Mashburn's arrest or on what points he was questioned.

The former policeman, also once well known locally as a radio musician, was an honorary pallbearer at Barnhouse's funeral and a member of a quartet which sang.

Officers today also continued the investigation of an apparent burglary at the Barnhouse home last night.

Police said a window screen had been cut and that apparently someone had searched drawers of a chest in Barnhouse's bedroom.

It was in this room that Barnhouse was found by his wife and children when they returned Sunday from a visit to El Dorado, Ark., their former home. Barnhouse, dressed in his pajamas, had been struck on the head, suffering injuries from which he died the following day.

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Stocks mixed; price changes narrow. Bonds quiet; rails steady. Cotton steady; textile mills buy.

CHICAGO—Wheat steady; early loss recovered. Corn strong; commercial buying. Oats strong; expect greater feeding use. Hogs nominally steady. Cattle nominally steady.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Selected stocks continued their creeping recovery today although many market leaders suffered from lack of support.

There was little inspiring news on the calendar and mild irregularity ruled from the start. Dealings were slow throughout. Prices hardened here and there in the final hour but minus signs were plentiful near the close with numerous pivotals unchanged. Turnover for the two hours ran to about 300,000 shares.

Bonds were narrow and commodities uneven.

CHRISTIANS, JEWS TO GIVE PROGRAM

'The American Way' Will Be General Theme Of Talks

The Monroe Chapter of the National Conference of Christians and Jews will present a series of programs in nearby towns on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. "The American Way" will be the general theme of talks to be given by trio teams of laymen and clergymen. This is a part of a nation-wide effort to promote tolerance, understanding and good will among people of all faiths and nationalities in America.

F. M. Goldsmith, C. C. Crossfield, and C. P. Brogan will make up the first team which will speak at the Bastrop High School on Tuesday morning and at the Kiwanis Club of Bastrop at noon. Another team consisting of Sackman Marx, Dr. Frank P. Rizzo and Dr. W. P. Hammond will speak at the Kiwanis Club of Rayville on Tuesday night. A third team of clergymen, Rev. A. M. Serex, Msgr. John C. Marsh and Rabbi F. K. Hirsch, will speak at a special "Ladies Night" meeting of the Lions Club at Winnsboro on Tuesday night. The same team of clergymen will also speak at the high school in Rayville on Wednesday.

The National Conference of Christians and Jews is a civic organization of Protestants, Catholics and Jews who work together to reduce religious prejudice and to promote understanding and good will among all groups. The Monroe Chapter of the Conference was organized a year ago under the leadership of F. F. Millsaps, S. E. Burgoyne and F. M. Goldsmith acting as co-chairmen. Other members of the local executive committee include J. Rodney Cline, L. U. Fourmey, Rabbi F. K. Hirsch, Msgr. John C. Marsh, Sig Masur, Allen J. Ritter, Walter S. Savage, Dr. A. M. Serex and F. Strauss.

The National Conference has sixty offices located in the major cities of the United States and conducts a year round program, including American Brotherhood Week, which is observed annually during the week of Washington's birthday. The headquarters office of the conference for Louisiana and Mississippi is located in New Orleans.

SENTENCED TO PRISON FOR MURDER ATTEMPT

WINNSBORO, Nov. 15.—(Special)—Found guilty of attempted murder, Jay Prudhomme, 24, and his brother, Lawrence, 27, have been sentenced to penitentiary terms of nine and three years respectively.

A Franklin parish petit jury returned a verdict of guilty as charged after less than an hour's deliberation.

Charges against the two men arose out of a fight between them and W. H. Taylor in the extension community last August.

LEGION DRIVE NOW COMPLETE

Plans Are Being Formulated For Program For Ensuing Year

"The membership drive for the L. B. Faulk post of the American Legion is an outstanding success," stated Vice-Commander George Miller today. "Our local American Legion post is now in a position to devote its full time to community betterment."

There are several projects underway for the winter months, all of which seem pre-destined to be successful. There are to be bingo games for legion members and their guests. Charles M. Mitchell is chairman of this committee and is being helped by James Larkan, Jr., and W. O. Cornett.

The legion home renovation committee, comprised of James H. Trousdale, Jr., Curtis Smith and Taylor Barbee are undertaking the complete renovation of the home. The money for this work is being contributed by members of the post.

C. B. Braun, Sam Rubin and Burt Sperry make up a committee that are working out plans for a downtown legion club and it is expected that this will soon be organized and ready to go.

The regular meeting of the L. B. Faulk post of the American Legion will be held Monday night, November 17, at the legion home in Forsythe Park.

WELFARE MEETING HELD AT TALLULAH

TALLULAH, Nov. 15.—(Special)—A conference of social welfare workers for Region 2 of Northeast Louisiana was held at the Tallulah Community club Friday with over a hundred in attendance. Father Ulric Landolt, chairman of the organization, presided and W. P. Sevier, mayor of Tallulah, gave the address of welcome.

Juvenile delinquency was the topic of the morning session and was introduced by Mrs. J. B. Thompson of Rayville. Mrs. L. M. DeFreese of Monroe discussed the subject from the standpoint of the school; Miss Moss Tyler, professor of the school of social welfare of L. S. U., from the standpoint of the visiting teacher; Jack Hesketh of Monroe, from recreational aspects; and Miss Valera Cammack of Lake Providence, public assistance.

Judge Frank Voelker spoke on the work of the Juvenile Court Commission, Miss Jean Bonham, supervisor of children's services of Ouachita Parish, discussed the need for facilities for delinquent children, and Miss Elizabeth Kehr of Tallulah, children services consultant, spoke on the need for facilities for neglected children.

A luncheon was served at the noon hour by an organization of the Episcopal church.

French is spoken in five of Switzerland's 25 cantons and German in 18 of the others. The remaining two use Italian and Romansch.

SELIG FURNITURE FACTORY SPEEDED

May Be Ready For Production More Than a Month Ahead Of Schedule

Construction of the Selig furniture factory has been stepped up and will probably be completed 30 days ahead of schedule, Herbert Bailey, Jr., manager of the Chamber of Commerce, reported yesterday.

Foundations have been laid, Bailey said, and are ready for pouring of floor slabs. The dry kilns have been erected and are about three-fourths finished.

The Missouri-Pacific railroad has surveyed the site for a siding, and are set to begin construction "with the first break in the weather," Bailey said.

Meanwhile, the American Rolling Mills plant, of Houston has speeded up production of the factory's prefabricated steel building and expects to deliver it at the plant site during the first week in December," Bailey disclosed.

Construction crews will begin erection of the structure December 8, Bailey stated, and if not delayed by inclement weather, should complete their work by the middle of January.

Immediately thereafter, Selig workmen will have access to the building to begin installation of equipment.

If "good weather" continues, Bailey said, the factory should be ready for production by March 1, instead of April 15 as originally planned.

American cigarette consumption more than quadrupled between 1921 and 1941.

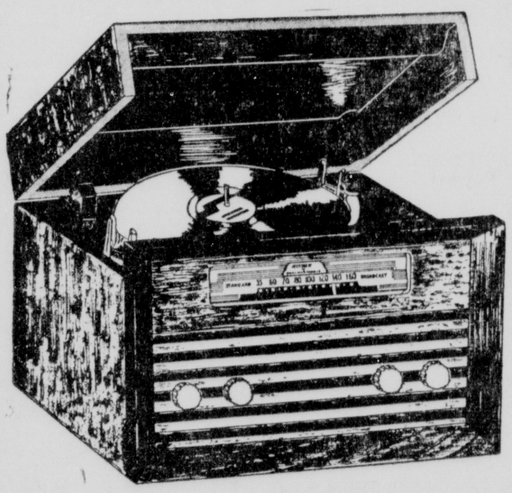

For an extra flavorful noodle blend, boil the noodles in vegetable or meat stock. Drain, reserve the stock and thicken it and add some diced cooked chicken, meat or vegetables. Serve the sauce over the noodles and garnish with several hard-cooked eggs, sliced or half a cup of grated cheese.

MONROE LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS IS AIDING IN THE RECONSTRUCTION OF NATION

A recent talk with Miss Myrtle Rodgers, president of the local branch of the League of Women Voters, revealed some interesting facts.

The history of the League of Women Voters dates back to 1919 when the idea was projected by Mrs. Carrie Chapmann Catt at the convention of the National American Woman Suffrage Associtaion in St. Louis, March 24, Mrs. Catt's stirirng words were: "I propose no marvel: merely the most natural, the most appropriate and the most patriotic memorial that could be suggested—a League of Women Voters to 'Finish the Fight,' and to aid in the reconstruction of the Nation."

Formal organization of the National League of Women Voters took place in Chicago February 14, 1920, in conjunction with the Victor. Convention of the National American Woman Suffrage Association..

The first national citizenship school, conducted by Mrs. Catt, immediately followed the Convention, and thousands of such schools, giving the new women voters the simple rudiments of voting.

The first "planks" drawn up by a body of women voters were presented to the resolutions committees of the 1920 national political party conventions by the League.

The first nation-wide campaign undertaken by the League urged the calling of an international disarmament conference by President Harding (1921). Petitions, several of them including more than a mil of signatures, were presented to the President. These were followed by continuous educational effort in behalf of the Washington Conference for the Limitation of Naval Armaments.

The League of Women Voters is a national organization, knit together by national promotion of methods of work, by field visits, by correspondence, by publications, by delegate meetings, by the national program of work, and by the major objective of increasing the number of women taking an active, intelligent, and responsible part in government.

The national headquarters are in Washington, D. C.; there are 21 state Leagues, and 35 local Leagues with office headquarters. The national office employs a staff of 21; 20 state Leagues and 29 local Leagues employ a total of 61 full-time and 25 part-time employes.

MRS. H. F. MADISON, JR., WILL ATTEND IMPORTANT CONFERENCE IN ATLANTA NEXT MONTH

Two prominent Louisiana women, Mrs. H. F. Madison, Jr., of this city and Mrs. Rodney D. Toups of New Orleans will represent Louisiana at the third annual conference of State Advisors on Women's activities of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis in Atlanta, Ga., from December 8th through the 11th. Mrs. Toup and Mrs. Madison are serving respectively as State Advisor and State Co-Advisor on Women's Activities for the National Foundation.

Women from all the states will attend this four-day meeting preparatory to the 1948 March of Dimes, January 15-30, marking the 10th anniversary of the national foundation. Progress made in the fight against infantile paralysis during the past decade will be reviewed and the needs of the future will be outlined by National Foundation Directors.

The problem of continued care for polio patients will be presented by the women advisors reporting on the activities of local National Foundation Chapters in their respective states. The severe epidemics of 1946 when 25,000 people were stricken with polio, and the case load of 1947 when another 10,000 were effected, have left many thousands requiring continued financial assistance from local chapters.

As State Advisor and State Co-Advisor on Women's Activities, Mrs. Toups and Mrs. Madison work closely with all women's groups and organizations in Louisiana, acquainting them with the activities of their local chapters.

Mrs. Madison is a member of the Twentieth Century Book Club and the Louisiana Council of Social Agencies. She is past chairman and past vice-chairman of the Ouachita Chapter of the Louisiana Society for Crippled Children; past member and former officer of the Monroe Junior Charity League, and has served on the Y. W. C. A. Board. Mrs. Madison is an active member of the L. B. Faulk Unit of the Louisiana Department, American Legion Auxiliary and in the past five years has served as district president, department historian, department first vice-president and membership chairman, and department president. This year she is the national committeewoman for the department of Louisiana.

Mrs. Madison's father, Dr. Charles F. Benson of Eastman, Georgia, was instrumental in organizing the Georgia State Board of Health and served as its first president.

The conference will open officially with a luncheon meeting at the Atlanta Biltmore on Monday, December 8th. On Tuesday, December 9th the women will visit Georgia Warm Springs Foundation, now observing its 20th anniversary as the first and largest treatment center exclusively for infantile paralysis. Basil O'Connor, National Foundation president will be the principal speaker at a dinner meeting the next evening (Wednesday, December 10) and the conference will close the following day with a review of plans for women's participation in the forthcoming March of Dimes.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Spencer, of 607 South Second Street, will leave today for a visit in Tennessee and Mississippi.

EXULTANT IN THE SUCCESS of the suit season FINK THE TAILOR finds orders piling up. Those distinctive suits FINK makes to your measure are more beautiful than ever this year. They have the long, slim lines, perfect fitting collar and that sleek look women love. The materials come in glorious colors—banner red, cocoa brown, inky black, navy blue and winter white. The smart black broadcloth suits are definitely devastating. There's still time to place your order with FINK for your suit for the holidays. Don't be without one, if you intend to go places.

YOU CAN BE JUST as gay and gorgeous as the next one. . . . You wear the season's new clothes with confidence, if your foundation garment is a CHARMODE from SEARS, ROEBUCK AND CO. There's more freedom for living, when you wear a CHARMODE, because it's so divinely comfortable. . . . It never pinches, binds or pokes. You know your stomach isn't protruding when you wear a CHARMODE. . . . You know your waist is inches smaller and your hips have disappeared. Get your CHARMODE tomorrow at SEARS, ROEBUCK AND CO.

IF YOU ARE A brand new bride and are entertaining kinfolks for the first time, I suggest that you have dinner at the LA CASA. Do not risk a failure. Your dinner will be cooked to perfection with that delicious home-cooked flavor. Your table will be resplendent with beautiful china and silver and dinner will be served in grand manner. Enjoy the confidence that comes in knowing everything is perfect. Make reservations early as the LA CASA grows in popularity every day. It's the ideal place to entertain at breakfast, dinner or supper.

LAST ENTRY in the diary of a beautiful lady. . . . "I have just completed a course of NORMATONE FIGURE NORMALIZING treatments at MARIE WAMSLEY'S BEAUTY SALON and look and feel like a million dollars. My whole body is glowing with the renewed energy and my skin has the glow of youth. My waist is several inches smaller, my stomach no longer protrudes and all unsightly bulges have disappeared." This is what a course of these treatments at MARIE WAMSLEY'S has done for me. You don't even have to disrobe. . . . Just recline and relax in perfect comfort.

IF YOU WOULD like to step high, wide and handsome, the RAINBOW INN is the place. In the elegant surroundings of this beautiful night club, there's an opportunity to enjoy a perfect evening at very little cost. The Empire Room, with its mirrored walls and soft lights, is popular with those who like to entertain in grand manner. For those who like a little dinner for two there's the booths in the lounge. For those who dance, there's the main dining room where a celebrated orchestra plays continually. The food at the RAINBOW INN is incomparable.

THE FIRESIDE ROOM at the RENDEZVOUS is the coziest place I know of these cold nights of early winter. The lights are low, flames leap high in the great stone fireplace and the food is fit for a king. I dined there last week and could hardly tear myself away from the cozy atmosphere and congenial friends. Everyone I knew seemed to be there enjoying the delicious food and the charming surroundings. Hostesses are already making their reservations for parties at the RENDEZVOUS for the holiday season.

HAVE YOU SEEN those beautiful flower boxes at the WEST SIDE FLOWER AND GIFT SHOP? They are filled with ferns and plants that never die and will bring cheer to your home throughout the winter. These boxes in red, green or blue, make grand gifts. Some are arranged for the dining tables and are the essence of artistry. THE WEST SIDE FLOWER AND GIFT SHOP is also showing specially arranged flowers for your Thanksgiving dinner table.

WHEN YOU VISIT FERD LEVI'S you will be sure to say: "Make me a child again." The toys are the kind that bring joy to children, and even the grownups are inclined to forget their years in the pure joy of playing with them. FERD LEVI'S is the most "Christmasy" place I have seen this season. Never have the toys been so plentiful, the dolls so beautiful, the wrapping paper so colorful and the greeting cards so joyous. You can have your cards personalized at little cost.

THE PERFECT snack after the football game. . . . Sandwiches, made from BROGAN'S SUREBEST BREAD. Other bread will do, but no other has that appetizing flavor that makes sandwiches particularly delicious. Have you noticed how much better your toast is when BROGAN'S SUREBEST BREAD is used? And remember, SUREBEST stays fresher than any other bread. . . . It never loses its moist fragrance and is rich in vitamins and minerals. Don't deprive your children of the best food in all the world. . . . SUREBEST BREAD.

Miss Morrison Will Be Bride

Engagement Of Miss Morrison And Mr. Harkey Formally Announced Today

Today Mr. and Mrs. Bailey Walter Morrison are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Peggy, to Mr. Thomas Gilbert Harkey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Haynes L. Harkey of Lake Providence. The wedding will take place on December 27th, at the St. Matthew's Catholic Church at 4:30 in the afternoon.

Miss Morrison, a lovely member of the younger set, is descended on the maternal side from the late Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Guerriero, Sr., and on the paternal side from the late Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Morrison, of Clarksville, Tenn. She is a graduate of Neville High School, Northeast Junior Colle-- and attended Louisiana State University. She is a member of Delta Beta Sigma and Kappa Delta sororities.

Mr. Harkey is a graduate of Lake Providence High School and Webb School of Bell Buckle, Tenn. After serving three years in the United States Navy he was discharged as an ensign. He is now a student in the school of Engineers at Louisiana Polytechnic Institute. He is a member of the Phi Kappa Alpha fraternity.

The Board of Directors of the Young Women's Christian Association, a Red Feather Service of the Community Chest, met at the Y with Mrs. E. W. Sartain, president, presiding. The meeting was opened with the devotional by Mrs. C. McCoy. After the presentation of the monthly reports Mrs. C. R. Tidwell, chairman of the Nominating committee for Board officers, read the slate of nominees and the following board and association officers were elected: President, Mrs. Eugene K. Flournoy; Vice President, Mrs. T. H. Scott; Treasurer, Miss Nona Martin; Recording Secretary, Mrs. R. W. Cretney; and Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. W. R. Hatchell.

DELTA KAPPA PI SORORITY OFFICERS

Children Anticipate Presentation Of Sleeping Beauty

"Sleeping Beauty", "Robin Hood," "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" . . three delightful plays that thrill the heart of every child. And all three of them will be seen on the stage of the Neville High School Auditorium by every little boy and girl who buys a ticket to the Clare Tree Major Plays for this season.

Miss Langford, chairman of publicity for the Parker Memorial Class, says that many parents are buying the tickets as Christmas gifts for children in the family, or their friends. Since the first play is December 4th the gift will be given advance but children are the happier for it. Miss Langford says that tickets are on sale in the grammar schools of the Twin Cities and many children are already asking for them.

Although these plays have been brought to Monroe consecutively for a number of years the sponsors feel that they have never had three finer plays, or three plays that will attract more children. Sleeping Beauty is one of the most beloved stories of one's childhood. How the Princess is finally awakened after one-hundred years of sleep, by the Prince who kisses her brow, is a story told in almost every language with some variation.

children this opportunity. Don't let children this opportunity. oDn't let them be filled with disappointment on the opening day of the plays, because you have failed to provide them with a ticket for the season. And to increase their pleasure, tell them the story once more and refresh their little memories. Or, perchance, they can tell you the story, for it is one a child never forgets.

Friends will regret to learn of Mrs. W. F. Hall's unfortunate accident resulting in a broken arm. Her two daughters, Mrs. R. D. Morgan of Natchez, Miss., and Mrs. Howard May of Jonesboro, are at her bedside.

Weems-St. John Nuptial Event Is Of Interest

A wedding of interest to friends in the Twin Cities was that of Floy Maxine Weems, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Weems, and Mr. Ernest Lee St. John, son of Mrs. R. C. St. John and the late Mr. R. C. St. John.

Simplicity and impressive dignity characterized the ceremony which took place at the First Methodist Church, Monroe, Sunday, November 2, at 4 o'clock in the evening.

Dr. A. M. Serex officiated in the double ring ceremony in the presence of a large concourse of relatives and friends. The church was banked with white chrysanthemums overflowing from tall white baskets against a background of fern.

Prenuptial selections were rendered by Mrs. John Sholars while the guests were being seated. She also accompanied Mr. Milton Kizer, a lifelong friend of the groom, who sang "Because."

The bridegroom awaited at the altar with his best man, Mr. Ben F. Kizer, Jr., and his brother, the groomsman, Mr. Robert C. St. John, Jr.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Ben F. Kizer, Jr., wore a lovely tailored suit of black. She carried a colonial bouquet of pale pink carnations and valley lilies placed on a small Bible marked with a spray of pale pink carnations and valley lilies.

Miss Rose Danna, the bridesmaid, wore a beautiful tailleur of aqua light weight wool and carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a distinctive tailleur of azure blue, light wool with brown accessories. She carried a white Bible surmounted with white orchids showered with loops of narrow white satin ribbon. For "something old" she wore the gloves worn by her grandmother on her wedding day. For luck she placed the traditional sixpence in her shoe. It was given to her by the groom's brother who brought it from overseas where he served with the signal corps.

A reception followed the ceremony. Mrs. Weems, the bride's mother, wore a handsome black crepe model with corsage of pink carnations and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. St. John wore a black crepe and aqua model and a corsage of pink roses.

The bride's table, presided over by the sister of the groom, Miss Marianne St. John, was overlaid with a handsome linen cutwork cloth and was adorned with the three-tiered wedding cake surmounted with the traditional bride and groom figurines. White chrysanthemums encircled the table.

Trays laden with wedding cake were passed among the guests by Miss Bettye Tucker and Mrs. Jack S. Dyer. Champagne was served and toasts were drunk to the bride and groom.

Others assisting were: Miss Florence St. John, aunt of the groom; Mrs. J. H. Edmonson, Mrs. William Glasco, and Mrs. William Lipson.

The couple left for Texas for their wedding trip, and will later be at home in Shreveport where the groom is associated with Western Electric.

Miss O'Neal Weds Mr. Amos Smelser

Wedding At Grace Church Takes Place At High Noon On November The Fifth

A high noon wedding, November 5, at Grace Episcopal church took place when Miss Billie Ruth O'Neal, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. O. C. O'Neal of Junction City, Ark., and Mr. Amos Smelser, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Smelser, of this city, were united in marriage. The rector, Dr. E. F. Hayward, officiated in the presence of a large concourse of relatives and friends.

Beautiful white chrysanthemums banked the chancel rail and overflowed from white, wrought iron, floor standards grouped in a semi-circle near the altar.

While the guests were being seated, the organist, Don Brietmoser, rendered an organ concert and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. L. Jack Hays, the bridegroom's sister, who sang in beautiful voice, "The Lord's Prayer" by Malotte.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Truitt Salley served as matron of honor. She wore a lovely pink satin model of pink net over pink satin. The bodice was trimmed in lavendar, chartreuse and gold colored sequins. The skirt was long and full. She wore a small cap of lavendar sequins and carried an arm bouquet of pink chrysanthemums.

Mr. L. Jack Hays served the groom as best man.

Due to the illness of the bride's father she was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Jack O'Neal. She wore a classical wedding gown of ivory Duchess satin fashioned with a deep yoke of mousseline outlined with a fold of satin embroidered in seed pearls. The sleeves were long and tight fitting and the skirt, very full and gathered at the waist, ended in a long court train. Her hip length veil of illusion was caught to her hair, cap effect.

BRIDE CARRIES ORCHIDS

The bride's bouquet of orchids and tuberoses, was exquisite. It was arranged in shower effect and tied with wide white satin ribbons.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Jack Hays. Toasts were drunk to the bride and groom in champagne and later the bride changed her wedding gown for a smart tailleur of black with a top coat of Kelly green. Her small black hat with short veil was of black worn with a short, green sequin trimmed veil.

Following a honeymoon in Chicago where they were guests at the Palmer House, Mr. and Mrs. Smelser returned to Monroe and are now at home at Glendora plantation.

Miss McDade Is The Bride Of Bonner Ethridge

Simplicity characterized the wedding of Miss Sara Beth McDade, daughter of Mrs. Docia Hall McDade of Winnfield and the late Mr. Hollie McDade, and Mr. Bonner Gordon Etheridge, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Etheridge, of Winnfield at the First Baptist Church in Winnfield Saturday afternoon, November 1 at 5 o'clock.

The double ring ceremony was impressively performed by the pastor Reverend H. H. McBride, in the presence of a large concourse of friends and relatives.

Graceful lengths of ivy festooned the background of the altar and entwined the altar rail. Baskets of white gladioli were arranged on either side and were interspersed with tall candelabra supporting myriad cathedral tapers.

The organist, Mrs. H. W. Stinson, rendered a prenuptial concert which included "Sweetest Story Ever Told" and accompanied Mrs. Elmer Parks, who sang in beautiful voice, "Always" and "Because."

At the appointed hour candles were lighted by the ushers, H. Purcell and James Honea, brother-in-law and cousin of the groom, while Mrs. Stinson played "Indian Love Call." During the ceremony she softly played "O Promise Me" and the strains of the wedding marches marked the beginning and end of the service.

The matron-of-honor and sister-in-law of the bride, Mrs. Hollie McDade of Baton Rouge, wore a yellow floor length model of yellow faille. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Ben R. Etheridge and Miss Sharon Anderson of West Monroe, wore orchid colored faille models and carried bouquets of orchid colored chrysanthemums tied with lengths of maline. They wore maline, flower trimmed bandeaux in their hair.

The flower girl, Nancy Nunnally, wore a lovely pink net gown over pink taffeta with flowers entwined in her hair and carried a pink basket filled with rose petals.

Awaiting the bride and her attendants at the altar were the groomsmen, H. Purcell and James Honea and the groom with his best man, his brother, Ben R. Etheridge of Conroe, Texas.

The bride walked down the white carpeted aisle with her brother, Hollie McDade of Baton Rouge, who gave her in marriage. She was the traditional bride in a white slipper satin wedding gown featuring a deep yoke of net edged with a ruffle of French chantilly lace and a fitted basque which fastened with tiny satin covered buttons down the back and long tight fitted sleeves buttoned at the wrist. The skirt was bustle effect and extended into a long train.

The beautiful double cathedral length veil of illusion fell from a lace tiara and she carried a cascade of white carnations with maline and satin ribbon and centered with white orchids.

Courting good luck the bride placed a coin in her slipper and borrowed a beautiful handkerchief from her aunt, Mrs. J. R. Hall who carried it on her wedding day forty-five years ago.

The bride's mother wore a blue satin model and orchid corsage and the bride-groom's mother wore a lovely black chiffon model with lace yoke and orchid corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Max Thieme on Maple street. Guests were greeted at the door by Gladys Minor.

The crystal punch bowl was presided over by Sue Gwin and Betty Jo Lawley.

Guests were registered in the bride's book by Ruth Lee.

Throughout the receiving hours Miss Alice Stuart Oglesby and Mrs. Elmer Parks rendered beautiful music.

The bride changed her wedding gown for a smart suit of aqua wool gabardine and wore brown accessories and her corsage was of orchids.

After a brief wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Ethridge will be located with the groom's parents until their home on the Natchitoches highway is completed.

The bride graduated from the Winnfield High School and attended Northwestern State College. Mr. Etheridge also graduated from Winnfield High School and attended the American Business Institute in Houston, Texas. He served in the United States Navy for six years and was discharged after World War II. He is at present employed by the American Creosote Company.

WINDOW SHADE HINTS

All window shades should be dusted regularly with soft dry cloth once a week. This is done most easily by pulling the shade full length to the sill and wiping from the roller down. If you have unfilled shades with paint or pyroxilin finish they can be washed with soap and water. Lightly filled shades with inseed oil finish may be brushed clean with a damp cloth, sponge or wall paper cleaner.

ACTIVITIES AT Y. W. C. A.

"The Importance of A Good Diet", "Posture and Health," "Good Grooming", "Making Corsages", have been some of the topics discussed during the 'Y-Teen Club' meetings. Guest speakers have been Mrs. Eva Gay Malone, Miss Ada Bess Hart, Mrs. J. B. Thornhill, and Mrs. J. C. Anders. Several of the clubs have had "socials" which have been enjoyed.

Mr. Harry Lemert's series of lectures on "Music Appreciation" continue to be most interesting, enjoyable and helpful to all those who are attending these classes at the Y. W. C. A. on Thursday evening. It is quite an opportunity to have Mr. Lemert as the instructor for these lectures.

The Business and Professional Girls' Club and the NoWoCa Business Girls' Club are beginning to center their programs on the conference theme: "Betty the Business Girl Builds A Government."

On Monday evening all the girls who are a part of the "Y"-Residence-Family" have a "Family Get-together". Mrs. Ruth Hundley, House mother, serves a delicious supper. Each girl has an opportunity to serve as hostess by assisting Mrs. Hudley, and to take part in discussing some topic of interest to the girls.

The Y. W. C. A. board members have been meeting for a training course on Thursday morning. At the first meeting the philosophy and the "over-all" picture of the Y. W. C. A. was presented. "The committee and its Significance in the Y. W. C. A. and the Work of the Various Committees was discussed at the second meeting.

The Y-Wives' Club have elected the following officers: Mrs. E. B. Ellison, president and sponsor; vice president, Mrs. George Forman; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Joe Brown. The program for the next three meetings has been outlined by Mrs. Forman, as program chairman. On November 19th, Mrs. J. C. Anders will discuss and demonstrate, "Table and Mantle Decorations for the Holiday Season". Each member is asked to bring evergreens or magnolia leaves. On December 3rd, Mrs. Monroe Trimble will discuss and demonstrate, "Gift Wrappings". On December 17, Mrs. John Lewis will discuss "Flowers for the Door and Corsages."

VISITING NIGHT AT OUACHITA PARISH HIGH SCHOOL ATTRACTS MANY PATRONS AND FRIENDS

Visiting Night at the Ouachita Parish High School on Thursday, November 13, highlighted the observance of American Education Week.

Ushered through the spacious halls by the Lionettes, two thousand or more patrons and friends of the school, responding to an attractive invitation issued through the homerooms, thronged the corridors and school-rooms during the first hour. Parents were privileged to meet homeroom and classroom teachers, to observe student activities, to inspect exhibitions of school work, and to partake once more of the refreshing atmosphere of modern school life. The democratic life of the student was especially exemplified by home room officers assisting in the registration of parents and visitors.

Outstanding exhibits on display were those of the library, and the art, agricultural, home economics, and commercial occupation departments. Other rooms displayed posters, maps, charts, and models of various types.

Following the reception hour, a program was presented in the auditorium. The address of the occasion was delivered by Ouachita's beloved principal, Jack Hayes.

Mr. Hayes stressed the importance of contact between parents and teachers, of the need for acquaintance with the student's schedule as a tool of equipment for his life's work. He stated that a total of 88 units might be earned in the courses taught through Ouachita Parish High School. Besides the regular courses in English, foreign languages, social studies, mathematics, science, home economics and physical education, electives comprise music, art, commerce, commercial occupations and trade school.

While Ouachita Parish High School students maintain a high standard of excellence in colleges and universities, as shown by the report of the Southern Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges, countless others, unable to pursue higher learning, are equipped for jobs in nursing, commercial occupations, commerce, and the trades. The whole child is trained in this valuable institution of learning.

"Education for citizenship is the chief goal, although college education is desirable for those able to attend," stated Mr. Hayes. He pointed out further that the cost of education was relatively low in a large high school as the recent survey undertaken by the Ouachita Parish School Board showed.

In conclusion, Mr. Hayes expressed his appreciation of the presence of such a vast assemblage which he said, "demonstrated, beyond the shadow of a doubt, that parents were vitally interested in the education of their children in Ouachita Parish High School."

The program was as follows:

"National Anthem"

Invocation, Rev Charles Robinson, pastor Memorial Presbyterian Church, West Monroe, Louisiana; Welcome, Dan Bivins; Duo-piano, Malaguena-I cuona, Jane Wallace, Joe Monroe; musical specialty, "Country Style"—Van Heusen (ensemble); "My Bonnie Lies Over The Ocean", folk tune—(ensemble), Miss Nichols, accompanist; address, "Our School", Mr. Hayes; "Victory March," "Jerome Kern Songs," "Thunder and Blazes," Ouachita Parish High School band, Mr. Walter Minniear, director.

Dramatic sketch, "Our Family Learns To Be Thankful"—Characters: Father, Jimmy Padgett; mother, Mary Jo Inzina; sister, Nancy Golson; brother, Tommy Wilson. Tableau depicting home, school, church, and the world community.

The committee responsible for the Visiting Night program were Miss June Shultz, Mrs. T. L. Firnberg, Mrs. H. P. Smith, Mrs. A. L. Tatum, and Mrs Henry Montgomery.

Throughout the evening refreshments were served in the school cafeteria, decorated with flowers for the occasion.

The comraderie existing between parents, teachers, and students, testified to the success of American Education Week and demonstrated the practicability of Annual Visiting Night.

DR. JULIA HUNTER AIDS FELLOWSHIP COMMITTEE OF THE NATIONAL A. A. U. W.

The Monroe Branch of the American Association of University Women has had a distinct part through the efforts of fellowship committee headed by Dr. Julia Hunter, Loop Road, in bringing fifty-four students from abroad into the United States to enter American colleges and Universities for graduate study.

These women, studying in the United States this year under the auspices of the American Association of University Women through AAUW grants, will gain in this country professional training and skills which will help in the reconstruction of their homelands. Coming from war-torn countries of Europe and Asia, many of these women suffered personal hardships while serving in resistance activities.

AAUW grants, in most cases, cover all expenses for a year of study in the United States; a few are for smaller amounts to pay partial expenses, where that will suffice, or for shorter periods of study.

In the two years since AAUW initiated its program of international grants for postwar educational reconstruction, funds raised by AAUW branches have brought women students to the United States from France, Denmark, Holland, Belgium, Norway, Luxembourg, Poland, Czechoslovakia, and Greece. This year the list also includes students from the Philippines, Siam, India, China, Finland, and Italy.

Two women from the Philippines are studying at Columbia University, New York. Mrs. Maria Fe Atienza is taking a special course in the use of visual education and other techniques which will help the movement in the Philippines to teach the simple rules of health, sanitation and nutrition.

The other Philippine student is Miss Josefina Constantino, who is studying English at Teachers College, Columbia University.

Siam is represented by two AAUW Study Grant holders. Miss Tasniya Isarasena of Bangkok is studying American occupational methods at the University of Wisconson in order to help improve the educational system in Siam. Miss Rabieb Tantranon, also of Bangkok, has entered the University of Illinois at Urbana to study library science.

Miss Dorothy Moses of Calcutta, India, received a small AAUW grant to aid in her study at the New York School of Social Work.

Also from China is Miss Kwan Hsu, who, during the Japanese occupation was instructor in physics in the University of Shanghai.

From Finland comes Miss Helena Pipping whose education was interrupted when she was only fourteen by the winter war in Finland. At her grandmother's farm in the center of Finland, she helped care for 15 young cousins and 15 old women from a neighboring town who had taken refuge there.

Miss Eliisa Airila of Finland received a grant to aid in her study of public nursing at the University of Pittsburgh. She, with one other nurse, has been handling 7,000 war invalids in Helsinki.

The local branch has had for the past several years as one of its major projects the building up of its fellowship and the last year the branch helped the state of Louisiana reach its goal by contributing the largest percent per capita of any branch in the state.

"Friends say I'm growing younger instead of older"*

HELPS RESTORE SPRING FLOWER BEAUTY TO FADING SKIN

If you're a younger woman, you want to protect the loveliness of your face and throat skin that wins you so many compliments. If you're an older woman, you want to regain such skin loveliness so that these compliments will again come your way. In either case, you ought to try the unduplicated benefits of ENDOCREME. For a decade now, this scientific face cream has been helping thousands of women retain or recapture firm, fresh, smooth, youthful-looking face and throat skin in a way hitherto thought impossible through cosmetics. ENDOCREME alone contains ACTIVOL, an effective replacement for a certain natural feminine substance essential to skin beautification. Absorbed by the skin, it helps restore normal growth to ageing cells and tissue. Many report marked results in only 30 days. $3.50 (plus tax), 30 days' supply.

Memory, like life, is a moving thing. When perpetuated by a memorial that makes nature a part of the picture, the sublime effect is achieved. The change of foliage with the seasons, the rays of the rising or setting sun, all blend with a memorial that has been perfectly designed, making it the permanent record of a living memory.

We specialize in beautifully designed memorials carved from America's leading monumental materials.

National Convention Of Delta Rho Delta Sorority Brings Delegates To City

Courtesies Include A Dinner Party

Gracious Courtesies Are Extended By The Members Of Sigma Chapter

The terrace of the Frances hotel is a veritable bee-hive of activity today with delegates, three-hundred or more, attending the national convention of Delta Rho Delta sorority. Members of Sigma chapter, the hostesses, are extending the special brand of hospitality for which Monroe is rather famous.

The courtesies extended the visiting delegates are not of a stereotyped nature by any means. Rather it is the type of entertainment the discriminating hostess would provide for a very special guest. When the delegates arrived they were extended a gracious welcome and invited to have a cup of coffee in the suite occupied by the local chapter. Friday night the hostesses motored with their guests to the Rainbow Inn for a charming little supper party served by candlelight in the Empire room. Cars were available all day Saturday to take the visitors through the residential district and the shopping centers. A cup of coffee was provided at any hour of the day at the Frances hotel and many a friendship was made during the conversational interludes.

An impressive initiation ceremony was held Friday night in the Butterfly room with Mrs. Orville Malone, Mrs. W. D. McGee, Jr., and Mrs. J. Howard Carroll, presiding.

A brilliant dinner party on the terrace Saturday night with all feminine guests in beautiful evening attire highlighted the convention program.

The colors of the sorority, red and yellow, are warm and glowing and form a charming color theme when combined. These two colors were reflected in every detail of the beautifully appointed dinner. The speaker's table, elevated high above the floor, provided a splendid view of the terrace. Directly behind the speaker's table tall crimson candles were arranged in church steeple formation. It was most effective when the electrics were lowered. Candles gleamed down the full length of the terrace where the smaller tables were grouped. Bronze chrysanthemums of pronounced beauty were arranged in a pyramid on the speaker's table. Crimson satin ribbons radiated from the central decor in every direction. At either end of the table the sorority emblem, an open book with a flaming torch, was cleverly depicted in flowers.

Mrs. D. C. Metcalf in a beautiful evening model, extended a welcome to the guests and introduced the toastmaster, Rev. Ernest Holloway. He presided with characteristic geniality.

Mrs. James A. Noe, honorary member of the local chapter gave the invocation.

The national officers, including Mrs. Irene Davitt, national secretary-treasrer and Miss Marie Holt were introduced. Miss Holt, officiated during the chalice ceremony in which a member from each chapter proposed a toast.

A medley of classical airs were heard throughout the serving of the delicious three course dinner. Mrs. A. M. Serex charmed the guests with two soprano solos and Miss Gloria Strong entertained with several beautiful marimba numbers.

Dr. Mary Mims, the guest speaker talked on the subject of "Leadership and Opportunity—Today's Challenge." She is a forceful speaker and talks with great sincerity of purpose.

An invitation was extended those who so desired, to remain on the terrace for an hour of dancing. Others found entertainment in the Mirror room where a moving picture, "This Is Louisiana" was shown through the courtesy of the Standard Oil company.

Misses Freeda and Ann Mickel are entertaining with a coffee hour at their home this morning between the hours of 9 and 10:30. They will be assisted by Miss Maible Hood, Mrs. C. U. Johnson, Mrs. Nell Bennett and Mrs. Eloise Stanhope.

Luncheon on the terrace will bring to conclusion a convention that will always be remembered for its special brand of hospitality and originality of entertainment.

During the luncheon hour members of the Junior choir of the First Methodist church will be presented in a group of song numbers under the direction of Miss Eloise Helm. Members of the local chapter of Delta Rho Delta were given valuable assistance during the convention by their honorary members, Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, Mrs. E. C. Gibson, Mrs. John R. White and Mrs. James A. Noe.

Mrs. J. Howard Caroll, local organizer and Mrs. D. C. Metcalf local counselor were assisted in working out the various details of the convention by Miss Ann Adams, Miss Aline de Ladurantaye, Miss Opal Baker, Miss Nell McCormick, Miss Maude Brownlee, Miss Jean Meador, Miss Naomi Campbell, Miss Freeda Mickel, Miss Ann Mickel, Miss Kathryn Moak, Miss Virginia Butler, Miss Allie Marie Coats, Mrs. Johnnie Butler, Miss Violet De-Cuir, Mrs. W. D. McGee, Mrs. Orville Malone, Miss Evelyn Evans, Mrs. Alease Norris, Miss Lottie Mae Ewing, Mrs. Bertha Patterson, Miss Marjorie Ewing, Mrs. Joe Pierce, Miss Juanita George, Mrs. W. P. Renwick, Miss Lillian Glenn, Mrs. James Sunrall, Miss Eloise Helm, Miss Marie Hilburn, Miss Ouida Welch, Mrs. E. F. Holdworth, Miss Jeanette Wicks, Miss Maible Hood, Miss Marguerite Kirkpatrick, Miss Helen Youngblood, Miss Theresa Thomisee.

HOSTESSES WHO WELCOMED CONVENTION DELEGATES

Newcomers Club Meets At La Casa For Luncheon

Mrs. E. D. Hall, Jr., and Mrs. T. S. Aday served as hostesses for the monthly meeting of the Welcome Wagon Newcomers Club held at the La Casa Tea Room last Wednesday.

The tables were beautifully decorated with yellow chrysanthemums.

Mrs. A. V. Miller, Jr., chairman of the club called the business meeting to order. Minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. Hall and Mrs. A. L. Brin gave a financial report.

Mrs. Miller asked each guest to stand when they were introduced. Approximately 40 members were present.

Members voted to send flowers to Mrs. Herbert Bailey, a member who is ill.

Mrs. C. C. Locke, Jr., was appointed chairman of the visiting committee for the following month with Mrs. E. C. Dansby and Mrs. Cliff Unruh as assistants.

Mrs. Miller reminded members of the next Welcome Wagon Newcomers broadcast over Radio Station KNOE November 18. Members who will participate in that broadcast are Mrs. Bill Stanley, Mrs. Garrett Stewart, Mrs. Bill Baber, Mrs. Lester A. Wooster, Mrs. W. L. Wooley.

Following the business meeting members were served a delicious three course luncheon at tables adorned with beautiful chrysanthemums.

The December meeting will be a covered dish luncheon at the home of Mrs. R. L. McHenry, Welcome Wagon hostess for Monroe and West Monroe. Hostesses will be Mrs. W. H. Webster, Mrs. Jones Dunham, Mrs. Robert Dunn, and Mrs. W. C. Summers.

MRS. E. C. GIBSON REVIEWS 'CITIES OF AMERICA' FOR THE WELCOME BRANCH BOOK CLUB

"Cities of America" by George Sissions Perry, was reviewed in interesting manner by Mrs. E. C. Gibson at the November meeting of the Welcome Branch Twentieth Century Book club in the home of Mrs. E. J. Whitman with Mrs. F. W. Dawson, co-hostess.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. A. J. Speer, who presided over the business session. Mrs. H. V. Collins gave an interesting report on the organization of a new literary club.

Mrs. Henson Coon, the program chairman presided. For the month of November the programs are outlined for geographical phases and Mrs. Coon gave the following quotation by Sir Walter Scott, "Breathes there a man with soul so dead who never to himself hath said, This is my own, my native land." She introduced Mrs. E. C. Gibson, who reviewed the book called "Cities of America," by George Sissions Perry. Mrs. Gibson stated that Mr. Perry had described twenty-two cities of America beginning, of course, with New Orleans. Mr. Perry states that "characteristics of cities are as clearly defined as those of persons and New Orleans resembles an alluring, party-loving woman who is neither as virtuous as she might be nor as young as she looks; who has a come-hither eye, an engaging trace of accent in her speech." Mr. Perry gave only a bird's eye view of New Orleans and does not go into its history or politics very deeply.

New York was the next city Mrs. Gibson discussed. Most of America looks at New York as a rich, glamorous, theatrical, noisy, over-excited, un-American, expansive torrent of man-swarm. New York does a bigger tourist business than Miami or Atlantic City, and is traditionally democratic. Mr. Perry says that the theater there is what literature does after dark, for the play-houses are always full. He also says that New York expresses the human spirit in every shade from despair to exaltation.

Salt Lake City is a somewhat strange and lonely city high in the Rockies, the seat of the great Morman Church, the greatest mutual-aid society on earth. Mr. Perry says the Morman religion was founded by Joseph Smith in 1830. Salt Lake City and the man who built it have ample right to be proud of each other.

Chicago is said to be associated in the world's mind with crime, violence, energy and success. It stands apart from all the cities of the world. Mr. Perry stated that eighty-five per cent of Chicago lives in rented houses and has twenty-five square miles of the worst slums in our country. Chicago is the railroad capital of our nation, claims most commercial air service and promises enormous expansion.

Atlanta, Mr. Perry's home town, was discussed at length with its history and descriptions of its 900 factories. Atlanta is an educational center for both white and colored. Her residential section has some of the most beautiful homes in the south and hospitality is one of her chief charms.

Mr. Perry's discription of his own home town is worth the price of the book.

Next on the program was an article of interest taken from the national geographic magazine entitled "Our Navy Explores Antarctic" by Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, given by Mrs. Richard Whitehurst. "Antarctic is a luring land of everlasting mystery. The ice-imprisoned continent covers almost 6,000,000 square miles of the earth's surface—nearly as much as South America. In the century since the land was discovered, fewer than 600 human beings have lived on its shores. Siren-like, it challenges the restless, adventure-hungry postwar world.

Last winter this challenge was accepted by the United States Navy, as part of its training and research activities, with the largest exploring expedition ever organized — thirteen ships manned by 4,000 men. This expedition landed at Little America on New Year's Eve in the worst ice pack in 106 years. All sorts of equipment perfected in World War two were used in this expedition, such as: Amphibious tractors, jet planes, helicopters., tractor-drawn trains, improvised metal landing strips, ski-planes, submarines, ice breaker ships, aircraft carriers, large PBY and PBM planes, all sorts of weather equipment, the newest photographic equipment and even a cold-resistant swim suit.

For the navy's own purposes much was learned about celestial navigation and ship operations in polar regions.

Mrs. Whitehurst, in closing said, "Old Glory never had to be lowered at sunset for sunlight prevailed 24 hours a day.

Mrs. Whitman and Mrs. Dawson served delicious refreshments to the following members: Mrs. F. E. Black, Mrs. H. V. Collins, Mrs. Henson Coon, Mrs. J. Norman Coon, Mrs. A. R. Doughty, Mrs. R. H. Dollar, Mrs. E. C. Gibson, Mrs. A. S. Gunter, Mrs. J. G. Hicks, Mrs. H. D. Holmes, Mrs. Robt. W. Irby, Mrs. Tom Jett, Mrs. Harry Moore, Mrs. W. D. McGee, Mrs. J. E. McConnell, Mrs. Morris Miller, Mrs. Leola Nixon, Mrs. J. D. Petty, Mrs. F. H. Peterson, Mrs. E. A. Porter, Mrs. Zell Smith, Mrs. A. J. Speer, Mrs. C. S. Swain, Mrs. A. C. Warner, Mrs. W. B. Wheelis, Mrs. J. R. White, Mrs. Richard Whitehurst.

McLaughlin-Malbert Nuptials Is Of Interest To Friends

Engaging the interest of friends today is the announcement of the marriage of Mrs. Ruby Scruggs McLaughlin, daughter of Mrs. W. M. McLaughlin of Mississippi and Mr. Carroll Douglas Lambert, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Lambert of Louisville, Ky.

The wedding took place at the home of Mrs. J. B. Scruggs with Dr. C. E. Autrey, pastor of the First Baptist church of West Monroe, officiating in the presence of a few intimate friends.

An improvised altar was reared in one end of the living room where beautiful white chrysanthemums were banked with artistry in the background.

Mrs. Mable Noble was the bride's attendant. She wore a grey, light wool, model with purple accessories and corsage of white chrysanthemums.

Mr. J. B. Scruggs served as best man.

The bride wore a beautiful black crepe model trimmed in rhinestones. Her corsage was of white carnations and tuberoses.

Mr. and Mrs. Lambert are at home for the time being at the Frances hotel.

Mrs. Lambert has been a member of the Palace personnel for several years.

Miss Bacon Weds Mr. W. S. White

Bacon-White Nuptials In Mer Rouge Joins Two North Louisiana Families

Two prominent North Louisiana families were united when Miss June Zanona Bacon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Donald Bacon of Mer Rouge became the bride of Mr. Warren Shelby White, son of Mrs. Warren Shelby White and the late Mr. White. The ceremony, characterized by dignity and beauty, took place at the Mer Rouge Methodist Church with Rev. Mynette performing, assisted by Rev. D. T. Williams.

Myriad cathedral tapers in floor-length candelabra burned in the background. Fan-shaped arrangements of white gladioli flanked the altar. White gladioli was also arranged with artistry along the chancel rail.

An organ concert was rendered by Mrs. Roy C. Windsor. She also accompanied the soloists, Mr. Joe Rolfe White, brother of the groom, who sang, "Each Thought Of You," and Mrs. Claire Mayo Clark, who sang, "Throught The Years."

Mrs. Clifton B. Flinn, of Monroe, served as matron of honor, and Misses Elaine and Bonna Bacon, sisters of the bride, were the maids of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Jean Maynard, of Shreveport; Mrs. William V. Spires, of Las Cruces, New Mexico; Mrs. Robert MacGowan, of Baton Rouge; Miss Margaret Webb, of Tallulah, and Misses Genieve and Dorothy White. They all wore picturesque gowns of leaf green taffeta fashioned with long, hoop skirts, bustle effect in the back. They carried yellow chrysanthemums tied with long loops of yellow and bronze satin ribbons. Their hair ornaments of green and gold were very attractive.

Mr. Whites' best man was his brother, Mr. Charles G. White, and his groomsmen were Mr. Gayle Carter, Mr. Thomas Edward Wilson, Dr. Felix J. Willey, Mr. Will Rolfe, Mr. Claire Mayo Clark and Mr. Joe Rolfe White.

Lenna Armstrong, cousin of the of the bride, preceded the bride wearing a replica of the bridesmaids' dresses, in ivory taffeta and carrying a basket of rose petals.

The bride, walking to the altar with her father who gave her in marriage, wore a beautiful ivory satin wedding gown fashioned with a deep yoke of mousseline outlined with flowers embroidered in seed pearls. The sleeves were long and tight-fitting and the bodice came to a point in the front. The three-tiered veil caught to the hair with a coronet of pearls, fell beyond the length of the long court train. She carried an arm bouquet of French carnations and white chrysanthemums.

RECEPTION IS BRILLIANT

The reception was held in the home of the brides' parents where the wedding party and the parents' of the bride and groom stood before the flower banked mantel, to receive the guests. Mrs. Bacons' gown was of white crepe embroidered in gold sequins, and a corsage of gold chrysanthemums. Mrs. White received in a gown of black lace and wore a corsage of pink carnations.

The house was beautifully decorated with white chrysanthemums, white gladioli, tube roses, fern and southern smilax. The numerous and handsome wedding gifts were on display in the music room.

The bride's table in the candlelit dining room, was developed in white and green. Sprays of tube roses and fern were placed in star points around the three tier wedding cake. The cake was surmounted with tube roses and white carnations.

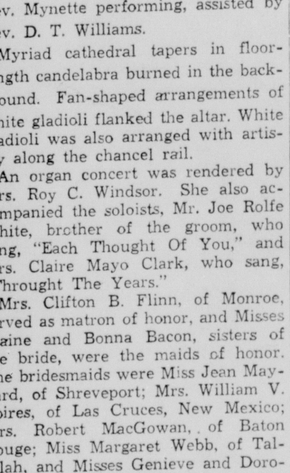

Mint frappe and individual cakes embossed in lilies of the valley, were served by Misses Blanche Morrow, Mary Moss Madison, Bonnie Marie Windsor, Virginia Harp, Kate White and Mrs. Herbert Lawrence, Mrs. Hubert Womack, Mrs. Joe Rolfe White, Mrs. C. C. Davenport, Miss Dillian Wall.

The bride and groom cut the wedding cake and the bride threw her bouquet from the stairs. It was caught by one of her maids, Miss Jean Maynard. For traveling, the bride wore a suit of shadow wool with black accessories. She wore a corsage of white chrysanthemums. The young couple left on a western automobile tour.

The bride attended Brenau College, Gainesville, Ga., and was graduated from the Louisiana State University, where she received her bachelor of music degree. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta social sorority and Sigma Alpha Iota honorary music society. The groom attended the Louisiana Polytechnic Institute at Ruston, La., and served overseas for four years with the armed forces.

MARY NEILSON JACOBS WILL WED DOUGLAS Y. SMITH, JR., ON TUESDAY, DECEMBER 30

Presaging an important nuptial event during the holidays is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Byron Jacobs of Shreveport of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Mary Neilson, to Douglas Yongue Smith, Jr., of Baton Rouge, on of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Yongue Smith, also of Baton Rouge. Wedding plans have been made for Tuesday, Dec. 30, at St. John's Catholic church.

Mrs. Bryan M. Lloyd will be her cousin's matron of honor and bridemaids include Miss Nancy McClendon, Miss Betty Basinger, Miss Elizabeth Wheless, Miss Mary Lane Phillips, Miss Jean Jackson, Miss Jeanne Gray, Miss Bettie Elmore of Lawrenceville, Va., a classmate of Miss Jacobs at Randolph-Macon college, and Mrs. Edwin C. Minor.

A. L. Smith will be best man for his brother and ushers will be W. B. Jacobs, Jr., and Neilson Jacobs, brothers of the bride-elect, A. R. Johnson, Jr., of Baton Rouge, Sam McInnis of Sterlington, Joe Dixon, James Jones, Karl Faser of Baton Rouge and R. L. Davis, Jr., of Monroe.

The bride-to-be is descended maternally from Mrs. Clarence Lee Neilson and the late Mr. Neilson and paternally from the late Mr. and Mrs. Walter Byron Jacobs. She is a graduate of Randolph-Macon Woman's college where she was a member of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority and did postgraduate work at Louisiana state university.

The bridegroom is the grandson of Mrs. John Crawford Theus of Monroe and the late Judge Theus, and Mrs. Arthur Lee Smith, also of Monroe, and the late Mr. Smith. He is a student at Louisiana State university at Baton Rouge where they will live after the wedding. His fraternity is Kappa Alpha.

FASHION WARNING

It is more important to select accessories carefully in a fashion season such as this, than it has been for many years of fundamentally tailored clothes which we've been able to "dress up or down."

VESTS ARE USEFUL

A new trend worth noting is the emerging popularity of odd vests for casual wear.

MISS BLANCHE WILSON

Miss Wilson, president of the fifth district Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs was the guest speaker at the pageant presented in connection with the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Alto Cultural Club, November 1.

M. B. Hearne, Sunday School Supt.

"For every heart which aches for sympathy there is a heart which craves for the opportunity to help and serve."

Some fifty years ago, this church was planted in the City of Monroe. God had a purpose in doing so, and that was, that the church should serve humanity. So, to that end, we are endeavoring to fulfill the will of God. We are here to serve, not merely to be served.

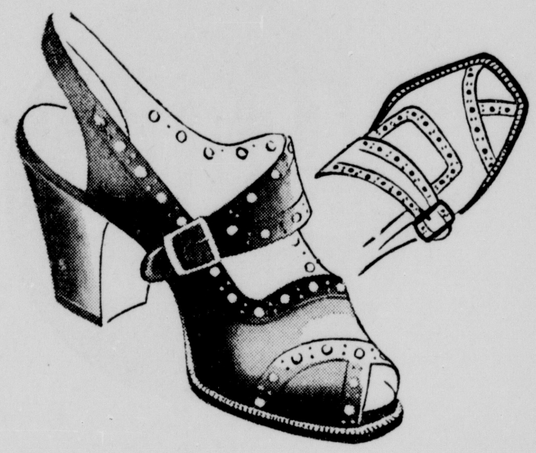

The public is invited to attend the worship services of the church. Each Lord's day the following services are held: Sunday School at 9:45 a.m. The regular worship service beginning at

ANNUAL CONVENTION HELD BY LOUISIANA FEDERATION OF WOMEN'S CLUBS LAST WEEK

Another chapter was terminated in the history of the Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs when the 48th annual convention of the federation was brought to a close Saturday, November 8, at 12 o'clock noon at the Charleston Hotel, Lake Charles, La. More than 198 women from all over Louisiana registered for the three day meeting.

Highlighting the convention were addresses made by five outstanding speakers, the first being C. H. Callahan, consultant on the hospital board of Louisiana, who emphasized the need for additional hospital beds over the state. He also spoke on the survey made by the state to determine the locations of the non-profit hospitals to be located in Louisiana under the Hill-Burton plan.

Col. Joseph Massara, commanding officer of the U. S. army and air force recruiting service for the Louisiana district, and Captain Newell E. Taylor, San Antonio, Texas, captain from the 5th Army Headquarters at Fort Sam Houston, gave most interesting talks. Colonel Massara spoke of the need of a strong army for the security of our hard-won freedom and the American way of life in the event of failure of the world peace programs. Captain Taylor discussed the moral and religious background of the soldier's life.

Dr. Guy R. Jones of Lockport, president-elect of the American Academy of General Practitioners of Louisiana and chairman of Rural Health of Louisiana, spoke on the place and need of physicians in rural communities.

A feature of Friday's meeting was an address by Dr. W. Roy Breg, executive secretary of Allied Youth, Inc., Washington, D. C. Prior to his address at the convention Doctor Breg spoke to the Lake Charles High school in the morning and to the Negro High School in the afternoon. Doctor Breg told the women of the work of the Allied Youth Movement in organizing young people of the country in a campaign of restraint and to encourage them to engage in wholesome pastimes where fun can be had without drinking. He stated that posts had been organized all over the United States in many high schools, thus giving the high school students of America a chance to realize what drinking is doing to the youth of our nation.

Highlighting Saturday morning's meeting was a talk by Captain L. C. Cave, director, Training School, Louisiana State Police. He told of the terrible havoc being wrought on our highways and reminded the women that one out of every five deaths by automobile accidents was a high school boy or girl. He also stated that more people had been killed on our highways than were lost in World War 2. He gave as the greatest cause of this high mortality rate, drinking, and emphasized that by "drinking" he did not mean drunk but referred to those who had enough liquor in them to make them more careless. He urged the women to give public support to the Governor's State Highway Safety Council and to see that the laws pertaining to safe driving be enforced in each community in Louisiana.

A beautiful Memorial Service was conducted by Mrs. Louis Cruikshank.

One of the most impressive social events was the lovely banquet given in the ball room of the Charleston Hotel Friday night honoring the state president, Mrs. Samuel Levy, and the past state presidents. The past state presidents who were present were, Mrs. Finn A. Leaming of Mansfield, Dr. Grace B. Agate of Lafayette and Mrs. A. D. Tisdale of Monroe. Following the banquet a beautiful formal processional was formed consisting of the flag bearer; Mrs. Levy, the state president; the three past state presidents; the district president and their immediate club presidents. This was a memorial occasion as this was the first time that the district and club presidents had been honored in this manner.

Immediately following the evening meeting a reception honoring all presidents was held in the ball room with the seventh district clubwomen as hostesses. The seventh district women were also hostesses at a lovely morning coffee on the mezzanine floor of the hotel.

Mrs. R. E. Heidt, the most efficient music chairman who herself possesses a beautiful voice, sang "I Would Be True," complimenting the state president whose favorite song it is. Mrs. Heidt had also planned an outstanding musical program including among special music a clarinet quartet from McNeese Junior College, vocal selections by Mrs. Velma Yawn of DeRidder, assembly singing of the "Song of Louisiana."

The women were especially grateful to the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey for showing the beautiful picture in technicolor "This Is Louisiana."

The pages added much to the decorations, as well as to the general comfort of the assembly and were presented by Mrs. Earl L. Miller.

In the Ideal Club contest first prize was awarded to Beta Study Club of Shreveport and Press Book, first prize, to Cosmos Club of Ruston. Favorable mention was given Delphi Study Club of Shreveport. Year Book Contest, first prize, was awarded to Hellenian Club of Rodessa and the third district, with Mrs. Leonard J. Toups as district president, was adjudged the Ideal District.

The assembly voted unanimously to begin a $20,000 Golden ubilee Endowment Fund and Mrs. William J. Dunn of Lake Charles was appointed chairman.

The papers were presented at the board to be signed by several officers of the federation to incorporate the federation and to ask the state to issue a charter. The board was very glad to vote on this as the federation had been in existence for 48 years without a charter. Miss Ella Trousdale, notary public, met with the board and notarized signatures. The beautiful seal for the Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs, the invitations and the membership certificates were presented to the board and great appreciation was expressed to Mrs. Levy for these accomplishments which will add much to the progress of the federation.

The amendment to the Constitution raising the club dues to 50c per capita was also unanimously carried. Another project voted by the assembly was to cooperate with the State Board of Health in securing a dental mobile unit for the State of Louisiana to provide free dental treatment for children of low income families. Doctor Trueting will be invited to meet with the board the first Saturday in February at Alexandria to discuss this program.

Mrs. Levy, the state president, was presented with a beautiful state president's pin by the state federation. Presentation was made by Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, immediate past state president.

The courtesy committee presented a resolution thanking Mrs. William J. Dunn and all of her committee, the hotels, the Chamber of Commerce and everyone who contributed to making this convention one of the most outstanding in federation history. The committee felt sure that this splendid program would add much to the future of the federation.

The general assembly re-affirmed the recommendation by the board of Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs, assembled in 1947, stating that the board deplored and condemned the careless use of the name of the federation for partisan political purposes by any officer, chairman or member of this organization and further instructed the officer in question to correct the grave error in her next and subsequent broadcast in every radio station and through newspaper publicity; and, finally, to choose immediately between relinquishing political activity or the office that gave her prestige as a speaker; as this organization is strictly non-political, non-partisan and non-sectarian.

State President Of Federated Clubs To Speak Here

Claiming prominence among the busy hours of the coming week will be the tea on Friday on the Virginia hotel roof honoring Mrs. Samuel Levy, state president of the Louisiana Federated Women's clubs.

Members of the Monroe Literary club will be hostesses on this occasion and all federated club women of the Twin Cities are extended an invitation to attend. The hour is 2 o'clock. Mrs. Levy's talk will be of great interest to club women who are anxious to hear the important facts concerning the status of women throughout the country. Mrs. Levy heard talks delivered by political leaders when she attended the Herald-Tribune Forum in New York last month. At this time women were urged by Mrs. Robert McCauley to participate in political affairs.

MR. AND MRS. BRASWELL

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Braswell, bride and groom of recent date, cut their wedding cake at the reception following their marriage. Mrs. Braswell was formerly Miss Martha Ola Powell. She is a graduate of the Ouachita Parish High School and St. Francis School of Nursing. Mr. Braswell is a graduate of the Lake Providence High School and the Louisiana State University.

FASHIONABLE MONROE ATTENDS BEAUTIFULLY APPOINTED TEA AT THE JOHN SHERROUSE HOME

Candles gleamed in every section of Mrs. John Sherrouse's beautiful suburban home when she and Mrs. John Sherrouse, Jr., entertained during the tea hour complimentary to Mrs. Charles Sherrouse of Gilbert who is now making her home in this city.

A bright fire burned on the wide hearth in the spacious living room where gorgeous yellow chrysanthemums were placed in the background. Especially beautiful was the immense silver bowl overflowing with giant yellow chrysanthemums placed on the concert grand piano in one corner of the living room. Candles burned in low candlesticks on the mantel and among the flowers in the most fascinating manner.

Yellow chrysanthemums were also noted in the library and in the reception hall where Mrs. Jack Rogers, Mrs. Henry Biedenharn, Mrs. Harold Mouk and Mrs. B. Beasley, all beautifully gowned, extended a welcome.

The hostesses and their guest of honor stood in the living room against a background of yellow chrysanthemums. Mrs. John Sherrouse was wearing a black afternoon model with jeweled buttons and Mrs. Charles Sherrouse wore a black crepe model with square neckline trimmed with handsome rhinestone clips. Mrs. John Sherrouse, Jr. wore a black printed model embroidered in sequins.

Mrs. Claud Harrison and Mrs. J. W. Perry assisted in the courtesies in the dining room. Mrs. C. E. McKenzie, Mrs. Thomas Leigh, Mrs. C. W. Wallace and Mrs. Hollis Venable alternated at the silver coffee and tea services placed at either end of the table.

The table appointments were unusually distinctive with a mammoth silver epergne, each cut glass receptacle holding tuberoses and white chrysanthemums, forming the central decor. Handsome imported lace covered the table and at either end massive silver candelabra supported tall slender white tapers. Silver trays were laden with a variety of confections.

The grounds of the Sherrouse home are extensive, permitting the guests to drive through the gardens and leave their cars at the front entrance where they were parked along the circular driveway by the colored gardeners. The day was unusually beautiful and the guests enjoyed walking in the well kept garden with its towering oaks and hedges of chrysanthemums now in full bloom.

AUTHORIZED KEEPSAKE DEALER

People You Know--

A distinct honor was conferred upon Mrs. Henry Whitfield at the meeting in Baton Rouge last week of the Episcopal Women's auxiliary. She was elected state president of the auxiliary. Another Monroe woman, honored at this time was Mrs. Victor Mahr who was elected state corresponding secretary. Several members of the auxiliary motored to Baton Rouge from this city in addition to Mrs. Whitfield and Mrs. Mahr. They were: Mrs. Fagan Cox, Mrs. George Varino, Mrs. F. C. Bennett, Mrs. T. F. Wilson, and Dr. and Mrs. E. F. Hayward.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard W. Biedenharn have returned from a combined pleasure and business trip to New York City. They were privileged to attend several of the season's shows on Broadway and several outstanding programs at Radio City.

Mrs. Joseph Duval's friends will be glad to know she is convalescing at the home of her aunt, Miss Myrtle Rogers from a recent appendectomy. Mrs. Duval is making her home with Miss Rogers until plans are completed for her to join her husband who is stationed with the U. S. government in Honolulu. Mrs. Duval was formerly Miss Marjorie Werner.

Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Reynolds have as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Benard Ford and daughter, Liza Noble of Baton Rouge. John Martin Hays of Vicksburg, Miss., was also a guest in the Reynolds home last week. He is now in Ruston visiting his grandmother, Mrs. James L. Martin.

"Black Fountains," by Oswald Wynd was charmingly reveiewed by Mrs. Clyde Starnes at the November meeting of Lida Benton T.-T. A. Following the review a social hour ensued and refreshments were served. During the brief business session matters of importance were discussed.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Moore and daughter, Miss Martha Ann Moore, Miss Gertrude Hart and Mr. Sydney Moore motored to Baton Rouge Saturday morning for the football game.

Mrs. P. Richard Prince is convalescing nicely from a recent major operation at St. Francis sanitarium and will be permitted to receive visitors. Mrs. Prince was formerly Miss Virginia Buckner.

Mr. Stanley Alberts will arrive the first of the week from Riverdale, N. Y., to join Mrs. Alberts and daughter who are visiting in the home of her mother, Mrs. Louis Masur. They will accompany Mr. Alberts home later in the month.

Friends will be glad to know that Mrs. John Allen is now convalescing in the home of her mother, Mrs. H. J. Fernandez from a recent illness at St. Francis sanitarium.

Mrs. Mae McIntosh Modes will leave later in the week, via airways, for New Orleans, to attend the annual state convention of the Louisiana Society for Crippled Children. Headquarters for the convention will be the St. Charles hotel. Mrs. Modes is serving as chairman of the Easter Seal sale. Others attending the convention from this city will be Miss Armandine Renaud, Mr. John Breard, Mrs. E. A. Porter, Jr., Mr. Sam Rubin, Mrs. Vernon Manning. They are all members of the state board of directors. Mr. E. L. Neville is also a member of the board.

Mrs. Bernice Sugar Pollack of New York City is being given a genuine welcome in the home of Mrs. William Abramson where she is a guest. Mrs. Pollack is a former resident of this city where her husband, the late Jacob Pollack was the first Rabbi of Temple B'Nai Israel.

Mrs. Richard S. Alexander and two children, Ricky and Marcia Ann, of Bergen, N. Y., will arrive the first of the week to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Hopson. Mrs. Alexander was formerly Miss Martha Hopson.

Mrs. W. H. McSherry motored over to Shreveport to attend the luncheon given by Mrs. Walter Byron Jacobs, Jr., at the Shreveport country club announcing the engagement of Miss Mary Neilsen Jacobs to Mr. Douglas Y. Smith, Jr., of this city. The hostess received with her honor guest and her mother, Mrs. W. B. Jacobs and Mr. Smith's mother, Mrs. D. Y. Smith.

On arriving, guests were presented white cards, tied with satin ribbons through which were thrust valley lily sprays, on which was inscribed "Mary and Doug—Dec. 30, 1947."

The luncheon table, laid in the red room with a damask cloth, held three bowls of white bride's roses with which white tapers in two-branched white china candelabra alternated. On white place cards were written in green the names of the following guests:

Miss Jacobs, Mrs. Walter B. Jacobs, Mrs. D. Y. Smith of Baton Rouge, Mrs. A. L. Smith of Sterlington, Mrs. Gordon Ronaldson of Baton Rouge, Miss Mary Lane Phillips, Miss Elizabeth Wheless, Miss Betty Basinger, Miss Jean Jackson, Miss Nancy McClendon, Mrs. Edwin C. Minor, Mrs. Earl Younker, Mrs. Bryan M. Lloyd, Miss Marion Crawford, Miss Frances Derryberry, Miss Jean Tripplett, Miss Ann Stratton, Miss Louise Weiss, Miss Jean Gray, Mrs. John C. McConnico, Mrs. Rufus Youngblood, Mrs. George D. Wray, Jr., Mrs. C. B. Dickscon, Jr., Miss Harriet Fowler, Miss Betty Tucker, Mrs. W. T. McGill, Mrs. Ed Jacobs, Mrs. Thomas P. Lloyd, Mrs. Mace Naylor, Mrs. H. W. McSherry of Monroe, Miss Cornelia Alexander, Miss Claudia Dickson, and the hostess.

GIRDLE - PANTY BECOMES DAINTY

A patented detachable crotch piece to be worn inside the girdle-panty is featured. This is known as the "phantom crotch" and consists of a diamond shaped piece of fabric with a small snap at each corner. Because it is worn inside the elastic panty, it does not cause ridges or bulges.

This newest figure streamliner featuring the "phantom crotch" is an all nylon panty weighing just 5 ounces.

RULING FAVORS DISABLED VETS

If Mentally Ill, Entitled To Unused Terminal Leave Pay

"Mentally disabled veterans are entitled to unused terminal leave pay and their guardians should file application for such pay," it was pointed out by H. B. McClendon, parish service officer for Ouachita parish, whose office is a component of the state of Louisiana's department of veterans' affairs.

"Under the armed forces leave act of 1946, if veterans or members of the armed forces are under mental disability, settlement for unused leave pay may be made with proper persons without the necessity of jurisdictional proceedings for the appointment of a legal representative," Mr. McClendon explained.

The present limitation date for guardians applying for such pay is September 1, 1948, and documentary evidence of relationship must accompany the application, together with a certified or photostatic copy of the veteran's discharge, and a sworn statement that the veteran is dependent on the applicant for his chief support or that the applicant legally has been appointed guardian.

Mr. McClendon urges the guardians of any incompetent or mentally disabled veterans in the parish to contact him with respect to securing the payment of this terminal leave pay. His office is located at room 204, parish courthouse, Monroe.

Except on grain farms in the corn belt where it is a cash crop, corn is primarily a feed crop.

BASTROP AWAITS RADIO STATION

Will Be On Air Next Month; Call Letters To Be KTRY

BASTROP, La., Nov. 15.—(Special)—Bastrop's new radio station will have the call letters KTRY. These letters were assigned the new 250 watt station by the Federal Communications Commission this week. KTRY is expected to be on the air sometime next month and will be located on the dial at 730 kilocycles.

The owners of the new station are Nathan Bolton, publisher of the Morehouse Enterprise and the Bastrop Clarion, and A. R. McCleary of Natchitoches, formerly of Bastrop. The studios will be located upstairs over the Enterprise Stationery and Office Supply store. The tower will be located on the Shelton road, two miles north of town.

Construction work on the studio is now in progress and the antenna is expected to arrive next week. The owners of the new radio station received their construction permit last month under the name of the Morehouse Broadcasting Company.

The Grand Canal of China is believed to be the longest and, in some sections, the oldest artificial waterway in modern use.

Between 1939 and 1946, France had a population loss of a million men and half a million women.

FEATURED ENTERTAINERS

These talented little dancers of the Clarice and Goldah Roan School of Dancing will appear in the benefit carnival at Barkdull-Faulk School next Friday at 6:30 p. m. In the upper group are Misses Ann Ray, Adeah Beth Dollar and Betty Cole; beneath the large hats, tiny Misses Shelia and Beverly Causey.

DR. H. H. BENNETT TO GIVE ADDRESS

LAFAYETTE, La., Nov. 15.—(Special)—Dr. Hugh H. Bennett, chief of the Soil Conservation Service of the United States Department of Agriculture, will be one of the featured speakers during the Silver Jubilee Convention of the National Catholic Rural Life Conference. The convention is scheduled for November 23-26 in Lafayette. Dr. Bennett will speak on Monday, November 24, at 1:30 p.m. at the sectional meeting for men, to be held in the men's gymnasium at Southwestern Louisiana Institute.

Dr. Bennett has devoted his working lifetime to study land, agriculture, soil erosion problems and to organizing a nation-wide program of soil defense. He has built up a background of facts as a basis for a nation-wide program to check accelerated erosion and to counteract some of its effects.

It has been pointed out that soil is considered a national wealth, and that preservation of the soil is the grave duty of any government. "The soil conservation department and the National Catholic Rural Life Conference are working hand-in-hand to preserve the soil of America for its people," Very Rev. Monsignor Hubert Lerschen, convention chairman, stated Saturday.

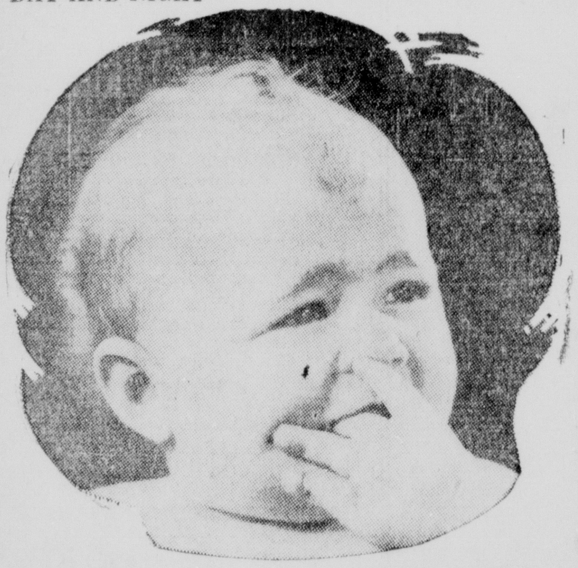

Morning Coughs Often Due to Bronchial Asthma

Do you cough and cough, especially mornings and at night? At times do you feel like you were tearing yourself to pieces trying to get rid of strangling mucus and still you choke, gasp for breath, wheeze and often can't sleep? The cause of these devitalizing symptoms may be recurring attacks of Bronchial Asthma. In such cases, the very first dose of Mendaco, a physician's prescription, usually starts almost instantly to help relax that clogged up stuffy feeling in the bronchial tubes, then helps Nature loosen and remove thick, strangling phlegm. This helps you get good fresh air into your lungs and promotes restful sleep. Mendaco is not a smoke, injection or spray, but is a tasteless internal medicine which works thru the blood, thus reaching the bronchial tubes and lungs. Mendaco must satisfy in every way or your money back is guaranteed. Ask your druggist for Mendaco today, and take exactly as directed.

MEN ARE SEEKING COMFORT, QUALITY

There's A Trend Toward Conservation In Fine Clothes This Season

American men have become increasingly insistent this year on quality and conservatism in their clothing. And this tendency has had the strongest influence on Fall and Winter fashions.

Fine worsted fabrics are in great demand and colo. and design show little change over prewar offerings, because men have swung back to a feeling of restrained good taste in their clothing wants. Men want color in their clothes but they want rigid lines drawn relating color to function. Color has almost no limit in the field of sports or leisure wear, yet color innovations in business or formal clothes must be unobtrusive and gradual.

Basic shades in men's clothing continue to be marine blues, blue-grays and soft browns. New colors are found in suits, coats and hats, however, and fashion authorities believe they will win immediate acceptance since they are subtly blended into favorite designs.

Additional comfort features are evident in almost every item a man may choose to wear. Soft-construction tailoring and improved "room-for-action" improvements show up in every clothing category.

Fabric Items

To achieve a "new look," chalk, pin and shadow stripes, tiny checks and "quiet" plaids are handsomely blended in multi-color effects to change the face of the usual suitings and coatings.

In suits, smooth-surfaced, long-wearing worsteds are in widest demand and nailhead sharkskins or clear-finish wool clothes are the leaders. Other fabric preferences include gray flannel, unfinished worsteds in glen plaids and soft-toned shetlands. College men continue to prefer soft fabrics over the more "dressy," hard-finished materials. Single and double-breasted suits have equal emphasis; shoulders have a more natural look; extreme drape designs are rare.

Rich wool gabardines, coverts and tweeds lead the topcoat field. Style innovation in these is added fulness in the skirt to give a free-hanging, swagger effect. No. 1 style is single-breasted, with notched lapels and fly or button-through front. Leading colors are neutral tans, grays, browns and blues. Tones such as Dry Grass are important to young men, and they are still showing a strong preference for the natural tan polo coat.

Quiet Coats

Coats of tweed or cotton gabardine with alpaca or plaid wool lining and a mouton collar are making new gains for football and winter sports spectators use.

Prominent fashion scouts predict that best-dressed men will show a preference for solid-toned or restrained-pattern overcoat—in hardy meltons, luxurious fleeces or camel's hair. Both single and double-breasted models will be popular.

The U. S. people on the average now consume three times as much cocoa and chocolate as they did in the years between 1909 and 1916.

CLAN PLAID WALLS FOR HOMES SMART

Plaids are news. You will find them everywhere. In smart new dresses and suits, in tricky hats and other accessories, and even on the walls!

It matters not whether your home is modern or traditional. There is a plaid wall paper to fit every taste—and every color scheme—from bold primitive colorings to more subdued and subtle pastels.

Manufacturers of wall paper have given unanimous recognition to this trend, and to add impetus have turned out every effective pattern possible.

For example, there are wall papers of huge, open-space, shadow-box plaids which give a three dimensional effect. Other papers are the more conservative checkerboard type while still others are authentic replicas of the Scottish tartans.

No matter what one's taste or budget, there is a plaid wall paper to meet all needs. There is nothing like it to bring the charm of the land of heather into your home.

MRS. WILLIAMS AGAIN HEADS PRIVATE DUTY NURSES OF LOUISIANA

Mrs. Jimmie C. Williams of Monroe was reelected state chairman of the private duty nurses' section at the annual convention of the Louisiana Nurses Association at Shreveport at which she served as chairman of the credentials committee. She was a retiring member of the nominating committee.

Mrs. Jimmie Miller is district president and Miss Molly B. Reese is district chairman of the private duty division and Mrs. Dorothy Biggar is Monroe chairman of that group. Miss Josephine Cascio, also of Monroe, was acting chairman of the state private duty section's sessions at the convention. Mrs. Grace Cooper of Monroe retired as a member of the state board of directors.

As previous announced, Sister Mary Francis, director of St. Francis School of Nursing here, was elected second vice president of the state nurses' association and Miss Sybil Reno, of this city, was named to the board of directors.

Among highlights of the convention the returning delegates said, were the annual banquet in the Crystal ballroom of Washington-Youree hotel, a tea for the directors at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Strain, and a 30-mile tour of Shreveport and vicinity on which all delegates were guests of Judge Robert Kennon of Minden.

SHADE NEEDED BY PLAYGROUND

Mrs. Faulk Asks For Trees To Plant On Recreation Area

The West Monroe recreation board has completed a highly successful year but there has been a great need of shade trees to enhance the beauty and facilities on the grounds, states Mrs. C. E. Faulk, secretary of the board.

With this aim in view, Mrs. Faulk is now sending out a letter to each co-worker asking either cash to purchase trees or the offer of a tree ready for planting. The letter is as follows:

"Dear Co-Worker:

"You are, I feel certain, familiar with the playground project in our city. You are familiar because your cooperation and interest has been a contributing factor in its success.

"Much progress has been made towards making it into a beautiful playground and park. The program during the past summer was most satisfactory. Each day dozens of children enjoyed directed play under the supervision of the two efficient directors.

"There are several pieces of splendid play equipment on the grounds and more will be added—but—the other one thing most needed is shade. There simply must be shade. We must plant trees.

"The recreation board believes that December is the best time to plant, and knowing the great interest the entire city has for the project, we feel that each member of each club will wish their club to plant a tree, either as a memorial to some one or as just a token of joy a tree will bring to each of us.

"You are privileged to furnish the tree, and the kind of tree, or else the price of a tree, which of course may be any amount. Will you please bring this before your club?

"If you furnish your own tree, please consult: H. H. Mullins, 1401 Trenton street, telephone 6785-J; S. D. Kennedy, 207 Linderman street, telephone 3411-W, or Mrs. Archie Dickerson, 204 Coleman street, telephone 4643-W.

"If the tree you give is in your own yard, please do not dig the tree before you contact one of the committee. If you give money for the board to purchase the tree, please send it to Kenneth Lee, treasurer, Lee's Jewelry Store. Thank you.

"In the spring, on Arbor day, the recreation board hopes to have an appropriate program on the playground to which the public will be urged to attend. Please plan at this time to be present.

"The recreation board feels that the entire city joins them in thanking you for the part you have had in the creation of this permanent playground and park, and in all sincerity thank you and pray your continued interest and assistance."

O. P. H. S. SINGERS NAMED FOR HONOR

Seventeen members of the Ouachita Parish High School choir have been selected for membership in the all-state chorus, according to a letter received from State Supervisor of Music Lloyd V. Funchess. This chorus will be composed of approximately 150 talented high school students from throughout the entire state.

This group will meet at Camp Grant Walker, near Alexandria on November 22-26 for a period of rehearsals. During this time the chorus will be under the direction of Noble Cain, nationally known conductor and composer. At the conclusion of this four-day music clinic the all-state chorus will present a concert on Tuesday evening, November 25, at the Bolton High School for the Louisiana Teachers' Association.

WINNSBORO HIRES ANOTHER TEACHER

WINNSBORO, La., Nov. 15.—(Special)—An additional teacher for the Winnsboro Elementary School was authorized by the Franklin Parish School Board at its last regular meeting.

The new faculty member is Mrs. L. S. Gravelle, who will teach the fourth grade, permitting a transfer of another teacher, Mrs. John A. Cuny, to the first grade. There are now four first-grade teachers with an average of 33 pupils per section instead of the average of 46 before the extra teacher was added.

The lower grades of Winnsboro were increased in number of pupils from the discontinued Lone Cedar School that was transferred here.

Catherine de Medici, bride of Henry II of France, first introduced shoe heels to the world. They were about one inch high.

The gospel of Christ and the church are man's shining hope for uplifting living and service. Let all of us practice the teaching of the gospel and rally to the call of the church and we will purify our minds, souls and lives. God beholds us in our wickedness or in our righteousness. Sunday morning, 11 o'clock the pastor will preach on the subject: "Faces at the Lattice." Sunday night the sermon subject will be: "The Constraining Love of Christ." All are cordially invited to worship with us.

Ernest D. Holloway, Minister

Pursuant to the expressed will of the general assembly and the suggestion of the committee on plans, the session of our church has set the following goals which they think are reasonable and reachable: Sabbath School 250, morning worship 250, evening worship 100, mid-week prayer worship 50. They urgently ask the membership to cooperate and to see that the goals are reached.

"The Defeat at Ai: Its Significance for Us," is the theme of the morning message. After the fall of Jericho, Israel was ready to make progress. Ai stood in the way, and to their chagrin Israel was defeated. The leaders were distressed. Why the defeat in face of the crossing of the River Jordan? This is the issue, and we must face it today.

"The Faith of the Centurion" is the subject of the evening sermon. A soldier was a man of faith, and his faith called forth one of the significant commendations of the Christ. The effects of faith are seen in the Centurion. What were they?

A cordial welcome awaits you at all hours of worship.

ADJUST LUNCH PRICES AT JONESVILLE SCHOOL

JONESVILLE, Nov. 15.—(Special)—Effective Monday, meals under the Block High School lunch program will cost more for some students.

It's not a case of discrimination, however. In the past, one child in a family had to pay ten cents a meal, while all other children of the same family paid only five cents.

Beginning Monday, the meals will be on a straight 10-cent basis to all children, without the reduction for additional members of the family.

Principal Tandy W. McElwee announced this week the Block lunchroom had been operated at a loss of approximately $500 a month since school opened the past September, because of rising costs of food and the addition of milk to the menu.

Prior to this term, the United States government provided nine cents for each meal which included milk. Now the government pays only seven cents. The remainder of the lunch cost is borne by the 10-cent fee.

Mackenzie's Column

By DeWitt Mackenzie
(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Indications are that the widespread Communist outbreaks in Italy and France represent concerted effort, and that they are aimed in both instances at gaining control of the governments by direct action and so establishing a grip on western Europe.

This isn't to say that full-blown rebellion already has broken out, but that we are witnessing preliminaries which are calculated to develop in due course the strength necessary to establish Red regimes. Indeed, the Italian Reds are bluntly talking civil war.

Apropos of this it is interesting to note a prediction made yesterday before the House foreign affairs committee in Washington by Representative John D. Lodge, Connecticut Republican, who was a member of a congressional committee that made a recent tour of Europe to study conditions. He forecast that Communists will attempt a coup in Italy next March to be synchronized with a general strike in France.

Lodge said success of such a move in Italy would lead to loss of Greece, Turkey and the middle east to the Communists. He declared the Reds are so powerful in Italy that they could dispose of the Italian police "in about three days."

The consensus among observers is that these developments are under direction of the newly-created Cominform—generally regarded as a rejuvenation of the Comintern, or general staff for world revolution—which has got into action from its headquarters in Belgrade. The powerful Communist parties of both France and Italy belong to the Cominform, and certainly wouldn't embark on wholesale, strong-arm operations without orders from the boss.

It looks very much as though the Bolshevists of Italy and France were adopting extreme measures as a matter of desperation. They had been employing their usual tactics of gaining control of trade unions and then using these organizations as clubs to force concessions from the governments. In this way they expected ultimately to establish Communist regimes—and they did in fact make great strides in both countries.

However, the Marshall plan has upset the Bolshevist apple-cart. Western Europe in general, and economically hard-pressed Italy and France in particular, have been reacting heavily against the Reds. Communism has lost much ground, and bids fair to lose a great deal more if and when the Marshall program becomes effective to save western Europe.

Then another great danger to Communism suddenly has arisen in France, and that is the sensational political comeback of General Charles de Gaulle on an anti-Communist platform which vows to drive Bolshevism out—lock, stock and barrel. This new threat comes out of the blue, and couldn't have been foreseen by the Communist high-command.

So we see the Cominform forced to adopt new and drastic measures to meet these emergencies—and to do so quickly. Italy and France both are key positions in the contest for western Europe, and if the Reds are knocked out there, their chances of expansion westward will be small, for in the west they lack the Russian armies of occupation which have enabled them to impose their will on the small eastern states.

The battle for western Europe is getting into full swing.

LOWEST-PRICED LINE IN ITS FIELD...

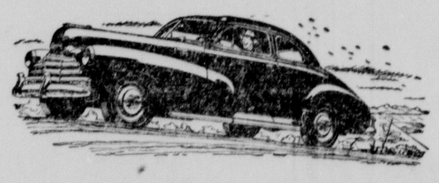

and, of course, only Chevrolet gives BIG-CAR QUALITY at lowest cost!

CHEVROLET

Today, as for months past, Chevrolet brings you the lowest-priced line of passenger cars in its field. And, in addition to lowest prices, Chevrolet gives you Big-Car beauty, Big-Car comfort, Big-Car road-action and reliability. That means outstanding dollar value—the kind of value found only in Chevrolet. It's the one car offering all the advantages of BIG-CAR QUALITY AT LOWEST COST described for you here!

Owners will tell you there's nothing like a Chevrolet for combined thrills and thrift. So lively, so spirited, so everlastingly dependable! And so saving of gas and oil. Reason? Chevrolet is the only car in its field with the famous extra-efficient Valve-in-Head Engine.

You'll be genuinely proud, in any crowd, of the smart, smooth lines and contours—the spacious interior—the luxurious upholstery and appointments of Chevrolet's Body by Fisher. This body identifies America's finest cars; and it's exclusive to Chevrolet in the lowest-price field.

You'll enjoy every mile of travel in a Chevrolet, whether on short or long trips. It has the smooth, easy Knee-Action Gliding Ride, found only in Chevrolet and higher-priced cars. And that means extra comfort, extra riding-steadiness, extra safety on all types of roads.

You and your family will have a highest degree of motoring safety—the three-fold safety of Chevrolet's Fisher Unisteel body construction, the Knee-Action Ride and Positive-Action Hydraulic Brakes—a combination of safety factors found only in this one low-priced car.

With popular demand for Chevrolet cars at record levels—and with dependable transportation a daily necessity for all motorists—may we remind you again of the wisdom of bringing your present car to us for skilled service, now and at regular intervals, pending delivery of your new Chevrolet. NATIONS IN EUROPE RICH IN OWN CURRENCY BUT BROKE

Fact Must Be Understood In Considering Aid By America

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Representative Walter, dean of the Pennsylvania Democratic delegation in the House and No. 2 Democrat on the House Judiciary committee, visited Europe as a member of the select congressional committee on foreign aid. Most of his study was devoted to economic conditions in England. This article was written exclusively for the Associated Press.)

Francis E. Walter
(Representative From Pennsylvania)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—(AP)—One question has been asked me more frequently than any other since I have returned from Europe:

How is it possible for a country to be rich in its own currency and still be broke?

I have been asked this by members of Congress as well as by constituents.

To a banker or a student of economics the answer is simple. But to many persons it is not.

Yet it must be understood if the Congress and the American people are to consider intelligently the proposals for foreign aid.

To make it clear it's necessary to review what we were taught in school but have forgotten or have not thought about for some time.

Originally people acquire what they needed by bartering. A man who had apples and who needed eggs would trade apples for eggs.

Money came into use to make barter easier. Apples came to be represented by so many pennies, let's say, and eggs came to be represented by so many pennies.

Thus the man with the apples could get eggs even if the man with the eggs didn't at the moment need apples.

But this works only when both men are using the same kind of pennies or have reached agreement on the worth of their respective pennies.

It works, also, only when both men have pennies. When one man runs out of pennies he either stops acquiring what he needs or goes back to barter—provided he can find someone to barter with.

The same is true of foreign trade. Let's use trade among England and the United States and Belgium as an example. To make it as clear as possible let's put it this way:

England has wealth—manufactured goods, coal and other things. That wealth is represented by English pennies. The United States has wealth, represented by United States pennies. Belgium has wealth, represented by Belgian pennies.

The three engage in trade. But because it would be a nuisance to ship each other's pennies back and forth each time there is a transaction, each country sets up credit for the others.

Then, when Belgium buys something from England, Belgium pays by crediting England with the required number of Belgian pennies. Later, England can use that credit when she buys something from Belgium.

Everything goes along fine until England, let's say, needs an unusual amount of goods and food stuffs. Because of world conditions, these can be provided only by the United States.

But Belgium also needs unusual amounts of United States goods and food stuffs.

What's the result?

When England makes a purchase from Belgium, Belgium asks payment in United States pennies. This goes on until England is out of United States pennies. Therefore, so far as purchases are concerned, England is broke even though she has great quantities of English pennies.

England can convert some of her pennies into United States pennies, but only to a degree. If she does too much of it, English pennies fall in value and eventually become worthless.

All right, drop the simplified terminology and think of the situation in terms of pounds and francs and dollars and you have the problem as it exists today. Except, of course, that it involves more than just three nations and, therefore, more than just three kinds of currency.

Now, let's see what happened to the $3,750,000,000 British loan.

Between July 15 and December 31, 1946, England spent in the United States $850,000,000. There was in Europe a conversion from pounds to dollars of $50,000,000. That totals $900,000,000. England had credit in the United States amounting to $15,000,000. The net, therefore, was $750,000,000.

During the first six months of 1947 England spent $1,300,000,000 in the United States. Sterling area countries spent $270,000,000. There was a pound-to-dollar conversion of $60,000,000. That totals $1,630,000,000.

(Sterling area countries include certain countries in the British Commonwealth and Empire, plus some others, such as Egypt, that have fixed their currencies in terms of pounds sterling and whose currencies are freely convertible into pounds sterling. These countries participate in the dollar pool which England established to help finance war-time purchases. Each time a sterling area country makes a purchase in the United States, therefore, it draws on England's dollar pool.)

From July 1 to August 20, 1947, England spent $420,000,000 in the United States. Sterling area countries spent $250,000,000. There was a pound-to-dollar conversion of $300,000,000. That totals $970,000,000.

England has frozen $400,000,000 for emergency use.

Add $750,000,000 and $1,630,000,000 and $970,000,000 and $400,000,000 and you have the $3,750,000,000 loan.

The British government had considered it improbable that there would be a reduction in the amount of pounds sterling that always have circulated throughout the sterling-using parts of the world. But the post-war economic policy and planning committee, of which I was a member, considered such a reduction a possibility as early as December, 1946.

The speed with which recovery started and the strength of the pound during the first six months of 1947 indicated there might not be a run on the pound. But once the run began it followed the course of a run on a bank.

The right of a nation to convert pounds into dollars was written by the United States into the loan agreement. At the time this was considered necessary to protect our country's foreign trade.

Recently, with the permission of the United States, England put a stop to the conversion of pounds into dollars. This was done to protect the few dollars that England has left.

But this action is by no means a solution to the problem. In fact, it raises another one. It's this:

There is a world shortage of dollars. That's because everybody wants to buy what the United States has to sell.

Some countries are unable to acquire dollars outright because they had nothing to sell to the United States that the United States needed. So they traded with England to acquire pounds. Then they converted the pounds into dollars.

But these countries no longer can convert pounds into dollars. The question arises, therefore, if these countries will reduce or cut off their trade with England.

This could come about because England hasn't enough of the things to sell that those countries need. At the same time those countries are without dollars, and so they can't trade with the United States, either.

At this meeting Col. Douglas Page, of New Orleans, will attend and address the membership.

WAR HERO RITES ARE ARRANGED

Funeral Of Lt. R. G. McKay To Be Held; Legion Post in Charge

The body of Lt. Robert G. McKay, who died in action in heroic manner when serving overseas in Germany in World War II, will be returned to Delhi where it will arrive by train November 18 at 9:05 a. m. and will be taken at once to his home in Waverly where the funeral will be held at 10 a. m. on November 19. Rev. Sam Holiday, pastor at Coushatta, will officiate, and he will be assisted by Rev. G. L. Tatum, pastor of the Delhi Methodist Church.

There will be a full military service at the grave in Sarepta Cemetery near Port Gibson, Miss., which will be in charge of the Tallulah American Legion, Joe Clark, post commander. Pallbearers will all be members of that post. The Catron-Gay Funeral Home of Oak Grove will be in charge of the funeral arrangements.

McKay's last engagement was a memorable one and was during the liquidation of the Bulge. The lieutenant, by that time a company commander, through skillful reconnaissance, was able to take the company through the first phase without wasted time.

Skirting a wood, out came mortar, machine gun and small arms fire, but the lieutenant was prepared for the emergency. His men jumped into action and reduced fire to nearly nothing. The battle moved fast with rifles and bayonets laying a major role. Germans scurried in all directio The rifle platoon found itself pinn down by heavy machine gun fire. armored self-propelled 88, a the be of the road, grazed fire across entire area.

Lieutenant McKay succeeded drawing the fire away from his m but to do so he gave his own life.

He is survived by his mother, M Marshall McKay of Waverly; t brothers, Charles M. McKay of Ba Rouge, and Frank McKay of Wave and his paternal grandmother, M I. Z. McKay of Bogalusa.

TERRY AND THE PIRATES

GEORGE WUNDER

WHAT DO YOU SUPPOSE SPRAY MEANT, WHEN SHE SAID SHE CAME HERE TO FIND THE PERSON WHO BROKE HER FATHER'S HEART?

THE FEMININE GENDER REVOLTS AT EXPLAINING ANYTHING WITH TEAR STREAKED MAKE-UP. WE'LL KNOW AS SOON AS SHE COMPLETES REPAIRS.

GOLLY, I DIDN'T REALIZE WHAT A STRAIN SHE WAS UNDER UNTIL WE TOLD HER WE'D HELP, AND SHE BROKE DOWN AND CRIED.

NOTE, PLEASE, THAT WHEN THE LADY FELT THE NEED OF A BRAWNY SHOULDER TO CRY UPON, 'T WAS TO OL' HOTSHOT'S MANLY BOSOM SHE TURNED.

TSK, TSK. I CAN'T UNDERSTAND IT. MAYBE SHE WAS BLINDED BY TEARS AND THOUGHT YOU WERE A TOWEL RACK...

WELL, I'M BACK—AND I'LL TRY NOT TO BE SO CONFOUNDEDLY FEMININE WHILE I RUN THROUGH THE O'HARA TALE OF WOE.

IN CASE YOU CHANGE YOUR MIND, THE CHARLES CHEST IS STILL AVAILABLE.

IT STARTED A LONG TIME AGO. DAD WAS A NAVY MAN, IN COMMAND OF A GUNBOAT ON THE YANGTZE RIVER PATROL. ONE NIGHT A CARGO OF CONTRABAND ARMS WAS RUN THROUGH HIS SECTION OF THE RIVER TO A MARAUDING WARLORD...

NOVEMBER·

THERE WERE UGLY RUMORS, A COURTMARTIAL, AND DAD LEFT THE NAVY, BUT HE COULDN'T LEAVE THE SEA. HE SHIPPED OUT AS BOSUN ON A TRAMP AND FOUGHT HIS WAY BACK UP...NOW HE'S MASTER OF A CRACK LINER— AND THE RUMORS HAVE STARTED AGAIN.

...HE HAS RIVALS, AND THEY'VE DUG UP THE OLD STORY. IT COULD LOSE HIM HIS SHIP AND THAT WOULD KILL HIM. I HIRED TWO-TIME BY MAIL TO TRACK DOWN ANY TRACE OF THE GUN-RUNNERS, AND MADE A DATE TO MEET HIM HERE.

TWO-TIME TOLD ME THERE WAS A CONNECTION BETWEEN THE GUN-RUNNERS AND THE OPERATOR OF THAT GAMBLING HOUSE. WE WENT THERE, AND TWO-TIME RAN WHEN THE FRACAS STARTED.

WHEW! WHATTA MESS! GOLLY, IT'S AN AWFULLY THIN LEAD, UNLESS WE CAN FIND OUT WHO THE GAMBLER IS...

MEANWHILE

THIS HUMBLE SERVANT HAS REPORT ON NIGHT'S ACTIVITY READY FOR MOST EXCELLENT MASTER.

PROCEED...

...A SMALL DISTURBANCE WAS CREATED BY YOUNG WOMAN DEMANDING TO SEE MASTER. THERE WAS SCUFFLE. SMALL MAN INTERFERED. BOTH WERE EJECTED FROM HOUSE.

I AM ACCUSTOMED TO YOUR STUPIDITY, BAR FU, BUT THIS TIME I THINK YOU'VE EXCEEDED YOURSELF.

SMILIN' JACK

--YES---AFTER JACK AND I QUARRELED, I LEFT THE RESORT IN A HUFF---BUT---

---IF I'D BEEN SMART, I SHOULD HAVE KNOWN HE'D GET MIXED UP WITH A BLONDE ON TH' REBOUND!

I RESENT THAT REBOUND STUFF---IF I HADN'T SENSED THAT JACK IS SUBCONSCIOUSLY NUTS ABOUT YOU---THE PATTERN---

---OF ALL THREE OF OUR LIVES WOULD HAVE BEEN CHANGED---AND YOU WOULD BE OUT IN TH' COLD---BECAUSE---

I WAS THINKING OF TAKING JACK OVER, LOCK, STOCK AND "FOREVER UNTIL DEATH DO US PART"---

BUT---I'M SMART ENOUGH NOT TO TRY TO SIGN A LEASE FOR EXCLUSIVE GASOLINE RIGHTS---

---WITH AN OLD TIME AIR-PORT OPERATOR LIKE SMILIN' JACK, WHO MIGHT LATER WISH HE'D LEFT TH' FIELD OPEN FOR PROGRESSIVE COMPETITION!

MISS MISSILE--- I'M BECOMING EXASPERATED WITH YOUR RIDDLES---

---HOWEVER, I BELIEVE WHAT YOU TOLD ME ABOUT JACK TAKIN' YOU FOR A MOON-LIGHT PLANE RIDE BECAUSE---

I JUST READ IN TH' PAPERS WHERE JACK MYSTERIOUSLY DISAPPEARED FROM THE RESORT IN A PLANE WITH A MYSTERIOUS BLONDE---

---BUT YOU SAID HE IS INJURED AND YOU KNOW WHERE HE IS BUT CAN'T REPORT YOUR STORY TO TH' POLICE BECAUSE---

MISS BUFFALO BETTY

---YOU ARE A CELEBRITY, INCOGNITO, AND THE PUBLICITY MIGHT HURT YOU FOR MANY PERSONAL REASONS!

---AND THEN TO TOP IT ALL, YOU JUST SAID THAT 97 PER CENT OF YOUR STORY IS UNTRUE!

RIGHT! SABLE, I'M TELLING YOU ALL THIS STUFF SO YOU WON'T KNOW WHAT TO BELIEVE!

YOU'LL HAVE TO DO AS I SAY AND TAKE TH' CHANCE THAT I'M GIVING YOU A BREAK!

TWO OF "THE HEAD'S" GORILLAS ARE OUTSIDE IN MY CAR--- I PERSONALLY PAID THEM A GRAND TO WORK CLOSELY WITH ME!

YOUR PHONE LINES ARE CUT ---WE CAN TAKE YOU FORCIBLY TO "THE HEAD" AND HE WILL SUBJECT YOU TO UNTOLD TORTURE---

---IN FRONT OF SMILIN' JACK SO JACK WILL TELL ALL HIS SECRET SUPER-SONIC DATA TO SAVE YOU---OR ELSE!

WITH NKIMA ON HIS BACK, TANTOR SPED TO TARZAN'S RESCUE. THE GREAT PACHYDERM OVERTOOK FLIGHT AFTER FLIGHT OF FOREST CREATURES RACING TO THE JUNGLE LORD'S SIDE. EXCEPT FOR WHIRRING WINGS AND POUNDING HOOFS, ALL WAS SILENT IN THE JUNGLE------

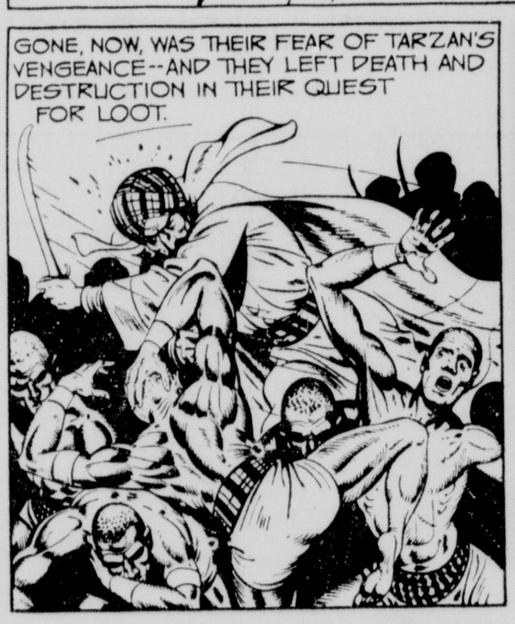

---A SILENCE THAT HERALDED THE IMMINENCE OF TARZAN'S DEATH.

MEANWHILE, THE RUMOR OF TARZAN'S DYING HAD SPREAD FAR AND WIDE.

GONE, NOW, WAS THEIR FEAR OF TARZAN'S VENGEANCE--AND THEY LEFT DEATH AND DESTRUCTION IN THEIR QUEST FOR LOOT.

LONG COLUMNS OF CAPTIVES WERE MARCHED FROM THEIR HOMES UNDER THE SWORD AND LASH OF MERCILESS MASTERS. THE LAW WHICH THE JUNGLE LORD HAD ESTABLISHED WAS VIOLATED. THE LONG PEACE WAS BROKEN!

JUST AS I THOUGHT! NOTHING HERE TO SHOW HE'S A MINERAL PROSPECTOR! HE'S PLANNING TO SWINDLE ORCHID'S FATHER! I'VE GOT TO FIND HER!

CAPTAIN EASY, AS I LIVE AND BREATHE! YOO-HOO!

MRS. VUMLEY! JUST THE PERSON I NEED!

HOTEL

A FEW MINUTES LATER--

ORCHID O'HARA! LOOK WHO'S HERE! CAPTAIN EASY, THE YOUNG MAN WE MET ON THE BOAT! HE'S BEEN TELLING ME COLONEL McHOOLEY'S A SWINDLER!

OF ALL PEOPLE! SIT DOWN, CAPTAIN, AND TELL ME ABOUT IT!

IF WHAT YOU SAY IS TRUE, FATHER'S FALLEN FOR THE SCHEME AND HE'S TRYING RIGHT NOW TO FORCE McHOOLEY TO SELL HIM AN INTEREST IN HIS MINING VENTURE!

WE'D BETTER ACT! WE CAN TRAP McHOOLEY IF IT ISN'T TOO LATE!

I DIDN'T EXPECT TO SEE YOU SO SOON, MR. O'HARA! YOU SEE, I'VE HAD--ER-- A SLIGHT HEADACHE!

MY BUSINESS WON'T TAKE LONG! I'VE GOT YOUR MINING PROPERTIES SEWED UP, McHOOLEY! I'VE LEASED THEM AHEAD OF YOU!

IF YOU WANT THAT LAND YOU VISITED TODAY, YOU'LL HAVE TO MAKE A DEAL WITH ME! I WANT A MAN-SIZED SHARE!

I'LL TRIM HIM IN SPITE OF CAPTAIN EASY!

YOU DRIVE A HARD BARGAIN, O'HARA, BUT THERE'S NOTHING TO DO BUT LET YOU IN! YOU CAN HAVE A FIFTH INTEREST FOR FIFTY GRAND-- I MEAN THOUSAND!

STEEP, BUT I'LL TAKE IT! I'LL WRITE YOU A CHECK NOW!

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

T. M. Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

I TRUST YOU ARE SAVING PART OF THE MONEY YOU EARN DELIVERING PAPERS, ALVIN!

SOME OF IT, UNCLE AMOS — BUT IT'S TOUGH, WITH PRICES SO HIGH!

I'VE GOT $29.50 IN THE BANK — I'VE HAD THE ROUTE SIX MONTHS!

WE LET OUR HAIR GROW LONG — THEN WE WOVE IT INTO HALTERS FOR THE HORSES

TO SAVE DENTAL BILLS, I DEVISED A BAKED CLAY FILLING FOR TOOTH CAVITIES — IT WAS AS HARD AS A BRICK=

MAJOR HOOPLE

I PUT SAILS ON THE BACKS OF OUR MULES TO EASE THEIR BURDENS — THE ANIMALS LIVED LONGER AND DID MORE WORK

HOW MUCH HAVE YOU GOT SAVED NOW, UNCLE AMOS?

SPUTT-TT! HOW'S THAT? — UM-HAK! — REALLY, ALVIN, I FORGET — BUT IT'S IN THE THOUSANDS!

HEAVENS! IT JUST OCCURS TO ME — I DEPOSITED $1.50 IN A SAVINGS ACCOUNT TWO YEARS AGO!

FLASH GORDON

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

FLASH PRETENDS TO BE WHOLLY UNDER THE SPELL OF SULTRA'S DRUGS AND HYP-NORAY, SO SHE'LL TAKE HIM TO KANG'S HIDE-OUT. "LOAD HIM INTO THE SUBMA-PLANE, BRUTO," SHE ORDERS.

DRIVEN BY AN ATOM-JET, THE SUBMAPLANE SPEEDS DEEP INTO MONGO'S OCEAN, ITS WINGS RETRACTED. SULTRA SEATS HERSELF BESIDE FLASH TO ANNOY DALE----

"KISS ME AND SAY YOU LOVE ME!" SULTRA COMMANDS. EVEN THOUGH DALE IS WATCHING IN TORMENT, FLASH HAS TO OBEY--OR REVEAL THAT HE IS NO LONGER HYPNOTIZED AND HELPLESS.

Copr. 1947, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.

WHEN SULTRA TIRES OF HER SPORT, FLASH IS LOCKED IN AN INNER CABIN. HE PULLS HIS MINI RADIO FROM UNDER HIS ARM: "FLASH CALLING DEFTO! DEFTO OF THE M.B.I.!"

BUT DEFTO IS NOT LISTENING. HE HAS REPORTED FLASH AND DALE DESTROYED IN THE SUBATOMIC BLAST AT SULTRA'S HOUSE-- AND MONGO IS MOURNING ITS "DEAD" PRESIDENT.
